Economic and Social History Society of Ireland

53rd Annual Conference

4-5 December 2026

The Department of History is hosting the 53rd Annual Conference of the Economic and Social History Society of Ireland (ESHSI) on Friday 4th and Saturday 5th December. The conference brings together over fifty speakers exploring Ireland's economic and social history across a wide range of periods, themes, and approaches. The conference will also include the K. H. Connell Memorial Lecture, delivered on Friday afternoon by Professor James Kelly, Dublin City University.

The conference programme can be found here.

Registration costs €20 for one day or €40 for both days.
