

TRIARC in association with
Visual Arts Society TCD presents

Michael Craig-Martin

from the Fountain to an Oak Tree

Thursday, 23 November, 2017, 18.30 pm
Emmet Theatre, Arts Building, Trinity College Dublin

The renowned, Irish-born artist, Michael Craig-Martin will give a talk about the ideas that have been expressed through his artwork and teaching. To acknowledge the centenary of Marcel Duchamp's iconic Fountain (1917), Craig-Martin will elucidate his particular response to Duchamp's influence and its role in his work, before the evolution of his own distinctive perspective. The talk will be followed by an opportunity for discussion and questions from the floor.

Launched by: Linda Doyle, Professor of Engineering and the Arts
Introduction: Yvonne Scott (convenor), Director of TRIARC
In Conversation: Michael Craig-Martin with Sean Rainbird, Director, National Gallery of Ireland, followed by questions from the floor, and closing remarks by Sean Rainbird.

No charge and no booking for this event, but come early to ensure your seat
For further information, contact Yvonne Scott (scotty@tcd.ie)