FACULTY OF ARTS, HUMANITIES AND SOCIAL SCIENCES

SCHOOL OF CREATIVE ARTS

Programme:	Screen Studies
School:	Creative Arts
Award and Exit Award:	M.Phil./P.Grad.Dip.
Admission Regulations:	Applicants should have a good Honours Bachelor degree of upper - second class or above, or an equivalent qualification, in a cognate area. Applicants are required to submit a 5-10 page sample of their creative writing.
Mode of Delivery & Duration:	In class. One year full-time; two years part-time.
Programme Structure:	This programme carries 90 ECTS. The full-time programme consists of two elements: 1. 6 taught modules (10 ECTS each) delivered equally across two semesters (60 ECTS) 2. Research Project (30 ECTS) The part-time programme consists of two elements: 1. 6 taught modules (10 ECTS each): 4 modules (40 ECTS) delivered in year 1 and 2 modules (20 ECTS) delivered in year 2 (60 ECTS) 2. Research Project and Research Methodologies Module (30 ECTS)
Assessment and Progression:	Assessment involves a combination of module coursework and research project as outlined below: 1. Each 10-credit module will be assessed by a combination of written and/or practice-based assignments as appropriate to that module plus class participation (60 ECTS) 2. A research project of a screenplay plus a critical reflection of 3,500-4,000 words (30 ECTS). The pass mark for all module assessments including the research project is 50%. In the calculation of the overall mark for the course, each module is weighted according to its ECTS credit weighting. Students may compensate for one fail mark in one 10 ECTS module provided that the overall credit-weighted average mark across the six 10 ECTS modules is 50% or over, and students have passed taught modules amounting to at least 50 credits and have a mark of not less than 40% in the failed module. Students must achieve a mark of 50% or over in the research project in order to pass the course as a whole. All components of the course must be completed by the beginning of September for full-time students or by the beginning of September of year 2 for part-time students. Part-time students must pass at least 3 of 4 taught modules in year 1 with no mark below 50% in order to progress to year 2. M.Phil. with Distinction: Students may be awarded a grade of Distinction in the degree if they achieve an overall mark for the course of at least 70%, including at least 70% in the research project, and provided that no credit-bearing element has been failed (i.e. achieved a mark below 50%) during the period of study. Postgraduate Diploma (exit award): A student who does not wish to submit a research project and be considered for the degree of M.Phil. may instead opt to be considered for a Postgraduate Diploma in Film by applying to the Course Coordinator in writing before the end of April for full-time students or end of April of year 2 for part-time students. Such students are required to submit all six taught 10-credit module assessments (60 ECTS). Such students may

Programme:	Theatre and Performance
School:	Creative Arts
Award and Exit Award:	M.Phil./P.Grad.Dip
Admission Regulations:	A good Honours Bachelor degree of upper-second class, or above, or equivalent qualification. Applicants will be asked to submit writing samples and may be interviewed before admission.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	Delivered in seminar and studio format, with structured outbound engagement in the city's vibrant theatre scene. One year full-time; two years part-time.
Programme Structure:	The course carries 90 ECTS. The full-time programme consists of two elements: 6 taught modules (10 ECTS each) delivered equally across two semesters (60 ECTS). Five modules are compulsory, and one module (10 ECTS) is selected from three elective options in Term 2. Dissertation (30 ECTS), assessed either by A) academic writing (15,000 words) OR B) a practice-as-research project (practice + reflection of 4,000–5,000 words + academic essay of 4,000–5,000 words). The part-time programme consists of two elements: 6 taught modules (10 ECTS each): 4 modules (40 ECTS) delivered in Year 1, and 2 modules (20 ECTS) delivered in Year 2. Dissertation (30 ECTS), assessed either by A) academic writing (15,000 words) OR B) a practice-as-research project (practice + reflection of 4,000–5,000 words + academic essay of 4,000–5,000 words).
Assessment and Progression:	Non-assessed co-requisites: Attendance and participation in the School of Creative Arts Research Forum is expected. Assessment involves a combination of module coursework and research project as outlined below: 1) Each 10-credit module will be assessed by a combination of written and/or practice-based assignments, as appropriate to that module, including class participation (60 ECTS) 2) A dissertation project as listed above (30 ECTS). Weighting: In the calculation of the overall mark for the course, each module, including the dissertation (30 ECTS), is weighted according to its ECTS credit value. Pass Mark: The pass mark for each module and for the dissertation is 50%. To qualify for the award of the M.Phil. degree, students must achieve the pass mark in each of the taught modules amounting to 60 credits, and in the dissertation. Compensation: Failed individual assessments within a module may be compensated. Module averages are not compensatable. Postgraduate Diploma in Theatre and Performance: A student who does not wish to submit a dissertation and be considered for the degree of M.Phil. may instead opt to be considered for a Postgraduate Diploma in Theatre and Performance. To qualify for the award of the Postgraduate Diploma, students must achieve a pass mark in each of the taught modules amounting to 60 credits. Where a student passes the taught modules but does not reach the required standard in the dissertation, they may also remain eligible for the exit award of a Postgraduate Diploma in Theatre and Performance.

	The Postgraduate Diploma may be awarded with Distinction to candidates who pass each of the six taught modules and achieve an overall credit-weighted average mark of at least 70% across all modules. A Distinction cannot be awarded if a candidate has failed any credit during the course. M.Phil. with Distinction: Students of the M.Phil. in Theatre and Performance may be awarded the degree with Distinction if they achieve a final overall average mark for the course of at least 70%, including at least 70% in the dissertation, and provided that no credit-bearing element has been failed (i.e. achieved a mark below 50%) during the period of study.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

DEGREES BY RESEARCH DOCTOR IN EDUCATION

The Doctorate in Education is a research programme which comprises five structured modules and a substantial research thesis of between 60,000 to 70,000 words. The D.Ed. is aimed at educational and related professionals who wish to study at doctoral level. The intention is to prepare professionals to meet the challenge of working in a changing educational landscape at various levels (e.g., classroom based, leadership and management, policy making) and across different sectors (e.g. higher education, further education, compulsory education, the voluntary sector). The main aim of the programme is to enable professionals to critically explore various dimensions of their own practice and the contexts in which they undertake their work.

Applicants are required to hold at least a Master's qualification or equivalent and have a minimum of three years' experience in an educational or related field. Selection will be made on the basis of written application and interview.

The course is a minimum of four and a maximum of six years part-time.

The course comprises three interlinked areas: (1) the critical exploration of contemporary educational issues (2) research methodology and (3) a research-based thesis. Areas (1) and (2) are taught through five interconnected modules over the first three years of the programme, whereas (3) is ongoing and developmental from registration to completion. Students are allocated thesis supervisors on entry to the programme, whereupon a student begins work on their research. It is expected that students normally begin the fieldwork component of their research at the end of year two and finish it at the end of year three. In year four students are normally expected to complete and submit their thesis for examination.

Students are assessed by written assignments of 5,000 words (or equivalent) for the taught modules. Progression on the programme is determined by 1) satisfactory completion of the taught modules and 2) satisfactory completion of the D.Ed. confirmation process during the second year. The confirmation is an oral and written assessment which is designed to ensure that the student is ready to progress onto year three of the programme. It will be conducted according to the regulations for confirmation laid out in the TRINITY Calendar. The thesis is examined according to the regulations for Level 10 professional doctorate degrees as laid out in the TRINITY Calendar.

There will be an intake to this programme in 2023-2024, but no intake in the 2024–2025 academic year. The course co-ordinator is Professor Andrew Loxley.

Programme:	Education (21st Century Teaching and Learning)
School:	Education
Award and Exit Award:	P.Grad.Cert.
Admission Regulations:	Each applicant must meet the following academic and professional criteria: Academic Possess qualifications and competencies recognised at Level 8 of the National Framework of Qualifications (for example, a higher diploma or an Honours degree). Professional Be registered with the Teaching Council of Ireland and/or have a minimum of one year's experience working in educational or related contexts. Be in employment as an educator during the academic year for which the applicant is applying to the programme.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	One year part-time.
Programme Structure:	The programme carries 30 ECTS. Candidates must choose 6 modules from a suite of 15 modules each carrying 5 ECTS.
Assessment and Progression:	The pass mark for all assessments is 50%. Each module must be passed independently. In cases where students fail to achieve a minimum of 50% in a written assignment, a resubmission will be permitted once. All modules are equally weighted. The final mark is based on a credit-weighted average of the mark awarded in each module.

