Forthcoming Events

Professor Randall Curren of the University of Rochester, New York will present a guest seminar on Monday June 16th at 1.30pm in room 3105 Arts. This seminar is open to the public and all are welcome.

Prof. Curren is Chair of the Department of Philosophy at Rochester and an internationally recognised expert in the field of the philosophy of education and ethics. He has recently been appointed to an honorary professorship at the Royal Institute of Philosophy in London, the first such appointment in the institution’s 87 year history. Current and former teacher education students will know him as the editor of the standard text ‘A Companion to the Philosophy of Education’, published by Blackwell first in 2003.
