Eurostat Seminar:

Global value chains and economic globalization: The Eurostat initiative

Date: 18th April 2013
Time: 9.00 - 14.45 (Light lunch will be provided at 12.30)
Venue: The Trinity Long Room Hub, Trinity College, Dublin, Ireland

To register, please email corporate.support@cso.ie

Please see agenda on page 2
Eurostat Seminar:
Global value chains and economic globalization: The Eurostat initiative

Agenda:
9.00  Registration

9.30  Welcome by Pádraig Dalton, Director General, Central Statistics Office Ireland.

9.45  Economic globalization – scene setting by Professor Louis Brennan, Director of the Institute for International Integration Studies.

10.05  Eurostat’s initiative in the area of global value chains and economic globalization – speech by Walter Radermacher.

10.30  Coffee break

11.00  Measuring global value chains: the data gaps and how to fill them. Presentation by Timothy Sturgeon, Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

12.00  Macroeconomics of Global Value Chains - a discourse by Philip R Lane, Whately Professor of Political Economy, TCD.

12.30  Lunch break

13.15  UN concept paper on the measurement of international trade and economic globalization – presentation by Ronald Jansen, Chief of UN Trade Statistics branch.

13.45  A roadmap and future steps – panel discussion.

14.45  End of seminar

After the Eurostat seminar at 15.00:
Research seminar with a presentation by Professor Marcel Timmer, University of Groningen and a special session on the euro crisis, chaired by Professor Philip R. Lane.