The Secretary to the College introduced the item with reference to a memorandum from himself and the Registrar dated 19 January 2023, which had been circulated in advance.

The Secretary to the College advised Board members that the date for the Board Away Day was now confirmed for the afternoon of Thursday 9 February 2023.

In addition, the Secretary to the College advised the Board that through the Irish Universities Association work is underway on high-level principles for the appointment of Board members.

Professor Walsh and Ms Fullam joined the meeting at this point.

The Registrar advised the Board that there had been a wide-ranging and helpful consultation process to date. With reference to the proposed draft amendments to the Statutes and noting the significant number of amendments that will be required, the Registrar encouraged Board members to review the draft amendments and to send any comments or observations to him no later than 48 hours before the Away Day. The Secretary to the College clarified that he would circulate the document electronically to all Board members in the coming days.

The Registrar noted that it is important for the Statutes to be clear as they act as guides to the college community and as such the focus should not be on the exact wording used but more so on whether the amendments facilitated the necessary changes and were easily understood. He concluded by thanking everyone who has been engaged in the consultation process and for the valuable feedback received to date.

The Provost noted the importance of receiving written inputs in advance of the Away Day so that appropriate consideration can be given to items raised and that there can be a focused discussion at the Away Day.

In response to a query from a Board member in respect of the high-level principles for appointment, the Secretary to the College clarified that the HEA Act 2022 requires for the Minister to approve the regulations and process of appointment of Board members and so work was underway through the Irish Universities Association Secretaries’ Group to draft a common set of principles for all of the universities and to seek the views of Department officials now so as to minimise any delay at a later date. The Provost noted that it had been advised that the Universities work as a sector in this regard and also noted that the high-level principles would be overarching and would allow each university to operate transparently and in accordance with its own ethos.

Responding to a query from a Board member, the Provost clarified that the process for appointment would not be provided for in the Statutes but would form separate guidelines. Following further queries from the Board member, the Provost noted that the Board is currently operating in a transitional stage and that the process of appointment would take time to be embedded and could be reviewed in the future.

Responding to comments from a Board member in respect of changes to the committee structures, the Provost advised the Board that it is beneficial for the Board to have sight of the proposed committee changes to help inform decisions in respect of the proposed amendments to the Statutes in respect of Board composition. She noted that revisions to the committee structures would also facilitate a mechanism to have greater inclusion and participation at the committee level. It was noted that at this point the focus of the amendments is to be on the new committee structures and that careful and more detailed consideration will be given to the development of the relevant terms of reference, the details of which are in the Schedules in the Statutes and at the discretion of the Board for approval, at a later date.

Incorporating any amendments approved at subsequent Board meetings

Professor Nolan joined the meeting at this point.

The Registrar noted that consultation in respect of the changes to committee structures formed part of the initial consultation process and that a meeting with Chairs and Secretaries of the Principal Committees to discuss the matter was in the process of being scheduled.

In response to a query from a Board member in respect of approving the process for the appointment for external Board members, the Registrar clarified that the proposed Statute provision will be for discussion at the Away Day and that the full details of the process can be developed after that.

In response to comments from a Board member, the Registrar suggested that he will provide some explanatory notes in respect of the Act, the Statutes, Chapters and Schedules to aid discussion at the Away Day.
