This Handbook provides essential information about your SF study program in the Department. The information is accurate at the time of preparation. Any necessary revisions will be notified to students via email. Please note that in the event of any conflict between the General Regulations published in the University Calendar (available at http://www.tcd.ie/calendar/) and information contained in this handbook, the provisions of the Calendar will apply.

Further information about the study program is provided by the lecturers, by Blackboard, and on the Department website: https://www.tcd.ie/Hispanic_Studies/

A reminder that during the academic year the Department expects you to:

- read this handbook carefully - you can download another copy from the Department website
- read your Trinity emails, Blackboard announcements, and the Department Notice Board regularly
- attend all classes
- revise, read around and ahead of the topic/theme, and come prepared for each class
- set aside at least 30 hours each week for academic work outside language classes, lectures, and seminars
- hand in all homework pieces and required work by the deadline(s)
- speak to your lecturer, or Head of Department, if you are in any doubt about your study program or department requirements, or to your College Tutor if you are experiencing personal difficulties.

SENIOR FRESHMAN SYLLABUS

The SF course is designed primarily to consolidate your competence in all four skills, in particular grammar structures and syntax, and translation practice from and into Spanish. The course also includes four literature modules across periods and genres.

What does ECTS stand for?

The European Credit Transfer and Accumulation System (ECTS) is a student-centered system based on student workload. The credits system makes it possible to compare the Europe-wide values assigned to each module of any course – this is extremely important for academic equivalence purposes and it will be essential when taking your Erasmus courses at a university abroad to ensure that you obtain the required ECTS credits. One ECTS credit represents approximately 20-25 hours of study (private reading and researching, writing of essays, and contact hours).
IMPORTANT REMINDER: Students must attend all classes and present all set written work on time. For absence of three consecutive days or more, a medical certificate or relevant evidence should be provided. If you fail to provide a satisfactory explanation and/or evidence to your teachers for your absence or for not handing in the required work you will be returned as ‘Non-Satisfactory’ (N/S) to the Senior Lecturer, and your Tutor will be informed. It should be noted (University Calendar H6) that ‘Students reported as non-satisfactory for the Michaelmas and Hilary terms of a given year may be refused permission to take their annual examinations and may be required by the Senior Lecturer to repeat the year.’

LANGUAGE: SP2026 Grammar and Syntax (10 ECTS credits)

Learning Outcomes: On successful completion of this module students should be able to identify and effectively deploy a range of linguistic registers, vocabulary, and grammatical and syntactical structures, to communicate effectively with native Spanish speakers in both written and oral contexts, and to translate relatively complex extracts from a variety of registers and genres from Spanish into English and from English into Spanish.

Those who were beginners in 2015-2016 should purchase John Butt & Carmen Benjamin, A New Reference Grammar of Modern Spanish (London: 2011)

SPANISH AND SPANISH-AMERICAN LITERATURE MODULES

MICHAELMAS TERM                  HILARY TERM
*2 hrs per week Spanish Short Stories & Films: Women’s Voices
2 hrs per week Introduction to Golden Age Literature

*2 hrs per week Spanish-American Short Story
2 hrs per week Modern Spanish Poetry

Each of the four literature modules carries a value of 5 ECTS credits

General Learning Outcomes: Students should be able on successful completion of these modules: to analyze the thematic and linguistic connections that exist between the seemingly disparate works studied in each option; to critically comment on the texts/films, and formulate responses that are both discriminating and historically informed; to appreciate the literary, dramatic, poetic, and cinematic effects of the techniques employed; to organize material into effective and detailed arguments both orally (presentation / class discussion), and in writing (extended essay).

ALTERNATIVES TO SPANISH LITERATURE MODULES

GENERAL LINGUISTICS

The Centre for Language and Communication Studies (CLCS) offers a range of modules, each of which involves attendance at two classes a week for one semester. Senior Freshman students can take only one of these modules. For the semester in question, students choosing a linguistics option will be exempt from the relevant Spanish literature module asterisked above.

