The Value of Networking

1. No-one can help you get what you want if you don't know what you want.

2. You have more contacts
than you think you do.

3. It is far easier to stay passive and reactive ...if this was the easy option everyone would be doing it.

4. Dust off your TCD research skills – you’re going to need them..and it helps if you are inherently ~~inquisitive~~ nosy!

5. Not all companies have vacancies, but they all have problems. Solve one.

6. People will help you, as long as you don't ask them for a job.

7. “If you hear of anything let me know”

...is one of the most useless
phrases in the English language

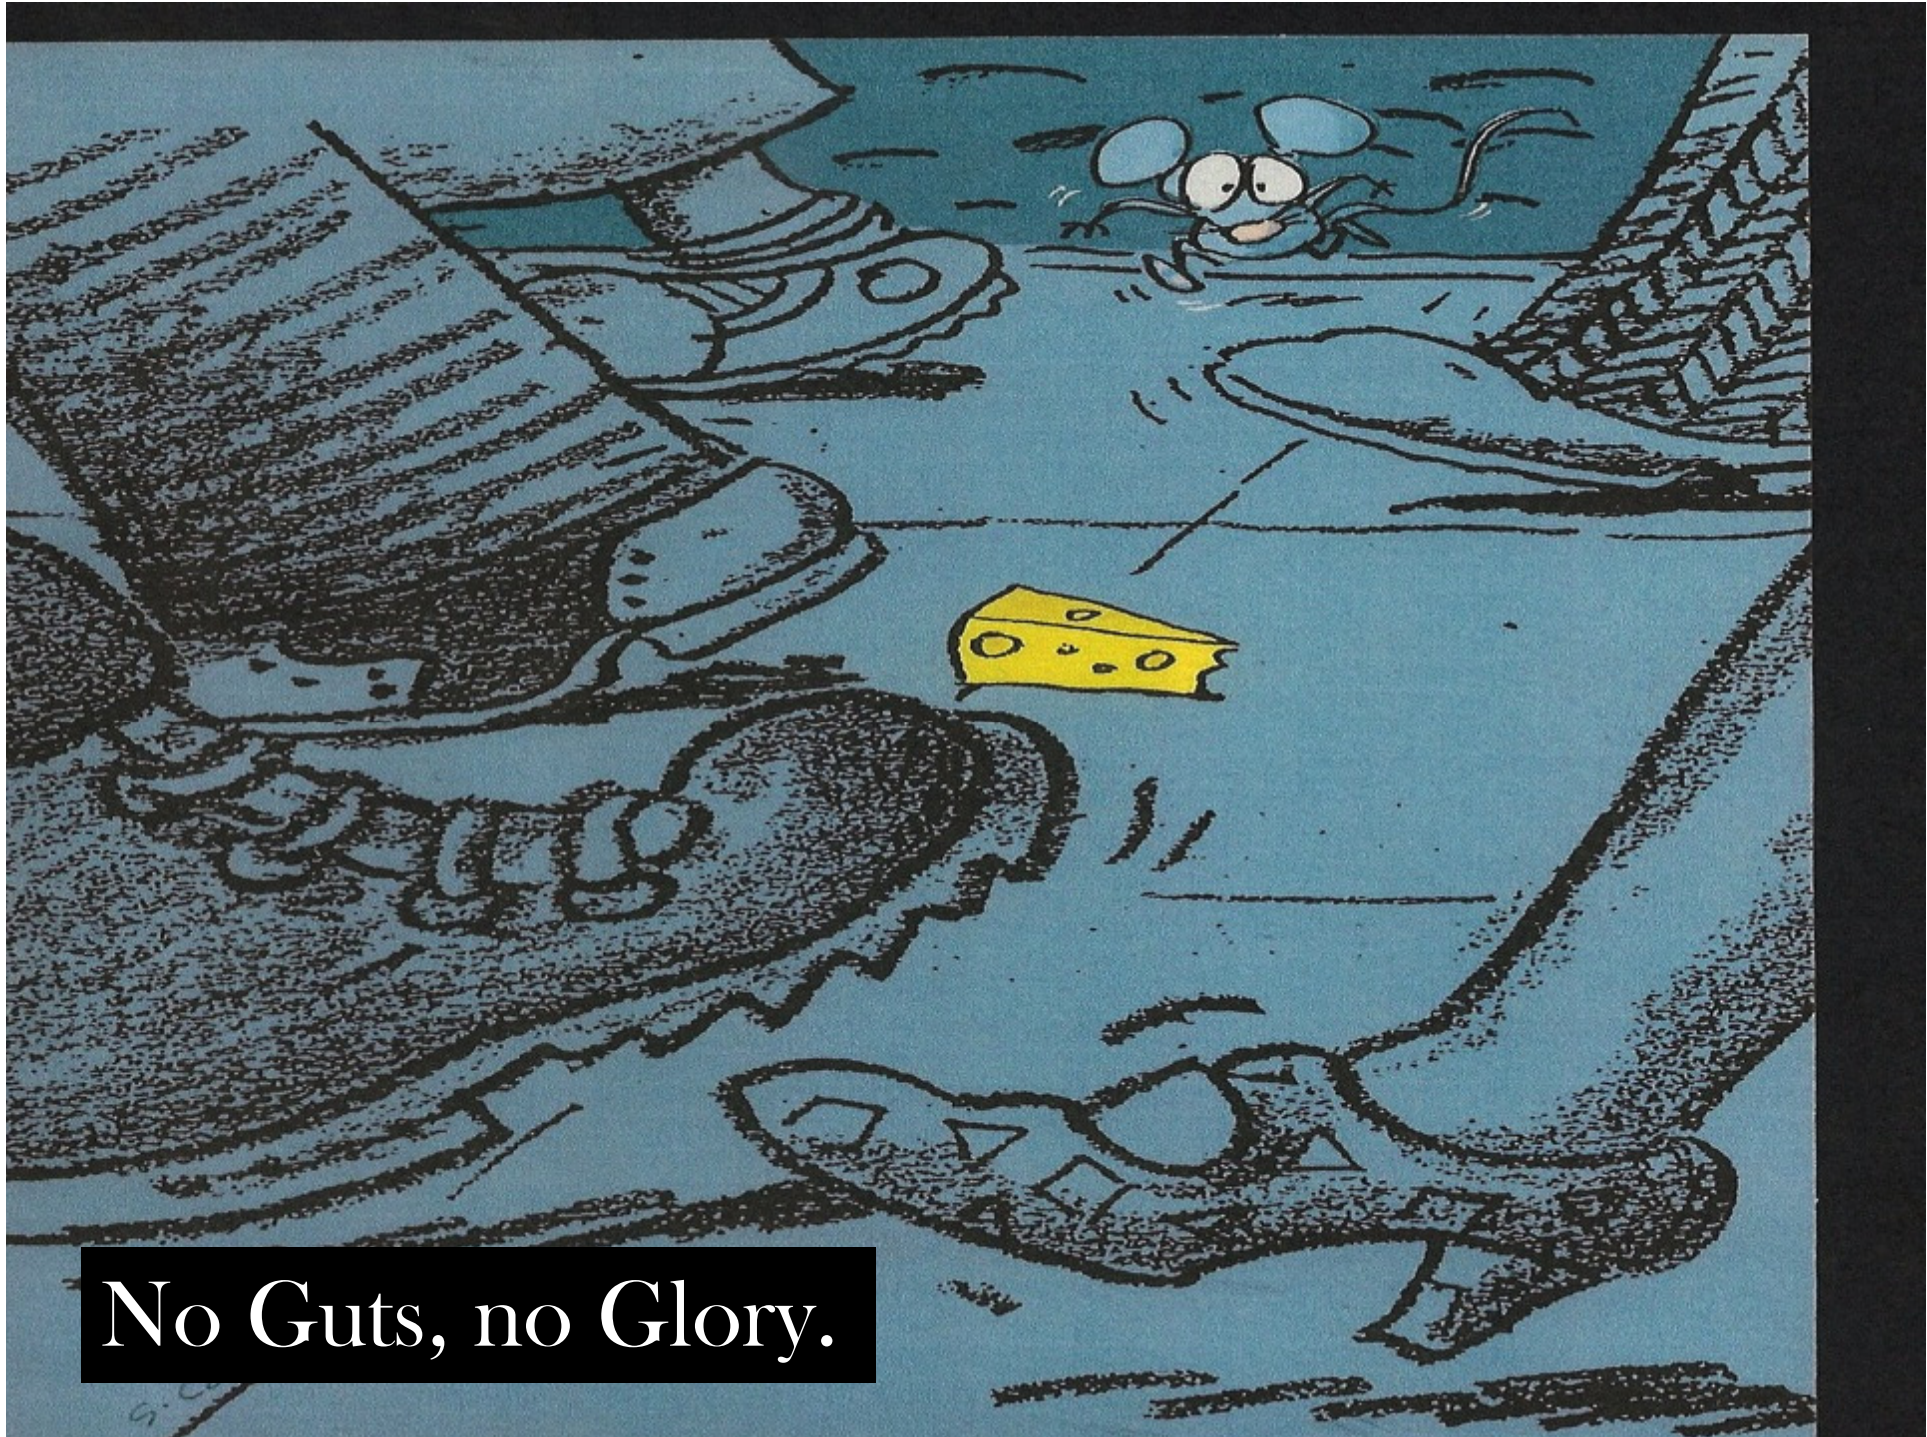

I'm convinced that about half of [entrepreneurs] from the [] are the successful []

pure perseverance

May you meet more ladders than snakes...

No Guts, no Glory.