School:	Education
Award and Exit Award:	M.Ed. Postgraduate Diploma (P.Grad.Dip.) in Educational Studies
Admission Regulations:	Applicants must hold a good Honours Bachelor degree (Honours Bachelor degree, first or second class Honours) and have ordinarily at least two to four years' experience in the field of education, depending on the strand selected.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	One year full-time. Two years part-time. Three years part-time.
Programme Structure:	The total credit weighting for the programme is 90 ECTS. The taught modules together carry 60 credits. Each student will complete a compulsory module in Academic Literacy and Research Methods (5 credits). Each strand contains four themed modules (with 10 credits allocated for one module and 15 credits for the remaining three). The remaining 30 credits are allocated to the research component in the form of the dissertation module.
Assessment and Progression:	Progression from the Special Purpose Certificate in Teaching, Learning & Assessment for Academic Practice to the Higher Education strand of the M.Ed. is permitted whereby the 15 credits of the Special Purpose Certificate are accepted in lieu of one of two predetermined modules on the Higher Education strand: Curriculum, Assessment & Supervision (ET7134) or; Reflecting on Practice in Learning and Teaching (ET7074). Each student will complete written (or equivalent) assignment(s) of between 3,000-5,000 words per taught module, which are graded as distinction, pass, or fail. A student is permitted to resubmit the coursework for failed modules amounting to no more than 30 ECTS over the duration of the programme. A re-submission is capped at the pass grade. Compensation between modules is not permitted. The dissertation module consists of a) a 20,000 word dissertation graded on the basis of distinction, pass, or fail or b) a dissertation in the form of two research papers of 8,000 words each, graded on the basis of distinction, pass, or fail. Mode B may be taken only by students who hold a doctoral qualification on commencing the dissertation year. Students who elect to submit a dissertation in the form of two research papers must achieve a distinction in both papers to be eligible for award of a distinction grade overall. A student who achieves a distinction in the dissertation and a distinction in modules amounting to at least half of the required credit for the taught element of the course may be awarded the M.Ed. with Distinction.
	A Distinction cannot be awarded if a candidate has failed any credit during the period of study. Those students who, for any reason, do not wish to continue to the dissertation module on the M.Ed. programme, or who fail the dissertation module, may, after satisfactorily completing all the taught modules, apply to exit with a P.Grad.Dip. A student who achieves a distinctions in modules amounting to at least half of the required credit for the taught element of the course may be awarded the P.Grad.Dip. in Educational Studies with Distinction. A Distinction cannot be awarded if a candidate has failed any credit during the period of study.

Programme:	Professional Master of Education (Post Primary)
School:	Education
Award and Exit Award:	P.M.E. P.Grad.Dip. in Educational Studies
Admission Regulations:	Candidates for admission to the programme leading to the Professional Master of Education award must normally hold a 2.1 Honours Bachelor degree that includes, as a substantial component, at least one subject from the list of those offered by the School of Education: Business Studies (including Accounting and Economics), English, Geography, History, Irish, Mathematics (including Applied Mathematics), Modern Languages (Including French, Italian, German, Spanish and other languages), Music, and Science (Including Biology, Chemistry and Physics). Not all subjects may be offered each year. Applicants should be aware of specific entry criteria to the teaching profession which are set and regulated by the DES in association with the Teaching Council of Ireland, and which must be satisfied independently of the School of Education's entry requirements. Therefore, as part of the application process, applicants are required to complete a self-declaration form regarding their eligibility to teach specific curricular subjects.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	The programme is offered on a two-year full-time basis. Face-to-face with online elements in 4 modules.
Programme Structure:	The programme carries 120 ECTS credits. The programme consists of College-based lectures consisting of modules on the foundation disciplines of education, teaching pedagogies and two school placement modules, with the first taking place during both semesters in year one, while the second involves a period of block placement in semester one of year two.
	School placement: By arrangement with the school authorities concerned, candidate teachers undertake school placement in schools in the greater Dublin area, such school placement being supervised by the staff of the School of Education under the direction of the Head of School and in association with a number of partnership schools. In accordance with the requirements of the University and the Teaching Council with regard to school placement, students should be present in school for a series of incremental professional placements involving both day release and block placement, throughout the school year, and should obtain not less than the equivalent of 200 direct contact teaching hours during their school placement.
Assessment and Progression:	Students are evaluated by coursework, by assessment and supervision within School Placement and by written examinations. Students must complete all the exercises prescribed. If a student's performance is judged unsatisfactory, the Court of Examiners may grant one supplemental examination only, which shall normally be taken in the same calendar year. Where the student's school placement performance is considered unsatisfactory, the Court of Examiners in exceptional circumstances may allow a further period of school placement, which should be completed satisfactorily within the following two academic years, subject to the payment of the appropriate fee. Students must successfully pass all the requirements of the first year of the programme to progress to the second year. Students are required to pass their dissertation. Students on the course who do not achieve a pass mark in the dissertation, will be deemed to have failed the course, and may apply to the School for permission to repeat the course. Alternatively, such students may be awarded an associated Postgraduate Diploma in Educational Studies where they have accumulated at least 60 credits over the two-year course. The Professional Master in Education is awarded with first class honours, second class (first division) honours, second class (second division) honours and third-class honours. The final mark is calculated as a credit-weighted average of the mark awarded in each module and the pass mark on the course is at least 40%. To secure a Professional Master in Education with first class honours, students must achieve a final credit weighted average mark for the course of at least 70%, which must include at least 70% or higher in the School Placement component. The Professional Master in Education with Distinction may be awarded to candidates who have not failed an assignment or examination and have obtained an overall average of 70% or higher across all assignments and examinations, including a mark of 70% or higher in the School Placement component an

	In order to qualify for the award of Postgraduate Certificate with Distinction, students must not during the period of study have failed during the period of study any assessment component in the modules counted towards the Postgraduate Certificate award and must, at a minimum, achieve at least 68% in the overall credit-weighted average mark and achieve a minimum mark of 70% in the associated individual modules which together amount to at least half of the required credits for the award of the Postgraduate Certificate.
	In order to qualify for the award of Postgraduate Diploma with Distinction, students must not have failed any assessment component in the Year 1 taught modules during the period of study and must, as a minimum, achieve at least 68% in the overall credit-weighted average mark and achieve a minimum mark of 70% in individual Year 1 taught modules which together amount to at least half of the required credits for the award of the Postgraduate Diploma.
	In order to qualify for the award of Masters with Distinction, students must not have not failed any assessment component during the period of study and must, at a minimum, achieve a mark of at least 70% in the dissertation module and a mark of a least 70% in the Year 2 taught Irish Language Proficiency module (Module 7), and achieve at least 68% in the unrounded overall average mark for the Year 1 taught modules, where modules amounting to at least half of the credits attaching to the Year 1 taught modules (30 credits) each have a mark of at least 70%.
	Students on the Masters course who do not achieve a pass mark in the 30 ECTS dissertation module will be deemed to have failed the Masters course and may apply to the School of Education for permission to repeat it. Alternatively, such students may be awarded an associated exit Postgraduate Diploma. Students on the Masters course who achieve a pass mark in the dissertation module, but who fail to achieve a pass mark in the Year 2 taught module Irish Language Proficiency (Module 7), will be deemed to have failed the Masters course, but may apply to the School for permission to repeat the failed Irish Language Proficiency module so long as Module 7 is still offered in the following year. Alternatively, such students may be awarded an associated exit Postgraduate Diploma.
	However, students who pass at least three taught modules in Year 1 to the value of 30 credits, but fewer than 60 credits, may exit with a Postgraduate Certificate award. Students who pass all Year 1 taught modules to the value of 60 credits, may exit with a Postgraduate Diploma award if they are not progressing to Year 2, or have not successfully completed Year 2. Students who exit the course with a Postgraduate Diploma award do not qualify for a parallel award of a Postgraduate Certificate. Students who leave the course with an exit award of Postgraduate Certificate or Postgraduate Diploma as a result of failing remaining modules may not return to the Masters course at a later date to complete it.
	Students failing to pass individual taught modules may present for supplemental examination or resubmit required work, up to a maximum of 3 failed taught modules across the programme. The maximum number of failed modules may include 2 failed taught modules in Year 1 and 1 failed taught module in Year 2. Students who, following the supplemental examination or re-assessment, have failed to pass the requisite taught modules in Year 1 will be deemed to have failed the course, and may apply to the School of Education for permission to repeat it so long as the relevant components of the course are still offered in the following year.
	To qualify for the Masters award, students must, as a minimum: a) achieve an overall pass mark which is normally the credit-weighted average mark for all taught modules taken; and b) achieve a pass mark in all modules designated as non-compensatable; and c) achieve a pass mark in the dissertation module; and d) achieve a pass mark in the Irish Language Proficiency module (Module 7).
Assessment and Progression:	The final mark is based on a credit-weighted average of the mark awarded in each module. There is no compensation permitted across modules or across assessment components within modules. A Pass mark on this course is 50% and above. Students must obtain credit for each academic year by satisfactory completion of all course requirements. In Year 1, students must pass 60 taught credits, comprising 6 x 10 ECTS modules. In Year 2, students must pass 40 credits, including 30 research credits and 10 taught credits in the Irish Language Proficiency module (Module 7).
Programme Structure:	100 ECTS comprising 6 taught modules in Year 1, one taught module in Year 2 and a 30 ECTS dissertation module in Year 2. The Year 1 taught modules are: Immersion education and bilingualism (10 ECTS); Best practice in Gaeltacht and Irish-medium settings (10 ECTS); Teaching and learning in Irish-medium & Gaeltacht school contexts (10ECTS); Planning and assessment practice (10 ECTS); Leadership and management (10 ECTS); Irish immersion and Gaeltacht teachers as researchers (10 ECTS). Mode of Delivery and Duration:	One year full-time. Two years part-time.
Programme Structure:	The programme carries 90 ECTS. Research Skills for Postgraduate English (10ECTS) - this is a pass/fail module; Perspectives and Case-studies in Children's Literature (20 ECTS) Mapping the Literary Field (10 ECTS); 2 x 10 credit option modules (20 ECTS); Dissertation (30 ECTS). The exit Postgraduate Diploma in Children's Literature carries 60 credits of taught modules.
Assessment and Progression:	Performance in each module is assessed by various forms of written coursework (such as essays, commentary and transcription exercises, and annotated bibliographies), and may also include digital exercises and oral presentations. Additionally, all students aiming for the M.Phil. degree are assessed by dissertation.
	Students should submit and pass all programme work for taught modules before being allowed to proceed to the dissertation stage. Part-time students must pass taught modules carrying 40 ECTS in their first year to progress to the second year and pass taught modules carrying 20 ECTS in their second year, as well as the dissertation (30ECTS).
	All modules on this programme are non-compensatable. The pass mark in all modules is 40%, except for 'Research Skills for Postgraduate English' which is a pass/fail module. A mark of 40% or above in the dissertation is required for the award of the M.Phil.
	All modules are weighted according to their credit values, apart from 'Research Skills for Postgraduate English'. The overall mark for the course is the credit-weighted average of the marks awarded for each module, apart from 'Research Skills for Postgraduate English'. Students failing to pass may, with the Director's approval, re-submit work within the duration of the programme, if possible.
	The M.Phil. with Distinction may be awarded to students who achieve a mark of 70% or higher on their dissertation and an unrounded average overall mark of at least 68% for the taught programme work where modules amounting to at least 30 credits have a mark of at least 70%. Students who fail one or more programme components will not be eligible for a distinction. The Research Methods module is not factored into calculations for the awarding of a Distinction.
	A student who successfully completes all other requirements but does not proceed to the dissertation stage, or fails to achieve the required mark of 40% in the dissertation, will be recommended for the exit award of Postgraduate Diploma (P.Grad.Dip.). The Postgraduate Diploma with Distinction may be awarded to students who achieve at least 68% in the overall credit-weighted average mark for the taught modules where modules amounting to at least 30 credits have a mark of 70% or above. Where the Postgraduate Diploma is awarded as a result of a failure of the dissertation, it is not possible for the candidate to return with the Postgraduate Diploma award to work towards a M.Phil. degree and rescind the Diploma.

