

A Portobello Evening with Harry Clifton

An evening of poetry and history with a focus on
Dublin's Portobello neighbourhood

Wednesday 4th October, 7pm

We are proud to welcome the award-winning poet and former Ireland Chair of Poetry, Harry Clifton, to Books Upstairs. Clifton will read from his most recent collection Portobello Sonnets (Bloodaxe Books, 2016) and we will also explore some of the social history of the neighbourhood with historian and Books Upstairs founder Maurice Earls.

This is not just an evening for fans or inhabitants of Dublin 8, but an opportunity to hear Clifton perform his own celebrated poetry and to delve into the atmosphere and past of a unique area of Dublin city.

Tickets (€5) are available on Eventbrite and from Books Upstairs directly.
Advance booking recommended.

Bookshop | Café | Literary Venue

17 D'Olier Street, Dublin 2, Ireland
Tel: 01-6778566
Email: shop@booksupstairs.ie