The CLCS will provide the Department of Hispanic Studies with an assessment of the work it prescribes for each student, which will be taken into account in the overall assessment of the student’s grades in SF Spanish.
BROAD CURRICULUM MODULES

Students who are not taking a module in CLCS may take instead one module from the Broad Curriculum options. For the semester in question, students choosing a Broad Curriculum module will be exempt from the relevant Spanish literature module asterisked above. The Broad Curriculum subject area will provide the Department of Hispanic Studies with an assessment of the work it prescribes for each student, which will be taken into account in the overall assessment of the student’s grades in SF Spanish.

Remember that students can take only one non-literature Spanish module (5 ECTS credits) during the whole academic year.

Students selecting a year-long Broad Curriculum module should note that they will not be exempt from more than one Spanish literature module asterisked above (i.e., either in MT or in HT but not in both).

You must enroll online for a BC module at https://www.tcd.ie/Broad_Curriculum/

SPANISH LITERATURE MODULES

SP2013 SPANISH SHORT STORIES AND FILMS: WOMEN’S VOICES (MT)

Learning Outcomes: Students should be able on successful completion of this module: to analyze the authors and film directors studied, against the backdrop of contemporary literary and film theories and national and international literary trends; to compare and contrast the impact of the writers’ and directors’ socio-political experiences; to understand the structural characteristics of both genres; to identify the extent to which these writers and directors follow, modify, or subvert generic preconceptions/devices; and to appreciate the literary and cinematic effects of the techniques employed.

The module will explore a selection of films and short narratives by contemporary Spanish women writers and film directors, embrace a wide range of relational and psychological themes and narrative approaches, and examine the extent to which the work of the selected authors, who belong to different generations, reveals similarities in thematic concerns, and experimentation in literary and cinematic devices. Controversial and distinctive views on genre, gender, and creativity will be analyzed within the framework of theories of writing and seeing.

Learning Outcomes: Upon completion of this module, students will have learned to identify the most important formal and thematic features of the prose, poetry and theatre produced in Spain during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries; they will be able to situate the works studied into broad cultural and historical trends within Spain; and they will have developed a vocabulary and analytical skill set with which to read, think and write critically about literature.

This module will introduce students to some of the major currents in the prose, poetry and theatre of sixteenth- and seventeenth-century Spanish literature. We will consider each work both as an independent creative expression and as part of an intellectual and artistic continuum. To this end, we will study both the formal attributes of each story, poem or play as well as the socio-economic, political, cultural and intellectual context in which it was created.

Prescribed Texts

Anonymous. Lazarillo de Tormes
El Abencerraje
Lope de Vega. La dama boba

Learning Outcomes: On successful completion of this module, students should be able: to read and understand a variety of Spanish-American short stories; to describe how the Spanish-American Short Story fits into a tradition of short story writing; to identify the particular characteristics of the Spanish-American development of the genre; and to formulate the nature of the short story in general.

The intentions of the module will be: to see how the Spanish-American Short Story fits into a tradition of modern short story writing of which the nineteenth-century Russian writer, Gogol, may be said to be the progenitor; to establish the characteristics peculiar to the Spanish-American ramification of this tradition; and to arrive at some tentative conclusions about the nature of the short story in general. A key background text for the course will be Frank O’Connor’s study of the short story, The Lonely Voice. It is also hoped that, for comparative purposes, a small selection of short stories from among the works of the following writers will be considered: Gogol, Joyce, Kafka, Poe, Maupassant and Hemingway.

Prescribed Texts

Jorge Luis Borges
Ficciones
Julio Cortázar
Ceremonias
Gabriel García Márquez
Los funerales de la mamá grande
Juan Rulfo
El llano en llamas

Learning Outcomes: On successful completion of this module, students should be able: to identify and explain the characteristic features of modern Spanish poetry through close textual reading of the works of Gustavo Adolfo Bécquer, Antonio Machado and Federico García Lorca; to analyze the thematic and linguistic connections that exist between the seemingly disparate works of the three poets studied; to organize material into effective and detailed arguments both orally (presentation / class discussion) and in writing (essay and two short written assignments); to write independently thought-through essays; to critically comment on Spanish poetry of the 19th and 20th centuries, and formulate responses that are both discriminating and historically informed.