SCHOOL OF LANGUAGES, LITERATURES AND CULTURAL STUDIES

Programme:	Applied Intercultural Communications
School:	Languages, Literatures and Cultural Studies
Award:	MPhil (generic) and Postgraduate Diploma in Applied Intercultural Communications (exit award)
Admission Regulations:	The entry requirement for the course is at graduate level. Applicants should have a primary degree with a minimum of 2:1 level degree. Relevant work experience will also be considered. Applications for admission to the course will be made online. Short-listed applicants may be invited for interview.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	1-year full-time (or 1-year part-time MPhil Top up to follow completion of Postgraduate Diploma) Blended
Programme Structure:	Students will be required to complete taught modules to the tune of 60 ECTS and 30 ECTS worth of research dissertation.
Assessment and Progression:	The final mark is based on a credit-weighted average of the mark awarded in each module. A Pass mark on this course is 40% and above. Students must obtain credit for each academic year of the course by satisfactory completion of all course requirements. To qualify for the relevant postgraduate award, students must, as a minimum, achieve an overall pass mark which is the credit-weighted average mark for all taught modules taken, and achieve a pass mark in all modules. Module marks are considered by the court of examiners at the end of each year, with the participation of the external examiner, and results will be passed on to the Academic Registry and inputted to SITS. Final results are determined at the final Court of Examiners' meeting at the end of the academic year of the course with the participation of the external examiner. Students who have failed to pass the requisite taught modules as provided for in the course regulations above will be deemed to have failed the course and may apply to the School for permission to repeat it. There is no compensation between and within modules and every module must be passed independently. Students will be allowed to repeat up to two failed assessment components for this award excluding group work and the dissertation. Requirements for passing the course overall To be eligible for the award of the MPhil, students must pass all taught modules to the value of 60 ECTS, and must submit a research project (dissertation) by the prescribed date, and also achieve at least a pass mark of 40% in the research project (dissertation). The Dissertation module: this must be passed in order for the student to be considered for a Masters degree award. Compensation is not possible for the dissertation, neither can the dissertation be used to compensate for any of the taught modules. Alternative exit Students who fail the Dissertation module but have passed all the other modules totalling 60 ECTS are eligible for consideration for an exit Postgraduate Diploma only. Programme:	Applied Intercultural Communications
Award and Exit Award:	Postgraduate Diploma in Applied Intercultural Communications
Admission Regulations:	The entry requirement for the course is at graduate level. Applicants should have a primary degree with a minimum of 2:1 level degree. Relevant work experience will also be considered. Applications for admission to the course will be made online. Short-listed applicants may be invited for interview.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	1-year full-time (or 1-year part-time Top up to follow completion of postgraduate certificate) Blended
Programme Structure:	Students will be required to complete taught modules to the tune of 60 ECTS (or 30 ECTS if progressing from the completed postgraduate certificate)
Assessment and Progression:	The final mark is based on a credit-weighted average of the mark awarded in each module. A Pass mark on this course is 40% and above. Students must obtain credit for each academic year of the course by satisfactory completion of all course requirements. To qualify for the relevant postgraduate award, students must, as a minimum, achieve an overall pass mark which is the credit-weighted average mark for all taught modules taken, and achieve a pass mark in all modules. Module marks are considered by the court of examiners at the end of each year, with the participation of the external examiner, and results will be passed on to the Academic Registry and inputted to SITS. Final results are determined at the final Court of Examiners' meeting at the end of the academic year of the course with the participation of the external examiner. Students who have failed to pass the requisite taught modules as provided for in the course regulations above will be deemed to have failed the course and may apply to the School for permission to repeat it. There is no compensation between and within modules and every module must be passed independently. Students will be allowed to repeat up to two failed assessment components for this award excluding group work. Requirements for passing the course overall Postgraduate Diploma students are required to pass the assessments in all taught modules amounting to 60 ECTS in order to complete the course with Postgraduate Diploma award. The final mark is based on a credit-weighted average of the mark awarded in each module. Distinction Postgraduate Diploma: Students who have achieved an average of at least 70% of the available marks in all taught modules without having failed any assessment component will be eligible for consideration for the award of Postgraduate Diploma with Distinction. Progression to Masters Top-up Students who have completed a postgraduate diploma may choose to progress to a Masters Top up year. Effectively, this would be equivalent to doing the MPhil part-time

Programme:	Comparative Literature
School:	School of Languages, Literatures and Cultural Studies
Award and Exit Award:	M.Phil. (generic) and Postgraduate Diploma in Comparative Literature (exit award)
Admission Regulations:	A good Honours Bachelor degree (at least upper-second class Honours standard), or an equivalent qualification, in a relevant area. Candidates also need two academic references and IELTS results of at least 6.5 overall and no less than 6.5 in each category.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	Classroom delivery One year full-time
Programme Structure:	The programme consists of two core modules of 20 ECTS each taken by all students, two options (10 ECTS each) from the range offered in a given year, and a dissertation (30 ECTS) of 17-20,000 words whose theme and approach should be comparative. Students may be permitted to avail of 10-credit units offered on other M.Phil. programmes in the School. There is also a research seminar.
Assessment and Progression:	Candidates are assessed throughout the programme by coursework and dissertation. In the calculation of the overall mark for the programme, all modules are weighted according to their ECTS credit values. The pass mark for all modules, including the dissertation, is 40%. In order to be awarded the degree of M.Phil. in Comparative Literature candidates must satisfy the Court of Examiners by obtaining i. an overall average mark of at least 40% and, ii. a mark of 40% or above in the dissertation, and iii. a mark of 40% or above in individual modules amounting to 60 credits. Students may compensate in up to 10 credits provided that in addition to (i) — (ii) above, they have an overall average mark of at least 40%, have passed outright modules amounting to 50 credits and have a minimum mark of 30% in the failed module(s). M.Phil. with Distinction: A Distinction may be awarded if a candidate has achieved a final overall average mark of 70% or over for the programme, has passed all elements, and has been awarded a mark of 70% or over for the dissertation. A distinction cannot be awarded if a candidate has failed any credit during the programme. Postgraduate Diploma exit award: Students who have passed the core and options modules outright, or by compensation as outlined above, but who do not choose to complete, or who fail, the Dissertation, may be awarded the Postgraduate Diploma exit award with Distinction: Students who have achieved an average of at least 70% of the available marks in all taught modules without having failed any assessment component will be eligible for consideration for the award of Postgraduate Diploma with Distinction:

