Introduction

This is a statement of the practices of Trinity Research and Innovation (‘TR&I’) in connection with the processing of personal data for the purposes of our services and the steps taken by Trinity College Dublin as a data controller to safeguard individuals’ rights under data protection legislation, specifically the EU General Data Protection Regulation (‘GDPR’) and Data Protection Acts 1988-2018.

Trinity College Dublin actively seeks to preserve the privacy rights of data subjects who share personal data with the University. Any personal information which you provide to TR&I will be treated with the highest standards of security and confidentiality, in accordance with data protection legislation.

This Privacy Notice explains the following

• How we collect your personal data;
• The purpose and legal basis for processing your personal data;
• How we securely store your personal data;
• Details of third parties with whom we share personal data; and
• Your rights under data protection legislation.

How we collect your personal data

We collect personal data to provide our services to you. This data may be collected directly from you by our staff, from other systems under the control of Trinity College or from third parties including individuals with whom we communicate or interact with in the course of providing our services, by email, telephone, completion of forms, surveys or otherwise.

Purpose and legal basis for processing personal data

The personal data we collect from you will only be processed by TR&I for the specific and lawful purposes as outlined in this Privacy Notice. Trinity College will ensure that your data is processed fairly and lawfully in keeping with the principles of data protection as set out under Article 5 GDPR.
Specifically, your personal data may be processed for any or all of the following purposes:

How long we retain your data

In keeping with the data protection principle of storage limitation we will only retain your data for as long as is necessary. For the purposes described in this Privacy Notice we will store your data in accordance with the Trinity College Records Management Policy.

Your rights under data protection law

You have the following rights over the way we process your personal data. For further information please see the Trinity College Data Subject Rights Requests Procedure.

Right of Access

You have the right to request a copy of the personal data which is processed by TR&I and to exercise that right easily and at reasonable intervals.
Consent
You may withdraw your consent to TR&I processing your personal data at any time, when consent is the legal basis for the processing. To withdraw your consent, we require you to advise TR&I in writing.

Rectification
You have the right to have inaccuracies in personal data that we hold about you rectified.

Erasure
You have the right to have your personal data deleted where we no longer have any justification for retaining it, subject to exemptions such as the use of pseudonymised or anonymised data for scientific research purposes.

Object
You have the right to object to processing your personal data if:

- We have processed your data based on a legitimate interest or for the exercise of the public tasks of the University if you believe the processing to be disproportionate or unfair to you.
- The personal data was processed for the purposes of direct marketing or profiling related to direct marketing.
- We have processed the personal data for scientific or historical research purposes or statistical purposes unless the processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out for reasons of public interest.

Restriction
You have the right to restrict the processing of your personal data if:

- You are contesting the accuracy of the personal data.
- The personal data was processed unlawfully.
- You need to prevent the erasure of the personal data in order to comply with legal obligations.
- You have objected to the processing of the personal data and wish to restrict the processing until a legal basis for continued processing has been verified.

Portability
Where it is technically feasible you have the right to have a readily accessible machine readable copy of your data transferred or moved to another data controller where we are processing your data based on your consent and if that processing is carried out by automated means.
