

CITY UNIVERSITY
LONDON

Academic excellence for business and the professions

Translate in the City

the only Literary Translation Summer School in the UK

23rd – 27th June 2014

Develop your translation skills under the guidance of top professionals

Are you a practising professional or a newcomer to the art of translation?

An immersion course in literary translation into English across genres – including selections from fiction, poetry, history, essays, journalism, travel and academic writing – taught by leading literary translators and senior academics, with plenty of opportunities for networking with publishers, agents, university staff and one another.

Workshops will be offered in the following languages: Chinese (Nicky Harman); French (Ros Schwartz); German (Ruth Urbom); Italian (Kevin Halliwell); Japanese (Angus Turvill); Polish (Antonia Lloyd-Jones); Portuguese (Danny Hahn); Russian (Robert Chandler) and Spanish (Nick Caistor).

Please note: All translation is into English and English needs to be your language of habitual use.

Planned evening events include Keynote Lecture; Translation Slam; Author/Translator dialogue.

Tutor bios, full programme, accommodation options and booking form at www.city.ac.uk/courses/short-courses/translate-in-the-city

Full fee: £470. Bursaries available. Bursary application deadline: 31st May 2014.

Further Information please contact

s.hall@city.ac.uk | +44 (0)7921 252 365

Directors Amanda Hopkinson (Visiting Professor in Literary Translation, City University, London) and French literary translator Ros Schwartz