Award and Exit Award:	M.Phil. (generic) and Postgraduate Diploma in Literary Translation (exit award)
Admission Regulations:	An upper second-class Honours degree (or international equivalent), and have demonstrable language competence in at least two languages, including English.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	One year full-time.
Programme Structure:	The programme has 90 ECTS spread across four components: a) four core modules (5 ECTS each), b) a dissertation (30 ECTS)*, c) a portfolio (20 ECTS), d) either two optional modules (10 ECTS each) or one optional module (of 20 ECTS). * The Dissertation requires submission of a piece of independent work of 15,000 to 20,000 words. The work on the dissertation is supported with the 'Research Seminar', a compulsory, year-long seminar series.  The Portfolio requires submission of a collection of eight to ten pieces of translated work (up to 10,000 words of source material [or equivalent in the case of languages using non-alphabetic writing systems)]. Each translation is accompanied by a 'brief', a short description of the text, the strategy employed in translating it, and the student's critical reflections on the process and product. The compulsory, year-long 'Translation Portfolio' seminars guide students through the process of producing their portfolios.
Assessment and Progression:	Core and optional modules are assessed by written assignments. All components are weighted according to their ECTS credit values. The pass mark for each component is 40%. M.Phil.: In order to qualify for the award of M.Phil., students must obtain an overall mark of at least 40%, and a mark of at least 40% in the dissertation and a mark of at least 40% in the portfolio and an aggregate mark of at least 40% in ocre and optional modules (40 credits). Admission Regulations:	Applicants should have a 2.1 degree or equivalent. They are required to submit a writing sample together with the application. No previous knowledge of the area is required. Applicants may be invited to an online interview.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	The course is entirely online, and does not constitute grounds for an Irish visa. The course can be taken: 1 year full-time 2 year part-time via admission to the Certificate in the first instance. This route is subject to satisfactory progress.
Programme Structure:	The programme comprises 60 ECTS credits, distributed as follows: 4 core (i.e. compulsory) modules (M1-M4, 40 credits) + 2 optional modules (chosen from M5-M8, 20 credits).

Assessment and Progression:	The pass mark is 40%.
	Modules M4-M7 are assessed solely by a 4000-word written essay. Arabic (M8) is assessed by a mixture of written and oral work. M1 is assessed by a blended suite of methods, including a 2000-word essay, an exercise such as a learning journal, a 15-minute oral presentation, and a 1500-word primary source study. M2 and M3 are assessed by a blended suite of methods, including a 2000-word essay, a 15-minute oral presentation, and a 1500-word primary source study.
	The final mark is based on a credit-weighted average of the mark awarded in each module. Students are required to pass all six modules.
	Students who have achieved an average of at least 70% of the available marks in all taught modules will be eligible for consideration for the award of Postgraduate Diploma with Distinction. Postgraduate Diploma with Distinction cannot be awarded if a candidate has failed any module during the period of study.

Programme Structure:	The programme comprises 90 ECTS credits, distributed as follows: 4 core (i.e. compulsory) modules (40 credits) 2 optional modules (20 credits) Research Project (30 credits)
Assessment and Progression:	The pass mark is 40%. Of the taught modules (M1-M8), M4-M7 are assessed solely by a 4000-word written essay. Arabic (M8) is assessed by a mixture of written and oral work. M1 is assessed by a blended suite of methods, including a 2000-word essay, an exercise such as a learning journal, a 15-minute oral presentation, and a 1500-word primary source study. M2 and M3 are assessed by a blended suite of methods, including a 2000-word essay, a 15-minute oral presentation, and a 1500-word primary source study. The overall mark for the course is the weighted average of the mark awarded for each module. Each module must be passed independently (except where compensation applies). One failed taught module (10 ECTS) may, at the discretion of the exam board, be compensated for by a mark in another taught module (10 ECTS). Students who fail more than one module (10 ECTS) may, at the discretion of the exam board, be offered to undertake supplemental assignments as specified by the exam board. The mark for the module will then be the mark for the supplemental assignment, which will normally be capped at the pass mark for the module. To be eligible for the award of the M.Phil., students must pass all six taught modules to the value of 60 ECTs (after the mechanisms for compensation and supplementation have been implemented, see below), and must submit a research project in the area of Middle Eastern and/or North African Studies by the prescribed date, and also achieve at least a pass mark of 40% in the research project. The research project module must be passed in order for the student to be considered for a Masters degree award.
	Compensation is not possible for the research project, neither can the research project, neither can the research project be used to compensate for any of the taught modules.

	Students who fail the research project module but have passed all the other modules totalling 60 ECTs are eligible for consideration for an exit Postgraduate Diploma only. Such students will not be permitted at a later stage to return to the course to retake the M.Phil. research project, but they may apply to repeat the whole course. Students who achieve an overall average mark of 70% or greater for their research project and at least 70% overall are eligible for the award of the M.Phil. degree with distinction. A distinction cannot be awarded if a candidate has failed any module during the period of study.

SCHOOL OF LAW

Programme:	Intellectual Property and Information Technology Law
School:	Law
Award and Exit Award:	LL.M. Exit Award: Postgraduate Diploma in Law
Admission Regulations:	Applications are invited from well-qualified graduates who hold a very good Honours Bachelor degree in law or in a law-based interdisciplinary programme. Applications may also be considered from exceptional graduates in disciplines relevant to the LL.M. degree they are applying for who can convincingly demonstrate that their studies have fully prepared them for the LL.M. Assuming that this basic pre-requisite is in place, thereafter admission to the various LL.M. programmes is at the absolute discretion of the School of Law, which will decide on questions of admission having regard to the wide range of academic criteria, including the quality of the individual application and the objectives of ensuring a diverse LL.M. class of the highest possible calibre.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	One year full-time.
Programme Structure:	Candidates are required to take a total of six taught modules (10 ECTS), three in each semester, and complete a research dissertation (30 ECTS). Dissertations should be of not more than 15,000 words. The research dissertation will count towards 33% of the overall grade.
Assessment and Progression:	The pass mark for all assessments is 40%. In the calculation of overall marks, each module, including the dissertation, is weighted according to its ECTS credit value. In order to obtain the LL.M. degree, a candidate must i) obtain an overall average of at least 40% and ii) achieve a mark of at least 40% in the research dissertation and iii) not have fallen below 40% in more than one 10-credit module and iv) not have fallen below 30% in the failed module unless, in the opinion of the Court of Examiners, his/her performance in the other modules is such as to extenuate his/her failure. a) A student who does not satisfy the criteria set out in i-iv above because of a failure to pass a module or modules in the annual examination session may re-sit the relevant module(s) during the supplemental examination session or at such other time as the Dean of Graduate Studies may direct. In such a situation, the mark awarded to the student resisting a failed module will not exceed 40%. b) A student who, following the supplemental examination session has failed to pass sufficient modules to be awarded the LL.M degree (as outlined above) or who has failed to achieve 40% or higher in his or her research dissertation may repeat the year on payment of the annual fee and registration. A student who fails to pass sufficient modules to be awarded the LL.M degree following the supplemental session of such a repeat year or whose resubnitted research dissertation fails to achieve a pass mark (40% or higher) shall be excluded from the programme. Masters with Distinction: a distinction may be awarded to a candidate who achieves a mark of at least 70% in the dissertation and a mark of at least 68% in the overall average mark for the taught modules where modules amounting to at least 30 credits have a mark of 70% or above. A distinction may not be awarded if a candidate has failed any credit during the programme. Programme:	Law and Finance
School:	School of Law Trinity Business School
Award and Exit Award:	MSc Exit Award: Postgraduate Diploma in Law and Finance
Admission Regulations:	Applications are invited from well-qualified graduates who hold an undergraduate honours bachelor degree of II.1 grade or higher in Law, Business or Economics. This is the starting point for admissions.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	One-year full-time.
Programme Structure:	The MSc will carry 90 ECTS credits in total; 30 credits for a research dissertation and 60 credits for taught modules, comprising four mandatory modules worth a total of 30 credits, and elective modules worth a total of 30 credits (of which students choose either 10 Finance credits and 20 Law credits or 10 Law credits and 20 Finance credits). Research dissertations should be no more than 12,000 words.
Assessment and Progression:	 (i) To be eligible for the award of the M.Sc. in Law and Finance, students must, within the period of registration, pass a prescribed set of taught modules to the value of 60 ECTS and satisfactorily complete a dissertation on a topic approved by the Programme Director. (ii) The taught modules are typically assessed by a combination of a formal written examination and graded coursework and assignments. The marking scheme for all assessment components in Finance is C50- 01 (pass mark of 50%) and C40-01 (pass mark of 40%) for Law modules. (iii) Students are required to pass a full complement of modules to the value of 90 credits to be eligible for the award of the M.Sc. degree. Students may pass up to 10 ECTS by compensation. For Finance modules a student achieving a grade of 40 to 49 can pass by compensation but must achieve an overall average of 50 in business modules. For Law modules, students who achieve a grade of 30 to 39 can pass by compensation but must achieve an overall average of 40 in Law modules. (iv) Students who fail a taught module, as determined by the interim court of examiners, are required to sit a repeat examination in that module in a supplemental examination period. The mark that a student can achieve in a repeat examination is capped, as specified in the programme handbook, and this mark will constitute the student's final module mark. (v) Students are allowed to sit repeat examinations in not more than 15 ECTS of modules overthe programme of the registration period to remain eligible for the award of the M.Sc. degree. (vi) Students who fail more than 15 ECTS but fewer than 30 ECTS of the taught modules will be allowed to sit repeat examinations for the relevant modules but will, if successful on re-assessment, be eligible for a Postgraduate Diploma only. Such students will not be permitted at a later stage to complete the M.Sc. (vii) Students who fail 30 ECTS or more of taught modules overall, and/or fail more than half of the in any given semester will be required to withdraw from the programme. Similarly, any student who fails a repeat examination will be required to withdraw from the programme.

