Postgraduate Modules (Structured Ph.D. or auditing)

The following accredited M.Phil. modules may be taken by research students in the School (and in the Schools of English and Languages, Literatures and Cultural Studies) within the context of the Structured Ph.D. Please note that places are limited in some modules.

Research students must complete the same assessment as M.Phil. students to be awarded credit for a module.

Auditing a module without assessment and award of credits may be possible in many cases but requires the explicit permission of the module co-ordinator. Auditing implies that you attend all sessions of the module and do the required reading/preparation.

The timetable and rooms for all modules can be found on SITS. To discuss attendance in a module, please first contact the module co-ordinator (email addresses on the website). If mediation is required, please contact the Director of Postgraduate Teaching and Learning.
