Business Studies (BBS)

This is an exciting area to study for those who wish to focus on Business as part of the BESS programme at Trinity. The initial broad-based education, together with advanced insight into Business disciplines, will give you the tools to drive the global economy. Past students are now leaders in the world of business, government, entertainment, technology, innovation and non-profit businesses.

What skills can I develop at Trinity?

You gain a wide range of skills while at College, through academic study, clubs and societies, voluntary work, student politics, work and other commitments. These are important to recognize as they inform your career decisions and are a critical ingredient in your applications for postgraduate study and jobs. Here are some skills you can gain through your course:

1. Critical Thinking - The most fundamental part of a university education is learning to work on your own and to make independent judgments. You have to discover the information that you need to analyse complex questions and develop your ideas about them and to present your arguments clearly and persuasively in a wide range of business scenarios.

2. Teamwork - Learning to work as part of a team is an important skill; sharing the workload, agreeing roles and working as a team to develop ideas, analyse information and present a coherent group argument.

3. Independent Research - You will have learnt how to use the library and other complex information resources and co-ordinate information from a wide variety of sources so that you may interpret and use business, financial and other data.

4. Logical argumentation - You will know how to bring together facts and arguments in order to answer a specific question or analyse a business problem.

5. Time and project management - By working on assignments and studying for exams you will have developed the ability to revise and consolidate your work and know how to extract the essential points from a mass of information. You will also have learned how to manage your own time and to work under pressure of deadlines.

6. Verbal communication - You will know how to present your ideas orally such as in the presentation of business reports and to contribute constructively to discussions.

7. Written communication - You will have had the opportunity to present your ideas in writing accurately and concisely, using convincing arguments which are based on solid evidence; responding flexibly to different types of questions and expressing your thoughts concisely; carrying out in-depth research on a specialised topic and develop the sustained writing skills needed.

8. Digital Skills - You will have the opportunity to develop your computer skills both from typing up your own essays and papers and from undertaking searches on the web & using databases.

9. Experiential Learning and Personal Development You will have the opportunity to engage with and reflect on experiences in an organisational context. You are managing your own learning, recognising any gaps in your understanding and ensuring that these are addressed in ways that best suit your learning style. You will develop self awareness, openness and sensitivity to diversity in terms of people, cultures, business and management issues.

What can I do with a Business degree?

Business Studies students have many options available upon completion of their degree. Careers are available in all sectors of industry, such as in finance and banking, management consulting, marketing, public service, not-for-profit and the media nationally and around the globe. Many students are also interested in pursuing entrepreneurial endeavours or academic research. Here are some sample employment opportunities:

Roles	Employers
Analyst	Diabetes Ireland
Audit trainee	EY
Entrepreneur	Goldman Sachs
Fundraising & Marketing Assistant	Irish Civil Service
International Brand Ambassador	Jameson
Trade Development Executive	Start-up

Many business students go on to postgraduate courses such as a masters or PhD to develop skills in specific disciplines such as Digital Marketing or Treasury and Banking, but also to broaden and deepen their skill base, by studying areas such as international management or pursuing an MBA.