	(viii) To pass the Dissertation module, students must submit their dissertation by the prescribed date and must obtain a mark of 50%.
	(ix) The final degree mark is based on a credit-weighted average of the marks awarded in each module.
	(x) Students who achieve a final credit-weighted average mark for the programme of at least 70% and a mark of at least 70% for dissertation are eligible for the award of the M.Sc. degree with distinction.
	(xi) Students who have passed all taught modules, carrying 60 credits, in accordance with the programme regulations but who do not wish to complete Dissertation module can opt to exit the Masters programme with a Postgraduate Diploma. To voluntarily avail of this option they must inform the Programme Director in writing within four weeks of the date on which the interim results of the last regular module examinations for the academic year are communicated to students.
	(xii) Students who choose the option to exit with a Postgraduate Diploma and who have achieved an overall credit-weighted average mark of at least 68% and achieved a mark of at least 70% in modules amounting to 30 credits are eligible for the award of the Postgraduate Diploma with Distinction if they have not repeated any examinations that form part of their module results.
	(xiii) Students who fail the dissertation will not be eligible for the award of the M.Sc. but will be eligible for the award of a Postgraduate Diploma if they have passed all taught modules. The Postgraduate Diploma cannot be awarded with Distinction if dissertation has been failed.
	with Distriction it dissertation has been raned.
	For academic appeals purposes, issues to do with Business modules (coded BU) will be dealt with via the Trinity Business chool appeals procedures while Law modules (coded LA) will be dealt with via the School of Law appeals procedures, all
o	ther issues will be dealt with via the School of Law which has the ownership of the programme. An interdisciplinary search topic will be encouraged for dissertation, but the main focus of dissertation must either be law or finance and it will

School:	School of Linguistic, Speech and Communication Sciences
Award and Exit Award:	M.Sc./P.Grad.Dip.
Admission Regulations:	An upper-second class Honours bachelor's degree in clinical Speech and Language Studies or an equivalent recognised professional qualification in Speech and Language Therapy.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	One-year full-time or two-year part-time. Note that some specialist pathways are not available as full-time options. See URL below for details.
Programme Structure:	The M.Sc. carries 90 credits: four modules at 10 credits each (40 credits), one module at 20 credits and the dissertation (max. 15,000 words) module at 30 credits. Specialisations are offered in a variety of areas of clinical practice (dysphagia, voice, augmentative and alternative communication). Details are provided at the URL given below. As part of the Advanced Clinical Skills modules, students are required to complete a minimum of 80 hours' clinical practicum. Students taking the Advanced Clinical Skills: Dysphagia specialisation, who do not have an existing dysphagia qualification must complete additional foundational clinical dysphagia work. This is credited as part of their Advanced
	Clinical Skills: Dysphagia module portfolio. For students taking the part-time programme, taught modules are scheduled in Year 1; the research project and dissertation module are the main focus in Year 2. For students taking the full time programme, taught modules, research project and dissertation are completed over one year. Students on the part-time programme are not permitted to transfer to the full-time M.Sc. programme.
	Transfer between M.Sc. Clinical Speech and Language Studies and the Postgraduate Diploma in Clinical Speech and Language Studies (Dysphagia) is not permitted.
Assessment and Progression:	Students are assessed on the basis of their performance on (i) module assignments, (ii) dissertation, and (iii) clinical portfolio. All modules and the dissertation (max 15,000 words) are weighted according to their ECTS credit value. The clinical portfolio is graded on a pass/fail basis.
	To qualify for the award of the M.Sc. degree students must (i) obtain a mark of 40% or above in each module (ii) obtain a pass grade in the dissertation thereby accumulating 90 credits. There is no compensation between modules. In the event that a student fails an examination component within a module, one further supplementary examination is permitted. Repeated assignments will achieve a maximum of 40% and students are not permitted to repeat more than three assignments in the academic year. Students may be debarred from writing a dissertation by the court of examiners in May if there are concerns about the standards of their work and their capacity to produce a dissertation.
	Students whose dissertation fails to satisfy the examiners, may on the recommendation of the Court of Examiners and on payment of the prescribed fee, be allowed to register for a further year and revise the dissertation.
	The final award is classified as Pass or Pass with Distinction. Masters with Distinction: students may be awarded the M.Sc. with Distinction if they (i) pass all modules (ii) achieve a Distinction in the dissertation (iii) achieve at least 68% in the unrounded overall average mark for the taught modules; and (iv) achieve at least 70% in each of three modules.
	Part-time students must pass each of the required assignments for each module in Year 1 in order to proceed to Year 2.
	Postgraduate Diploma: students who do not perform satisfactorily on all assignments may apply for a Postgraduate Diploma in Clinical Speech and Language Studies, provided that they have passed the required modules amounting to 60 credits. Students whose dissertation fails to satisfy the examiners, or who for personal reasons decide not to write a dissertation, may be awarded a Postgraduate Diploma in Clinical Speech and Language Studies, provided they have passed all modules amounting to 60 credits.
	The School Fitness to Practice Committee is convened as required, at the request of a Head of Discipline. This committee considers matters of concern in relation to professional clinical practice associated with clinical work undertaken as part of the programme.

School:	School of Linguistic, Speech and Communication Sciences
Award and Exit Award:	P.Grad.Dip.
Admission Regulations:	An upper-second class Honours Bachelor degree in Clinical Speech and Language Studies or an equivalent, recognized professional qualification in Speech and Language Therapy.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	One year part-time.
Programme Structure:	The Postgraduate Diploma carries 60 credits: Five modules (all mandatory), four at 10 credits and one at 20 credits.
	As part of the Advanced Clinical Skills: Dysphagia module, students are required to complete a minimum of 80 hours' clinical practicum. Students who do not have an existing recognised dysphagia qualification must complete additional foundation clinical dysphagia coursework. This is credited as part of their Advanced Clinical Skills: Dysphagia module portfolio.
	Students who have registered for this programme are not permitted to transfer to the M.Sc. in Clinical Speech and Language Studies.
Assessment and Progression:	Students are assessed on the basis of their performance in module assignments and clinical portfolio. All modules are weighted according to their ECTS value. The pass mark of 40% applies to all module assignments. The clinical portfolio is graded on a pass/fail basis.
	To qualify for the award of the Postgraduate Diploma, students must obtain an average of at least 40% over all taught modules to accumulate 60 ECTS credits. There is no compensation between or within modules. In the event that a student fails an examination component within a module, one further supplementary examination is permitted. Repeated assignments will achieve a maximum of 40%. Students are not permitted to repeat more than three assignments in the academic year.
	Postgraduate Diploma with Distinction: may be awarded to candidates who (i) pass all modules; (ii) achieve at least 68% in the unrounded aggregate mark for the taught modules; and (iii) achieve at least 70% for each of three modules.

SCHOOL OF PSYCHOLOGY

Programme:	Applied Behaviour Analysis
School:	Psychology
Award and Exit Award:	M.Sc./P.Grad.Dip.
Admission Regulations:	An upper-second class Honours Bachelor degree in psychology or a health-related field.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	Two-years full-time (delivered approximately 1 day per week from September until April)
Programme Structure:	The M.Sc. in ABA is worth 120 ECTS made up of 60 ECTS in Year 1 and 60 ECTS in Year 2 (including a dissertation of 30 ECTS). Students are required to participate in supervised fieldwork external to the course, culminating in a minimum of 100 hours of supervised practice including 5 individual supervised hours, for each year of the programme. Students are required to source this fieldwork independently but are not required to do so before entry to the programme.
Assessment and Progression:	All modules, including the dissertation require a minimum pass level of 50%. Both years are assessed as separate entities. Year 1 carries an assessment weighting of 100% based on all of its modules. These marks are not carried forward to Year 2 and the final weighting for Year 2 is based on that year alone. Students who pass all of the modules, and obtain a pass grade in the dissertation, will be eligible for the award of M.Sc. in Applied Behaviour Analysis. One re-submission/re-sit will be offered at an agreed date for a failed piece of assessment. Failure on three assessment components at the first attempt, or a second fail on the same component, will result in the student failing the programme. Masters with Distinction: A distinction shall require at least 70% in the research dissertation, and at least 70% in the final overall average mark for the taught modules amounting to 30 credits (where one module can have an unrounded mark of at least 68% and the remaining taught modules must have an unrounded mark of at least 70% each). In order to achieve a distinction in either year, student must not have failed any module during the programme of assessment. Students who have passed taught modules in Year 1, but who do not achieve a pass mark in the research dissertation in Year 2, will be deemed to have failed Year 2. Such students may apply to repeat the year or may be awarded the associated exit Postgraduate Diploma on the basis of the modules passed in Year 1 (contingent upon completion of Year 1 of the programme at Trinity).
	Postgraduate Diploma: Students may choose to exit with a Postgraduate Diploma in ABA on successful completion of Year 1. A distinction on Year 1 of this programme shall require at least 70% in the aggregate mark for the taught modules amounting to 60 credits, where two modules can have an unrounded mark of at least 68% and the remaining taught modules must have an unrounded mark of at least 70% each.

