Module Code	CLU33119 (JS)
Module Name	Archaeological Practice
ECTS Weighting	5 ECTS
Semester taught	Semester 1
Module Coordinator	Dr Hazel Dodge
Module Learning Outcomes with embedded Graduate Attributes	On successful completion of this module, students should be able to: LO1. Understand and apply a range of practical archaeological techniques LO2. Identify and analyse the distinctive features of landscapes, sites and monuments relevant to the practical work LO3. Record and reflect on archaeological and analytical skills through a diary format LO4. Make a short class presentation on an independent research project relating to the practical work.
Module Content	This module provides the opportunity to develop practical skills and experience outside the classroom. Students taking this module participate in an archaeological project, museum or cultural heritage work, or an approved study tour whereby they engage with landscapes, sites and museums in the Mediterranean. The practical element is usually undertaken over the summer period prior to the academic year to which the credits contribute. A virtual version of the module is also offered and may be taken with the approval of the module co-ordinator.
Teaching and Learning Methods	Practical module, with five contact hours for organisation and guidance.
