The Dean of Students’ Roll of Honour recognises learning gained through various types of extra-curricular volunteering:

Academic Activity
Trinity students are active in a number of discipline related activities including involvement in international student associations, student managed funds and a variety of published student reviews.

Community
Volunteering in the community takes many forms from befriending to sports coaching, to environmental campaigning. Students also volunteer within the College community with groups such as the Junior Common Room and Trinity Volunteer Opportunities Forum.

International Volunteering
Trinity students have travelled all over the globe to learn about other cultures and contribute to various local causes from development education to building projects.

Publications
Trinity boasts a vibrant array of award-winning student magazines and newspapers which are written, drawn, designed, laid-out and edited by students in a voluntary capacity.

Sports Clubs
Forty-nine clubs are recognised by and affiliated to the Dublin University Central Athletic Club. Training, intervarsities, fundraisers and outreach are all realised by student voluntary effort.

Student Societies
There are over 100 student run societies on campus which are recognised, funded and supported through the Central Societies Committee. Societies include Knitsoc, the Phil and the Hist, Trinity VDP, the Orchestral, Choral, Cards and Student2Student societies.

Students’ Union & Graduate Students’ Union
The part time officers, class reps and convenors, campaign teams and ents crew are all dedicated volunteers who work to serve students’ interests.

Message from Dean of Students

The core of our mission at Trinity College Dublin is to promote the intellectual and personal development of our students. We recognize that this process of development is not confined to activities in the lecture theatre, laboratory or library. Through their extra-curricular activities, students develop skills and insights that complement their academic learning. The primary purpose of the Dean of Students’ Roll of Honour is to facilitate students in recognising the learning they have gained through involvement in extracurricular, voluntary activities by providing them with an opportunity, in the application process, for reflecting on their experience.

However the scheme also serves to acknowledge the contribution which each of those included on the Roll makes to his/her organisation or peers, College or the wider community. In this way it delivers on College’s commitment, in Action 5.2 of the Strategic Plan 2009-2014, ‘to promote, encourage and incentivize volunteering in the local, national and international community by members of Trinity staff and students’, to develop appropriate mechanisms for recognising student participation in volunteering activity and to implement ‘a certification system for students’ civic engagement both within the College community and outside the College environment’. The first year of the Dean of Students’ Roll of Honour also coincides with the European Year of Volunteering 2011 which is an opportunity to celebrate the commitment of millions of people in Europe who volunteer and offers an invitation to non-volunteers to get involved and make a difference.

I would like to express my thanks to a number of people without whom today’s ceremony would not be possible. In particular, I am very grateful to Róisín McGrogan, our Civic Engagement Officer and Eileen Punch of the Trinity Foundation for their assistance with the rolling out of the scheme and with the organization of the presentation ceremony. I am also grateful to John Dillon and Lisa Martin and the College’s Alumni Office for their support and generous sponsorship of the Roll of Honour Ceremony. Simone Cameron-Coen, Denise Crossan, Gearóid Devitt, Ronan Hodson, Lisa Keane, Joseph O’Gorman, Nikolai Trigoub-Rotnam and Orlaith Tunney provided invaluable assistance in reviewing applications. Finally, I am most grateful to Dr. Martin McAleese, one of our most distinguished alumni, for taking time from his busy schedule to speak at this inaugural presentation ceremony of the Dean of Students’ Roll of Honour.