Programme:	Applied Psychology
School:	Psychology
Award and Exit Award:	M.Sc.
Admission Regulations:	An upper-second class Honours degree in Psychology or its equivalent which confers eligibility for the Graduate Basis for Registration with the Psychological Society of Ireland or the equivalent professional body in the case of overseas applicants.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	One year full-time
Programme Structure:	The MSc. is a 90 credit programme. Two core modules of 10 credits each are compulsory. Students must take four applied optional modules of 10 credits each. Students are required to submit a dissertation of 30 credits.
Assessment and Progression:	Students must pass (Pass mark 50%) all six of the taught modules and pass the dissertation. All modules, including the dissertation, are graded on a pass/distinction/fail basis. Failure in one taught module (up to 10 credits) may be permitted provided the student has passed all other modules and the dissertation. Students who fail to satisfy the Court of Examiners in any module may be permitted at the discretion of the Court to represent themselves on one occasion only for supplementary written work or examination. Where a student is required to take such supplementary work or examination the original grade in the failed module will be replaced by a pass in the case of a successful outcome. Any candidate who fails any piece of supplementary coursework or repeat examination will be required to withdraw from the programme. A candidate who fails more than three modules at the first attempt will be required to withdraw from the programme. Masters with Distinction: will be awarded to students who achieve a grade of distinction in the dissertation and in individual modules amounting to at least 30 credits and pass all remaining modules. A Distinction cannot be awarded if a candidate has failed any credit during the programme.

Programme Director:	Professor Tim Trimble

Programme:	Doctorate in Clinical Psychology
School:	Psychology
Award and Exit Award:	D.Clin.Psych.
Admission Regulations:	Usually at least an upper-second class Honours Bachelor degree in psychology which confers eligibility for graduate membership of the Psychological Society of Ireland. A candidate's demonstrated interest in and suitability for the field of clinical psychology and research competence will also be taken into account.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	Three-years full-time.
Programme Structure:	The programme comprises three major components: (i) research training (ii) academic training and (iii) clinical placements. Students currently spend approximately 50% of programme time on clinical placement; the remainder is divided between the taught academic programme and research activity.
Assessment and Progression:	Assessment will be based on the evaluation of performance on taught academic modules, six clinical placements, reports of clinical activity, a small-scale research project (4,000 words) and a dissertation (max. 40,000 words). All candidates will be required to attend a viva voce examination. All of these assessed elements of the programme must be passed to successfully complete the programme. In the case of all coursework submissions, failure to submit work within programme deadlines will result in the piece of work receiving a failing grade.
	The academic modules will be assessed by written examinations and/or coursework. Clinical competence on each of the six placements will be assessed by the Court of Examiners.
	Pass/Fail Criteria: Students must pass in all assessed elements of the programme. Students who fail to satisfy the Court of Examiners in any assessment may be permitted, at the discretion of the Court of Examiners, to represent themselves on one occasion only for supplementary written examination, supplementary coursework or repeat placement. Where candidates are required to repeat coursework, take a supplementary examination or repeat a placement, the original grade in the failed element shall be replaced by a pass grade in the case of a successful outcome. Any candidate who receives a failing grade for any piece of supplementary coursework, repeat examination or repeat placement will normally be required to withdraw from the programme
	A candidate who fails a total of more than three pieces of assessment at the first attempt will normally be required to withdraw from the programme. In addition, a candidate who fails two placements or two reports of clinical activity at the first attempt will normally be required to withdraw from the programme.
	Failure of any clinical placement on the grounds of serious professional misconduct will result in irreversible and outright failure and the student will be required to withdraw from the programme.
	Candidates who have failed items of assessment but who have not exceeded the threshold for exclusion from the programme may be permitted to progress to the next year of the programme at the discretion of the Court of Examiners. If, however, a candidate is deemed unsuitable across a number of areas, the Court of Examiners may recommend suspension from the programme until satisfactory work is submitted.
	Students must attend the entire academic programme and attend for an 'End of Year Review' with the Programme Director. A candidate with a significant non-attendance record may receive a non-satisfactory rating and may not be permitted to rise with the class.
	Unsuitability for training constitutes sufficient grounds for exclusion of a candidate from training. Unsuitability for training includes a breach of the Psychological Society of Ireland's Code of Ethics and/or an inability or unwillingness to uphold appropriate professional standards of behaviour in terms of constructive relationships with others.
	Unsuitability also involves an inability or unwillingness to use feedback on interpersonal difficulties in a constructive way. A recommendation to terminate registration due to unsuitability for training will only be implemented when extensive and documented attempts by the Programme Team to assist the candidate in overcoming their difficulties have been unsuccessful. At a meeting of the Court of Examiners following identification of concerns, written submissions and any information or views obtained from relevant parties or discussions/interviews with the trainee or supervisor will be considered. The views of the relevant clinical co- ordinators will be routinely sought. The Court of Examiners may also consider evidence from other placements, coursework or general performance on the programme in making any decision. Documentary evidence should be made available to the Examiners in the form of written submissions. At this meeting the Examiners may decide to recommend to the Dean of Graduate Studies that the candidate's registration should be terminated due to unsuitability for training. In some cases of unsuitability, the matter will be dealt with under the provisions of the College Fitness to Practice Procedures.

Programme:	Doctorate in Counselling Psychology
School:	Psychology
Award and Exit Award:	D.Couns.Psych.
Admission Regulations:	A second class Honours Bachelor degree upper-division in Psychology or equivalent e.g., Dip.Psych. with relevant professional experience and eligibility for graduate membership of the Psychological Society of Ireland.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	Three-year full-time.
Programme Structure:	There are 24 modules on the programme consisting of taught modules, placements, research assignments and personal development activities. Students spend time on placement and in College. Each student is required to undertake personal counselling at their own expense. Students meet weekly with a peer learning partner.
Assessment and Progression:	A variety of assessment methods are used depending on a specific module, (e.g., skills evaluation and in-class participation, essays, personal and professional development report, process reports, case studies and student presentations). Practical work is also assessed through presentations, supervisor's evaluation, and placement review. Research is assessed though the research proposal, literature review, and Doctoral dissertation. A pass standard must be achieved on each module. If a student should fail to achieve a pass standard on any component, they must satisfy the examiners by fulfilling such other re-submission/re-sit of the assessment of that component as the Programme Director, and ultimately, the Court of Examiners decides. A student who fails to achieve a pass standard in a total of more than three pieces of assessment in the same year at the first attempt will typically be deemed to have failed the programme and will not be permitted to proceed if they fail to satisfactorily complete the programme requirements or to reach a pass standard in all assessments for the year. Re-submission procedures for assessments (excluding placements) that fail to reach a pass standard: If the re-submitted work does not meet the marking criteria for a pass grade, the student will be considered to have failed the programme. Unsuitability for training (FTP) covers issues that affect a student's ability or suitability to fully participate in the D.Couns.Psych, programme and in related clinical and professional work whereby the requisite competencies and abilities outlined in the programme learning outcomes are not or cannot be pursued and/or demonstrated. It includes a breach of PSI Code of Ethies and/or an inability or unwillingness to uphold appropriate professional standards of behaviour and conduct in all aspects of their professional work and relationships with others (including clients, peers, tutors, supervisors or other professional or staff groups). Such unsuitability may lead to significant problems in tra

Programme:	Global Mental Health
School:	Psychology
Award and Exit Award:	MSc/Postgraduate Diploma in Global Mental Health
Admission Regulations:	Applicants will be expected to have an Honours Bachelor degree at 2.1 or above, in a global health-related and/or psychology-cognate area from a recognised university. Applicants should also have international experience, and a strong interest in global mental health.
	The closing date for applications for entry onto the course will be end of June, each year. Late applications may be considered in the event of places not being filled.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	1-year full-time (2 year part-time)
Programme Structure:	The MSc is a 90 ECTS programme completed across twelve compulsory modules: 10 modules of 5 ECTS, one of 10 ECTS, and a 30 ECTS dissertation (maximum 10,000 words).
Assessment and Progression:	A Pass mark on this course is 50% and above. The final mark is based on a credit-weighted average of the mark awarded in each module. To qualify for the Masters award, students must, as a minimum:
	achieve an overall pass mark which is normally the credit-weighted average mark for all taught modules taken, achieve a pass mark in the research element or dissertation.
	Students failing to pass individual taught modules may present for supplemental examination or re-submit required work. Students who, following the supplemental examination or re-assessment, have failed to pass the requisite taught modules will be deemed to have failed the course, and may apply to the School for permission to repeat the course.
	Students failing to pass a taught module offered in year 1 of the part-time course may re-submit the required work within the first year. Following the reassessment, students who have failed to pass taught modules will be deemed to have failed overall and may apply to repeat the whole course and are liable for fees. Progression to Year 2 of the part-time course: The Court of Examiners, comprising of the external examiner and the course committee, will meet at the end of Year 1 to moderate assignment marks from the students, to record end-of-year results, and to confirm each part-time student's progression from Year 1 to Year 2.
	Students on a Masters course who do not achieve a pass mark in the dissertation will be deemed to have failed the course, and may apply to the School for permission to repeat the course. Alternatively, such students may be awarded an associated Postgraduate Diploma. Permission to repeat the course is not automatically granted. Students who are permitted to re-register for the MSc are liable for full annual fees.
	Where the Postgraduate Diploma is awarded as a result of a fail of the dissertation or unsatisfactory progression to the dissertation, it is not possible for the candidate to return with the Postgraduate Diploma award to work towards a MSc degree and rescind the Postgraduate Diploma.
	In order to qualify for the award of Masters with Distinction students must have not failed any assessment component during the period of study and must as a minimum, achieve a final overall average mark for the course of at least 70% and a mark of at least 70% in the dissertation. In order to qualify for the award of Postgraduate Diploma with Distinction students must not have failed any assessment component during the period of study and must as a minimum achieve an overall credit-weighted average mark of at least 70% across all taught modules.

