'Of the moment, in the moment'

This first exhibition in the new 'Collecting Together' series features some of our most recently acquired artworks, making their debut on public display, alongside a selection of modern and contemporary pieces from The Trinity College Dublin Art Collections.

Many have been chosen by students and staff, involved from the 1960s to today, at the time when the artwork was first exhibited in Ireland or abroad, often capturing the artistic zeitgeist of these moments.

We hope you will enjoy this opportunity to see a wider group of significant Irish and international artworks from the University Art Collections.