Through a selection of representative works by some of the principal writers in Spain during the 19th and early 20th centuries, this module aims to explore the chief merits and characteristic features of modern Spanish poetry. While the broad objective of the module is to provide a sense of the range and quality of modern Spanish poetry by studying in depth the works of Gustavo Adolfo Bécquer, Antonio Machado and Federico García Lorca, it will also examine the thematic and linguistic connections that can be identified between the seemingly disparate verse of all three poets.

Prescribed Texts

REQUIRED WORK

LANGUAGE: you will have to present one piece of written work per week; and prepare material as required for the oral classes.

LITERATURE

MICHAELMAS TERM

Two Essays (ca. 1,800 words each) set in teaching week 8 – ‘Introduction to Golden Age Literature’ essay to be handed in by 12 noon, Monday 16 January 2017 and ‘Spanish Short Stories and Films: Women’s Voices’ essay to be handed in by 12 noon, Friday 20 January 2017. Students taking General Linguistics or Broad Curriculum modules must also present, in addition to work prescribed by their lecturers on that module, a term essay on ‘Introduction to Golden Age Literature’.

HILARY TERM

Two Essays (ca. 1,800 words each) set in teaching week 8 to be submitted by 12 noon, Tuesday 11 April 2017. One essay on ‘Modern Spanish Poetry’, the other on ‘Spanish American Short Stories’. Students taking General Linguistics or Broad Curriculum modules must also present, in addition to work prescribed by their lecturers on that module, a term essay on ‘Modern Spanish Poetry’.

All essays must be submitted to www.turnitin – software that facilitates the detection of plagiarism.

1. The Department accepts responsibility ONLY for term essays presented with the signed coversheet (see section on plagiarism). Essays MUST NOT be handed in to individual lecturers or pushed under doors – they must be handed in to the Department Office.

2. All essays must also be sent electronically to the lecturer through ‘Turnitin’ – see guidelines on how to use the system at https://www.tcd.ie/CAPSL/students/integrity-plagarism/#What_is_Turnitin

3. For information about the return of your essays you should regularly check Blackboard, and the Department Notice Board, and emails.

4. Extensions may be allowed only where there is a medical certificate or evidence of other significant problem(s) – evidence must be presented by you or through your Tutor to the Head of Department.

WRITTEN WORK SUBMITTED AFTER THE DUE DATE WITHOUT PERMISSION WILL NOT BE MARKED

SENIOR FRESHMAN ASSESSMENT

LANGUAGE (10 ECTS credits) – Assessment will be based on four components:

Paper I (45%) – a 3-hour written examination (3 questions: Translation into Spanish; Grammar and Syntax; Spanish Essay);

Paper II (30%) – a 2-hour written examination (2 questions: Text Analysis; Translation into English);

Oral examination (15%) – (approximately 10 minutes);

Continuous Assessment (10%) – four in-class tests.

Please note that a fail in any one of the following ways will mean a Fail assessment for Language:

- Paper I: fail in two out of three questions
- Paper I: overall fail
- Paper II: overall fail

Only failed written Paper(s) in any module must be taken again at the Supplemental Examinations in August / September.

LITERATURE: four modules with a total of 20 ECTS credits. Assessment for each module will be based on:

- one essay – 70%
- one class presentation – 15% total
- one short written assignment on the class presentation – 15% total

All modules are weighted according to their credit values

COMPENSATION REGULATIONS

In order for compensation to apply you must have achieved an overall mark of 40% or above in each subject.

For detailed information about SF TSM compensation rules access the following link:
https://www.tcd.ie/TSM/current/exam/sf.php

IMPORTANT

Students are reminded that teaching staff are normally available for consultation only during the statutory term (i.e., NOT from 1 July 2017 to 28 August 2017). The Department will advise the date for feedback on failed papers and viewing of scripts. If for whatever reason you cannot attend, any queries regarding examination results etc. should be directed to the Department before Friday 30 June 2017.

PRESENTATION OF ESSAYS

Essays should be typed on one side only. Use the grammar and spellcheck facility of a word processor. Insert all Spanish accents and other orthographical signs. If you present your essay handwritten, be sure to write legibly. Marks will be lost for poor presentation.

2. Make sure you write grammatical English sentences. Capitalize and punctuate properly. Think especially about occasions when clarity would be better served by the use of a colon or semi-colon instead of a comma. Never use a comma where a full-stop or a semi-colon should be used.