Programme:	Managing Risk and System Change
School:	Psychology
Award and Exit Award:	M.Sc./P.Grad.Dip./P.Grad.Cert
Admission Regulations:	An Honours degree (minimum II.1 award) or equivalent and/or have at least 3 to 4 years appropriate professional experience. Applicants will also have to be in (or have access to) an employment setting that can accommodate the applied research component of the programme.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	Part-time online programme. P.Grad.Cert: 1 Year P.Grad. Dip: 1 or 2 Years Masters: 1 Year (on completion of P.Grad. Dip)
Programme Structure:	P.Grad. Cert: Four (two 10 ECTS and two 5 ECTS) taught modules in year one (30 ECTS). P.Grad. Dip: Seven (five 10 ECTS and two 5 ECTS) taught modules take place in year one (60 ECTS). Or On completion of P.Grad. Cert progression to P.Grad. Dip: Three (10 ECTS) taught modules over one year (30 ECTS). Masters: (On completion of P.Grad. Dip) the research dissertation (30 ECTS) is undertaken in year 2 or 3.
Assessment and Progression:	The pass mark for all modules is 40% and each module must be passed independently. The overall credit- weighted average mark for taught modules contributes 40% and the dissertation (15,000 words) contributes 60% to the final mark for the Masters.
	Postgraduate Certificate: students must successfully pass all modules in the postgraduate certificate in order to progress to the postgraduate diploma (Top up).
	Postgraduate Diploma: students who have passed taught modules but who do not achieve a pass mark in the research element or dissertation/who choose not to complete the dissertation, may be awarded the Postgraduate Diploma or apply to repeat the year. Students who fail to achieve a minimum of 40% in a written assessment element may resubmit with a deadline for resubmission of one month from the publication of the initial results. Only one resubmission will be allowed, and the maximum mark awarded for the resubmitted assignment is 40%. Students who, following the re- assessment, have failed to pass taught modules will be deemed to have failed overall, and may apply to repeat the programme. Where personal circumstances such as illness or bereavement are affecting a student's ability to submit or attend an assessment element within the deadlines given, the student can apply to the Programme Director on ad misericordiam grounds for an extension.
	All students must successfully pass all modules in year 1 in order to progress into year 2. There is no compensation between modules. All modules must be passed independently at a minimum of 40%. Students who are deemed to have minor corrections on their dissertation are given a period of two months to complete them, from the date the results are issued. Students who are deemed to have major corrections on their dissertation are given a period of six months to complete them, from the date the results are issued.
	To qualify for the award of the Masters degree, students must: (i) achieve an overall pass mark which is the credit-weighted average mark for all taught modules taken, and (ii) achieve a pass mark in all modules designated non-compensable, and (iii) achieve a pass mark in the research element or dissertation, and (iv) pass taught modules amounting to 60 credits. The final mark is based on an overall credit-weighted average mark for taught modules that contributes 40%, and the dissertation element contributes 60% to the final mark.
	Students will have two options for their master's dissertation: Option I Traditional Dissertation Option II Manuscript-Based (Article-Based) Dissertation Masters with Distinction: In order to qualify for the award of Masters with Distinction students must have not failed any component during the period of study and must as a minimum, either (i) achieve a final overall average mark for the course of at least 70% and a mark of at least 70% in the dissertation (option1) and the manuscript is deemed ready for journal submission according to the supervisor and supervisory committe (option II) or (ii) achieve a mark of at least 70% in the dissertation (option 1) and the manuscript is deemed ready for journal submission according to the supervisor and supervisory committee (option II), (iii) in courses in which the modules are assigned grades only, achieve a distinction in the dissertation or research element and distinctions in modules amounting to at least half of the required credit for the taught element of the course.

Programme Structure:	Six compulsory modules of 10 ECTS each. A 30 ECT dissertation (14,000-16,000 words).
Assessment and Progression:	A pass/fail/distinction grade is awarded for all taught modules and the dissertation. To qualify for the award of M.Phil. in Psychoanalytic Studies, the student must achieve a pass grade (50%) in all taught modules, amounting to 60 credits, and in the dissertation. Masters with Distinction: a Distinction will be awarded to candidates who achieve a grade of distinction in the dissertation and achieve a distinction in individual modules amounting to at least 30 credits and pass all remaining modules. Postgraduate Diploma: a student who has passed taught modules amounting to 60 credits but the dissertation is either not presented or is not to the standard, a Postgraduate Diploma may be awarded. Postgraduate Diploma with Distinction: the Postgraduate Diploma may be awarded with Distinction in cases where the student passes all taught modules amounting to 60 credits and achieves a grade of distinction in individual modules amounting to at least 30 credits. A Distinction cannot be awarded if a student has failed any credit during the programme.

Programme:	Psychology (Conversion Programme)
School:	Psychology
Award and Exit Award:	H.Dip.Psych.
Admission Regulations:	An Honours Bachelor degree in any discipline, with at least upper-second class Honours.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	Two year full-time
Programme Structure:	The programme carries 120 ECTs. 60 ECTs are offered each year. The programme consists of foundational modules and advanced modules. Students are required to carry out an empirical investigation of a psychological topic in year 2 (20 ECTS).
Assessment and Progression:	Supplemental examinations will be held in year 1. Students who do not pass all modules at the annual examination, either outright or by compensation, are required to re-take failed elements (coursework and/or examinations) in the failed modules at the supplemental session as required by the Court of Examiners. In order to proceed to the second year, students must achieve an overall credit-weighted average mark of at least 40% and accumulate 60 credits by (a) passing all modules outright or (b) passing by compensation. In order to successfully complete the second year of the programme, thereby qualifying for the award of the Psychology Conversion Programme (H.Dip.Psych.), students must achieve an overall average mark of at least 40% and accumulate 60 credits by (a) passing all modules outright or (b) passing by compensation or (c) passing by aggregation. In both years 1 and 2, students are required to present for re-assessment at the supplemental session when: • they obtain in excess of 10 credits at qualified pass (i.e., marks between 35-39); • any credits at grade fail • they do not obtain an overall pass. Supplemental examinations will be held in Year 2. In the calculation of the overall mark, modules are weighted according to their credit values. Students who do not pass all modules at the annual examination, either outright or by compensation, are required to retake failed elements (coursework and/or examinations) in the failed modules at the supplemental session as required by the Court of Examiners. Successful candidates for the Psychology Conversion Programme are divided into three classes according to merit. They are awarded first class Honours, second class (first division) Honours, second class (second division) Honours and third class Honours. Students who have failed to complete the attendance and coursework requirements of their year by the beginning of the annual examination session for other than duly certified medical reasons will be deemed to have failed the year, and may be permitted

Programme:	Master in Theology (through the Church of Ireland Theological Institute)
School:	School of Religion, Theology and Peace Studies
Award and Exit Award:	M.Th. P. Grad. Dip.
Admission Regulations:	All candidates will be required to successfully complete the Foundation Programme through CITI. In addition, candidates will have either an Honours Bachelor degree in theology or another discipline; or an appropriate qualification and at least 3 years ministerial experience or equivalent professional experience; or otherwise satisfy the Programme Admissions Committee that they have the ability to complete and benefit from the programme. In exceptional circumstances, candidates may be required to submit a further piece of written work for assessment by the School of Religion, Theology and Peace Studies. Candidates will apply in the first instance to the Church of Ireland Theological Institute and applications will be considered by the Course Admissions Committee.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	Three years residential Mode A Four years blended-learning Mode B

