

OPTIONAL Evening Language Modules Application Form Centre for Language and Communication Studies

Places in optional evening language classes are available for undergraduate students. Classes begin in the first week of the first term and run for two terms, with a weekly class. It is important to note that these are not grammar or conversation classes, but instead involve group-based projects with spoken and written components.

Students enrolled for a named language course as part of their degree (e.g. Law and French) may not study the same language in this programme. Please note that these are optional courses. For credit-bearing language modules, apply via www.tcd.ie/broad\_curriculum

A waiting list is employed for courses which are over-subscribed, and further rounds of offers are made at the start of Michaelmas term. If you not do obtain a place, you may enrol in later College years.

Guide to language proficiency levels

Sign up for:

A1 level	...if you have never studied this language before, although you may know some very basic words and phrases.
A2 level	...if you can already understand and say some basic phrases, if you can introduce yourself, ask and answer questions about personal details, if you can interact in a simple way when people speak slowly.
B1 level	...if you can already describe who you are, where you come from, exchange information and communicate in routine tasks (shopping, directions, work). Pass in Leaving Certificate required.
B2 level	...if you can already deal with most situations arising whilst travelling in an area where the language is spoken. Pass in Leaving Certificate required.

NB classes and levels on offer may change from year to year according to student numbers