3. Consult a dictionary regularly if you suspect that you have a tendency to misspell words, either in English or in Spanish. In particular, pay special attention to the possessive apostrophe, and also distinguish between “it’s” as an abbreviation for ‘it is’ or ‘it has’, and ‘its’ as a possessive adjective (I’ve given the cat its dinner).

4. Leave a margin of at least an inch all round each page. Number all the pages.

5. The essay must engage with the theme: if a question is being asked then that question must be answered; if it asks for discussion on topic A, the essay cannot be about topic B.
6. Writing in note form, or using conversational abbreviations of ordinary English or Spanish words, are not acceptable (e.g., do not write “can’t” for cannot/can not).

7. A change of theme or a new stage in the argument demands a new paragraph. Each paragraph should develop, expand, clarify or exemplify your argument(s). While paragraphs should not be excessively long, avoid one-sentence paragraphs.

8. Italicize the titles of books and complete works like plays, stories, novels and (usually) poems: e.g. La vida es sueño, El celoso extremeño, La familia de Pascual Duarte, Romance sonámbulo. Do not use inverted commas for the titles of extended written works.

9. Note that, in Spanish book titles, only the first letter is capitalized, except for proper names and words that always have a capital letter, as for example, in the following novels: Cinco horas con Mario, and Su único hijo.

10. Titles of chapters, articles in periodicals, essays in collections (and sometimes shorter poems) are given in quotation marks: for example, ‘Poetic Unity in Lorca’s Romancero Gitano’. The name of the periodical is italicized, and identified thus: Bulletin of Hispanic Studies, 21 (1954), pp. 150-151 – that is, vol. no., (year), page reference(s).

11. QUOTATIONS from a literary work should be identified: number or line-numbers of poem; chapter and page-number of novel or play. Indicate which edition you are using. Subsequent references can be put in your text in brackets and need not be relegated to footnotes or endnotes. Avoid a string of footnotes or endnotes referring only to the work that you are chiefly discussing. Quotations of less than about four lines should be run on in the text. This includes poetry, the lines of which are then separated by forward slashes. Longer quotations (over about 40 words), whether in verse or prose, are given their own lines of text, and should be indented and single spaced without single inverted commas. Your quotations should make sense either as part of your own sentence or as complete sentences in their own right (avoid such mistakes as “The author refers to ‘older people who think like teenagers’ in his 1987 interview” – either ‘older people … teenagers’ if ‘older’ is part of the quotation, or else “… refers to older people ‘who think … teenagers’ otherwise).

12. FOOTNOTE/ENDNOTE numbers should be placed at the end of a sentence after the punctuation. Notes provide supplementary information to the argument conducted in the body of the text. They should be used very sparingly and never simply for effect.

13. Ensure that only essential footnotes/endnotes are included. When a particular work is being frequently referred to throughout the essay, the first reference to that work should be footnoted. A footnoted reference should read as in the following example: Paul Preston. Franco. A Biography. London: HarperCollins Publishers, 1993, pp. 23-24; and all further references to this work are given by page number(s) in brackets in the text.

14. There are different ways of referring to critical works in your bibliography. The most complete is probably as follows: Author, Title, Place of publication, Publisher (if available), date; e.g., Elliot, J. H. Richelieu and Olivares. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1984, p. 99. For editions of texts, use the following convention: Author, Title, Editor; then as above: Pérez Galdós, Benito. Fortunata y Jacinta. Ed. F. Caudet. Madrid: Catedra, 1985, p. 98.

15. If you use someone else’s ideas – whether quoted or paraphrased – you must attribute the borrowing to the author. A reference in the Bibliography is not enough. Your indebtedness to the writer must be acknowledged at the point of borrowing. You can use some of the standard conventions to attribute borrowings to an author; for example: According to F. Caudet … (p. 5); Paul Preston argues that … (p. 25); As J. H. Elliot points out, … (p. 89).

16. Even if you do not incorporate quotations from or references to books or articles in the body of your essay, you must, on a separate page entitled Bibliography, give a list of the sources you have used in the preparation of the essay.

17. You must follow the same conventions and appropriate referencing when accessing material on the web, and in brackets add the date you accessed the website; for example, http://www.tcd.ie/Local/ (accessed 12 January 2016).

