This report sets out the results of the analysis of the samples specifically referred to in it. The Earth Surface Research Laboratory (ESRL) warrants that the results as stated are accurate in so far as they relate to the sample as received in the ESRL. The ESRL accepts no liability or responsibility to any party whatsoever in respect of, or in any way by reference to:

- The taking of the sample, the accuracy of the sample or its suitability for the purpose(s) for which it is taken or applied, the designation, handling, storage or transport of the sample prior to its delivery to the ESRL or its condition upon such delivery.
- The interpretation of this report and/or the application of the results as stated and/or the accuracy and reliability of any advices based thereon.
- Any (or any alleged) lack of competence, negligence, failure or breach of duty on the part of any person engaged in or responsible for any of the activities or functions referred to above, whether or not such agent is described as an agent of ESRL, or otherwise. All such persons shall be deemed to be agents of the person to whom this report is issued and not to be agents or representatives in any capacity of the ESRL.
- Emailed reports are issued under the understanding that they are provisional copies of reported data. The countersigned hard copy of the report is deemed to be the final valid copy of reported data.
- The use of ESRL reports or results in any legal, publicity or advertising activities is prohibited without the explicit written consent of the ESRL Director.
- Samples being sent to the ESRL must be accompanied by appropriate documentation. This should include the FORM_ESRL 24 - Analysis Request Form client with full contact details, sample description and where possible Materials Safety Data Sheets (MSDS). Failure to comply with this condition may result in the refusal of samples and/or a delay in turnaround time.
- Any data collected will be held in accordance with the Trinity College Dublin Data Protection Policy (https://www.tcd.ie/about/policies/data_protection.php).
- The ESRL does not retain samples for storage once a report has been issued, unless by prior arrangement with the ESRL. Where possible samples are returned to the client upon completion of work.
- As sample testing and analysis is frequently destructive, the ESRL accepts no responsibility for the loss of, or damage, to samples.
- The total liability of the ESRL, for loss or damage caused by or resulting from improper or negligent purported performance or non-performance of work shall not exceed a sum equal to that paid for the work.
- In the event of any claim arising against the ESRL. The ESRL expressly excludes liability for any consequential loss or damage or any loss value, profit, business, revenue, goodwill, yields, production or anticipated savings which may arise in respect of or in anyway by reference to any report, analysis, advice or information given orally by any person or contained in any report, leaflet, book pamphlet, brochure or other document, whether prepared, published or issued by ESRL or otherwise.
- The ESRL operates a strict credit policy according to the rules set down by the University of Dublin, Trinity College. In effect this is 30 days credit from the date of invoice. Failure to comply with these terms may result in the withdrawal of credit facilities. Where appropriate a Purchase Order number should be supplied with samples.
- The ESRL accepts no responsibility for samples that are sub-contracted to third parties at Clients requests.

Receipt of Client samples by the ESRL is deemed as acceptance in full of these terms and conditions.
