Ollscoil Átha Cliath | The University of Dublin

Wednesday 26 July 2023

Dear Students,

Welcome to the School of Medicine, Trinity College Dublin, as new members of our School and College community. We hope you are all keeping well and looking forward with excitement, and no doubt some trepidation, to the opportunities and challenges we will navigate together over the course of the next 5 years.

You are joining a cohort of students that we are very proud of, our current students and alumni are wonderful ambassadors for the School and have demonstrated their resilience, perseverance and professionalism in meeting the challenges brought about by the COVID-19 pandemic.

Please see information below in relation to the Year 1 schedule. Please note these dates are specific to the Medicine programme and may not align with the general College Calendar.

- Orientation week (in person events) will commence on Monday 18th September, a little later this year due to a later release date for our local Leaving Certificate Examination results.
- Teaching will commence on Monday 25th September.
- There will be a reading week Monday 23rd October.
- Semester 1 examinations will likely take place week of Monday 8th January, 2024.

We will post the Overview of Year 1 online in the coming weeks and the detailed timetable with student groupings for small group teaching events will be available in mid-September. The following links provide important advice and guidance for new entrants to the School/University:
