MSc in Law and Finance

This interdisciplinary MSc is jointly offered by the Law School and Trinity Business School.

This course is structured to include foundational and advanced material to build students’ knowledge and understanding of law and finance. It will provide students with the capacity to embrace current and future changes in respect of financial regulation, EU law and financial innovation. Students will be equipped with the technical and analytical skills to understand and implement financial and legal concepts.

Graduates will be well placed to tackle business challenges with an understanding of both the legal and financial aspects, which is crucially important to organisations operating in an increasingly dynamic and complex world.

“Trinity Business School and the School of Law are delighted to offer the opportunity for interdisciplinary study at postgraduate level.

The programme will provide students with the knowledge and skills to operate across both law and financial services; two crucial areas in any business environment.”