18. Basic principles: be clear and consistent; in general, it is sound practice to let the introduction briefly outline what you intend to deal with, discuss, describe etc.; the body of the essay should fulfill the expectations prompted by the introduction; the essay should be rounded off with a brief conclusion of the arguments and themes.

First (excellent):

Written work will demonstrate consistent evidence of: an excellent understanding of appropriate texts and up-to-date scholarship/criticism/theory; highly skilful deployment of relevant information in an extremely well crafted structure; arguments that manifest independent/original thought; critical evaluative ability with a keen awareness of key issues; exemplary use of accepted scholarly conventions relating to the attribution of sources, footnoting, and bibliography; an exceptional ability to express ideas in written English.

Upper Second (very good):

Written work will show consistent evidence of: an extremely competent understanding of appropriate texts and scholarship/criticism/theory; a notable ability to present relevant information in a clear and well thought out structure; arguments that show a very good degree of independent evaluative thought; competent use of accepted scholarly conventions relating to the attribution of sources, footnoting, and bibliography; an extremely good command of written English.

Lower Second (good):

Written work will give consistent evidence of: a competent understanding of relevant texts and scholarship/criticism/theory; engagement with the question being asked; attempts to go beyond the secondary bibliography; good overall organization of ideas; proper use of scholarly conventions relating to the integration and attribution of sources, footnoting, and bibliography; a good command of written English, with accuracy in grammar and spelling, and an appropriately academic lexical range.

Third (acceptable):

Written work will normally give evidence of: competence in relation to relevant texts and scholarship/criticism/theory; an approach to the question being asked which is not merely superficial/derivative/uncritical; no more than a minor tendency to repetition and description; awareness of scholarly conventions concerning the proper integration and attribution of sources, footnoting, and bibliography; appropriate grammar, spelling, and lexical range.

Fail I (not acceptable):

Written work in the F1 range will normally show only a superficial knowledge of the topic and/or fail to display acceptable competence in constructing an answer to the question posed; it will be disjointed and derivative, with an unclear structure; it will show difficulty in following its own arguments. Even work which otherwise reveals basic competence may fall into the F1 category for the following deficiencies: lack of in-depth engagement with the texts; failure to observe the scholarly conventions concerning the proper integration and attribution of sources, footnoting, and bibliography; an accumulation of errors in grammar/spelling/vocabulary.

Fail II (inadequate):

Written work in the F2 range will reveal an inadequate knowledge of the topic, and/or an inability to display basic competence in constructing an answer to the question posed. Such work is also most likely to give more serious evidence of the weaknesses noted under F1.

PLAGIARISM

WHAT IS PLAGIARISM?

Plagiarism is taking the work of another and presenting it and claiming it as your own either intentionally or unintentionally.
According to Neville (2000, p. 30) there are three main forms of plagiarism:

1. Copying another person’s work, including the work of another student (with or without consent), and claiming or pretending it to be your own.
2. Presenting arguments that use a blend of your own and a significant percentage of copied works of the original author without acknowledging the source.
3. Paraphrasing another’s person work, but not giving due acknowledgement to the original writer or organization publishing the writing, including Internet sites. The exceptions to this would be in relation to common knowledge.

REMEMBER:

Copying and pasting from numerous sources and moving them around to make a complete assignment is another form of plagiarism.

VERY IMPORTANT

To ensure that you have a clear understanding of what plagiarism is, how Trinity deals with cases of plagiarism, and how to avoid it, you will find a repository of information at: http://tcd-ie.libguides.com/plagiarism/

We ask you to take the following steps:

(a) Visit the online resources to inform yourself about how Trinity deals with plagiarism and how you can avoid it at http://tcd-ie.libguides.com/plagiarism/. You should also familiarize yourself with the 2015-2016 Calendar entry on plagiarism located on this website and the sanctions which are applied;

(b) Complete the ‘Ready, Steady, Write’ online tutorial on plagiarism at http://tcd-ie.libguides.com/plagiarism/ready-steady-write/. Completing the tutorial is compulsory for all students.

