Reading lists are lists of material recommended by your lecturers:

- They can be included on your School websites, on Blackboard, or may be distributed in class. Some lecturers use MyReadingList@TCD which gives direct links
- Sometimes a lecturer will make a distinction between primary/core/required/essential/critical reading and additional reading
- Some reading lists will take a while to get used to, e.g. Law with the abbreviations of legal journals and unfamiliar terms and concepts
- If something is on a reading list but we don't have it – please tell us!
