The CPD Division of the School of Education, Trinity College proposes to run a series of talks on the subject of leadership once monthly during the three months of February, March and April 2011.

The talks are aimed at people interested in school leadership at all levels in the system: DES, Management Bodies and Boards, Advisory and Support Agencies, and Schools.

It is hoped to run these talks on Thursday nights 7pm to 9pm in the School of Education.

To ensure the viability and sustainability of the series it is hoped to create a network of people who would commit to participating in this initiative. Membership of the network would involve a registration fee of € 60 for the term to cover costs of invited speakers and refreshments.

The format will include a forty-five minute presentation followed by refreshments and a thirty-minute discussion.

Cost to Participant: € 60

For more information please contact:

Helen O’Sullivan,
Coordinator, Educational Leadership and Management, School of Education, Trinity College Dublin 2
Email: helen.osullivan@tcd.ie
Phone: 01 896-3650

---

Speakers
Invited speakers will come from all walks of life in Ireland with the explicit intention of broadening perspectives on how school leaders might effectively respond to the challenges and opportunities of Ireland today.

The spirit of the series is one of informal collaboration with a focus on collective learning from and through each other.

Location
The School of Education, Arts Block, Trinity College Dublin

IMPORTANT NOTE:
Parking is NOT available on TCD campus.