(c) Familiarize yourself with the declaration that you will be asked to sign when submitting course work at http://tcd-ie.libguides.com/plagiarism/declaration/

Text of Declaration

Each coversheet that is attached to submitted work should contain the following completed declaration:

I have read and I understand the plagiarism provisions in the General Regulations of the University Calendar for the current year, found at http://www.tcd.ie/calendar/

I have also completed the Online Tutorial on avoiding plagiarism ‘Ready Steady Write’, located at http://tcd-ie.libguides.com/plagiarism/ready-steady-write/

(d) Contact your College Tutor, your Head of Department, or your Lecturer if you are unsure about any aspect of plagiarism.

Plagiarism is viewed by Trinity as academic fraud and an offence against University discipline. The University considers plagiarism to be a major offence, and subject to the disciplinary procedures of the University.

All students must read the part of the University of Dublin Calendar on plagiarism that applies to them; every coversheet that is attached to submitted work has a declaration that must be completed, confirming this.

SCHOLARSHIP EXAMINATION

The objective of the Foundation Scholarship examination is to identify students who, at a level of evaluation appropriate to the Senior Freshman year, can consistently display exceptional knowledge and understanding of their subjects. The searching examination requires candidates to demonstrate: skill in synthesizing and integrating knowledge across the full range of the set examination materials; rigorous and informed critical thought; and, in appropriate disciplines, a highly-developed ability to solve problems and apply knowledge.

The Scholarship is awarded solely on the basis of this examination performance – and no other factors are taken into account. A Scholarship at Trinity College remains the most prestigious undergraduate award in the country, an award that has undoubtedly helped to foster long-lasting links between many outstanding graduates and the College.
A principal aim of the College is the pursuit of excellence: one of the most tangible demonstrations of this is the institution of the Scholarship.

Students considering the Scholarship Examination must access the link below to familiarize themselves with the general regulations: https://www.tcd.ie/academicregistry/exams/scholarship/. The Scholars themselves, an excellent source of encouragement and advice, have produced a very useful video which you can view at https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=-0RweAxp6vs

Make sure you complete the online Application Form which will be downloadable at the ‘academicregistry/exams’ link from Tuesday 1 November 2016 until Tuesday 15 November 2015.

The Scholarship will examine the language and non-language modules studied in Junior Freshman year and in Michaelmas Term (MT) of the Senior Freshman year. Students must demonstrate:

- a high level of language competence in written and oral Spanish – special attention will be given to accuracy and fluency
- a marked ability to answer questions on their course work in a reasoned, structured, analytical, and convincing manner.

Candidates have to sit two papers:

LANGUAGE

One paper on Spanish language competence (1.5 hours) – 200 marks.

An oral examination (approximately 15 minutes) – 50 marks.

COURSE WORK (non-language modules)

One paper (3 hours) – total 250 marks – with three sections:

- A: questions on JF and SF (MT) Coursework (25%)
- B: a question on an unseen literary text (25%)
- C: general questions (not from the set curriculum for Spanish) related to your area of study (50%)

Candidates must answer one question from each section.

Successful candidates, those achieving an overall first class result with a majority of their papers at first-class level, are elected by the Board on Trinity Monday. Two additional regulations were introduced in 2015-2016. First, to be eligible for Scholarship a candidate cannot achieve a mark below 65% on any paper. Second, all courses will examine students on material that goes beyond the set curriculum by setting discipline-specific general paper(s) and/or general section(s) on papers as part of their examination. Consult the College Calendar for further details.

REMEMBER:

The Scholarship Examination can only be taken by students in their Senior Freshman year, except in exceptional circumstances when students may defer it to the following year. In the event that a serious problem arises in the lead-up to the examination please contact your Tutor, who will make the appropriate application.

ERASMUS IN JUNIOR SOPHISTER YEAR

In JS year students can spend MT at a Spanish university on an Erasmus exchange – in exceptional circumstances students may apply to go for a whole academic year – access the Department webpage on Study Abroad https://www.tcd.ie/Hispanic_Studies/undergraduate/study-abroad/ and contact Dr Bayó Belenguer (bayobels@tcd.ie) for additional information.
RESIDENCE REQUIREMENT

Remember that students of Spanish must spend not less than eight full weeks in a Spanish-speaking country before their Moderation examinations I or II in Spanish. This regulation can be waived only in exceptional circumstances and with the prior approval of the Head of Department.

USEFUL INFORMATION
