The conference was a wonderful one in that it brought people from health and education and voluntary services together for the first time in the right sort of setting and for a shared purpose. The papers were so diverse yet all relevant.

The information shared was inspiring and hopeful of change. It is important that the energy and collaboration that was evident in that room is networked so that something can continue.

I was glad to be part of it.

Dr. Siobhan Mac Cobb, Assistant Professor in the Discipline of Occupational Therapy and Co-ordinator of NBSS Occupational Therapy.