Dr. Damian Murchan has published a paper in the current issue of Assessment in Education. Principles Policy & Practice 19(4). The paper titled “An education system in transition: assessment and examinations in the Republic of Macedonia” [DOI:10.1080/0969594X.2012.710195] was written in collaboration with Dr. Gerry Shiel at the Educational Research Centre, Drumcondra, and Gorica Mickovska from the Macedonian Civic Education Centre, Skopje. The research explores the recent development of assessment and examination policy and practice in Macedonia where the authors have provided advice and training to policymakers and other stakeholders.