Aims
This module surveys Chekhov’s writing in both short-story and dramatic forms. While some texts from Chekhov’s early period will be included, the focus will be on works from the later 1880s, 1890s and early 1900s. Attention will be given to the social and historical circumstances which form the background to Chekhov’s writings, as well as to major influences on Chekhov’s writing, notably Tolstoy. In examining Chekhov’s major plays, we will also look closely at Chekhov’s involvement with the Moscow Arts Theatre and theatre director and actor Konstantin Stanislavsky.

Set texts will include:

1. Short stories
Late ‘optimistic’ stories: ‘The Lady with the Dog’, ‘The Bride’

2. Plays
The Seagull
Uncle Vanya
Three Sisters
The Cherry Orchard

numerous other translations e.g. those by Ronald Hingley (The Oxford Chekhov) or by Ronald Wilkes (Penguin Classics) which are also good. I’m not keen on translations by Peavor and Volokhonsky so preferably avoid.

For the plays, the Penguin Classics edition is fine (translated by Peter Carson) and easy to get hold of. Avoid the recent American versions by Paul Schmidt which are really adaptations. The American translator Laurence Senelick’s translations of the plays are highly regarded though, if you come across them.

Secondary reading