Programme Structure:	The M.Th. carries 120 ECTS. Students must take 90 ECTS taught modules and complete a Ministry Portfolio (10 ECTS) and a dissertation (20 ECTS). The Postgraduate Diploma in Theology carries 85 ECTS of taught modules. Students attending via Mode A will undertake 45 ECTS of taught modules in both years 1 and 2, and will undertake a further 30 ECTS of a portfolio and a dissertation in Year 3. Students attending via Mode B will undertake 25 ECTS of taught modules in year 1, 2 and 3. They will take an additional 10 ECTS during one summer period. In Year 4 of registration, students will undertake 35 ECTS of a taught module, a portfolio and a dissertation.
Assessment and Progression:	Each 5-credit module is assessed through coursework of 2,500 words or equivalent. Each 10-credit module is assessed through coursework of 5,000 words. In the third year students are also required to complete a Ministry Portfolio and a Dissertation of 13,000 -15,000 words. A viva voce examination forms part of the assessment for both the Ministry Portfolio and the Dissertation modules. Modules in the distance learning Mode B may contain additional smaller assessments of up to 20% of the overall coursework mark at the discretion of the module leader. The pass mark for each module is 40%. Assessed work which does not attain the pass mark can be re- submitted, but only in modules accounting for up to a maximum of 10 credits in each year, and only prior to the annual Court of Examiners. If, after re-submission, a student fails one 5-credit module, they may compensate for this failure provided that their overall (cumulative) mark for the year is the equivalent of at least 40%, and that the failed module has been marked at least 30-39%. If a student fails to achieve 30% on re-submission of the failed module, that student would have been deemed to have then failed the year. The student would either be excluded from the programme or would need to apply for, and be given permission to, repeat the year in full. Students are required to pass each year before progression to the following year. Not all modules are necessarily offered in each year. Alternative modules may be offered. Students in Mode A must achieve a mark of at least 50% in individual taught modules totalling 45 credits, and at least 40% in the other remaining modules in order to proceed to dissertation. Students in Mode B must achieve a mark of at least 50% in individual modules modules may be awarded to candidates who achieve a mark of 70% or above in the dissertation and an overall unrounded average minimum mark of 68% for the taught modules, where modules amounting to not less than 40 credits have a final mark of 70% or above. Programme:	Applied Social Data Science
School:	Social Sciences and Philosophy
Award and Exit Award:	M.Sc. P.Grad.Dip.
Admission Regulations:	The entry requirement for the course is at graduate level 2.1. Prospective students will be expected to have some quantitative methods training, though this is not a prerequisite. Applications for admission to the course will be made online. Short-listed applicants may be interviewed. The closing date for applications for entry to the course will be the end of June of the year of admission; however, late applications will be considered in the event of places not being filled.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	One year full-time. Face-to-face lectures and tutorials.
Programme Structure:	The MSc and Pg.Grad.Dip courses comprise eight (8) taught modules for a total of 60 ECTS. Computer Programming for Social Scientists (10 ECTS/CORE) Research Design for the Social Sciences (10 ECTS/CORE) Applied Statistical Analysis I (10 ECTS/CORE) Applied Statistical Analysis II (10 ECTS/CORE) Introduction to Machine Learning (5 ECTS/CORE) Social Forecasting (5 ECTS/ELECTIVE) Quantitative Text Analysis for Social Scientists (5 ECTS/ELECTIVE) Experimental Methods for Social Scientists (5 ECTS/ELECTIVE) Spatial Data Analysis (5 ECTS/ELECTIVE) Dissertation (MSc Students Only) (30 ECTS/CORE) The MSc also requires an additional 30 ECTS dissertation component for a total of 90 ECTS.
Assessment and Progression:	The following regulations refer to Part III of the 2022-2023 Calendar for Graduate Studies and Higher Degrees at Trinity College Dublin. (https://www.tcd.ic/calendar/graduate-studies-higher-degrees/complete-part-III.pdf) The final award is based both on a credit-weighted average of the mark awarded in the taught modules for the course and the mark for the dissertation. A Pass mark on this course is 50% and above. Students must obtain credit for the academic year of their course by satisfactory completion of all course requirements. To qualify for the Masters award, students must, as a minimum, (i) Achieve an overall pass mark which is normally the credit-weighted average mark for all taught modules taken, (ii) Achieve a pass mark for Applied Statistics I and Applied Statistics II. Students who pass the required modules but fail to meet the required standard on the dissertation are eligible for the award of a Postgraduate Diploma (exit only). Module marks are considered by the court of examiners at the end of year and results will be passed on to the Academic Registry and inputted to SITS. Final results are determined at the final Court of Examiners' meeting at the end of the academic year with the external examiner input. Students failing to achieve a credit-weighted average of 50% will be required to sit supplemental examinations for any module that they have failed. Students must sit supplemental examination, have failed to meet the passing requirements specified in (4) will be deemed to have failed the course, and may apply to the School for permission to repeat the whole course. The Dissertation module must be passed in order for the student to be considered for a Masters degree award. Compensation is not possible for the dissertation, neither can the dissertation be used to compensate for any of the taught modules. To qualify for the award of MSe with Distinction, students must not have failed any module during the period of study and must as a minimum achieve an overall credit-weighted average ma

	Supplementals: Students who fail to achieve an overall pass mark will be allowed to take supplemental assessments for each of the failed modules. The Supplemental examination for each failed module will account for 100% of the supplemental module mark. Supplemental marks will be capped at the pass mark. Candidates who are unsuccessful at the supplementals for taught modules will not be permitted to repeat the year but may apply to the School to repeat the course. Students who have passed at the annual session are not permitted to present at the supplemental session to improve their performance.

Award and Exit Award:	M.Sc. P.Grad.Dip.
Admission Regulations:	Candidates should normally have achieved an upper second class Honours degree (2.1) or equivalent, preferably with a social sciences component and excellent academic references.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	One year full-time.
Programme Structure:	The M.Sc. carries 90 ECTS. Candidates take 60 ECTS taught modules and complete a research dissertation (30 ECTS).
Assessment and Progression:	The pass mark is 40%. Students who achieve a pass mark on their research proposal (minimum 40%) may proceed to write a dissertation between April and August, subject to having passed all required taught module assessments including resubmissions. In the calculation of the overall mark for the programme, modules are weighted according to their ECTS credit weighting. To qualify for the award of MSc degree, students must a) achieve an overall mark of at least 40% in each of the taught modules amounting to 60 ECTS b) achieve a pass mark in the dissertation c) achieve an overall pass mark of 40%. Students failing to pass taught modules may resubmit required coursework within two weeks from notification of the original mark. Students who, following re-assessment, have failed to pass taught modules will be deemed to have failed overall, and may reapply to repeat the programme. Candidates whose dissertations do not meet the minimum pass standard may have the opportunity to re-submit in accordance with the General Regulations for Taught Graduate Programmes at the administrative hub institution (UCD). Following consultation with the Programme Director, students who fail to pass the dissertation may opt or be advised to exit with a Postgraduate Diploma in Comparative Social Change provided that they have passed modules amounting to 60 credits, and have an overall average mark of at least 40%. M.Sc. candidates who achieve a mark of at least 70% in the dissertation and in the overall average mark for the programme may be awarded the M.Sc. with Distinction. A Distinction cannot be awarded if a student has failed any credit during the programme.

Award and Exit:	M.Sc./ P.Grad. Dip. (exit only)
Admission Regulations:	Admission to the course is competitive. Applicants will be expected to have a level 8 Bachelor's degree at 2.1 or above in a non-economics discipline.
Mode of delivery and duration:	In person. Two year part-time
Course structure:	The course incorporates both taught and practical components. Students undertake a significant independent research project based on original research which is presented in the form of a dissertation. The course comprises 90 credits consisting of 60 credits of taught modules, and 30 credits of dissertation work.
Assessment and Progression:	Each taught module of the programme is assessed by a range of assessment exercises, including continuous assessment-based evaluation schemes (like class participation, individual assignments or group projects). The marking scheme for all assessment components will follow the pattern of having a pass mark of 40%. To pass a taught module, students must satisfactorily complete any associated assessment for that module and obtain an average mark of at least 40% or better across the components of the module. Students can compensate one taught module in a semester if they achieve a grade of at least 30% in the failed module and receive at least 40% across the other taught modules in that semester and at least 50% in one taught module in that semester. The final degree mark is based on a credit-weighted average of the marks awarded in each module. Students who fail a taught module, are required to sit a repeat examination/assessment in that module in a supplemental examination period. Students who, following re-assessment, have failed to pass taught modules at the end of the first year or at the end of the first semester in the second year will be deemed to have failed overall, and may reapply to repeat the course. In Year 1, students must complete and pass assessments for modules totalling 40 ECTS credits. To pass the Dissertation module, students must submit their dissertation by the prescribed date and must obtain an overall weighted average mark of 40% for the Dissertation module. Students who achieve a mark of at least 70% in the dissertation and a mark of at least 70% in the overall final aggregated average mark for the course may be awarded a distinction. A distinction cannot be awarded if a student has failed any module at first attempt during the course. Students who have passed taught modules, but who do not achieve a pass mark in the dissertation, will be deemed to have failed the Masters course. Applications are invited from candidates with a single or joint- Honours Bachelor degree in economics or a business or B.Comm. degree with economics options in their final year, or from mathematics, physics or engineering graduates.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	One year full-time. Two year part-time. Attendance at a preliminary mathematics programme is mandatory for all candidates.
Programme Structure:	The programme carries 90 ECTS. Taught components account for 60 ECTS and the dissertation work carries 30 ECTS.
Assessment and Progression:	The preliminary mathematics and statistics module must be completed by all students. Assessment on the M.Sc. register will be based on coursework, both continual assessment (50%) and examination performance (50%), and the dissertation. The pass mark is 50%.
	In the calculation of the overall mark for the programme, modules are weighted according to their ECTS credit weighting.
	The dissertation is to be approximately 12,000 words and based on original research.
	To qualify for the award of the M.Sc. (Econ.), students must have an overall average mark of at least 50% and achieve a pass mark in the dissertation and in each module.
	Students who achieve an overall average mark of 70% or above both for the programme overall and in the dissertation component will be awarded a Distinction.
	Students who fail the dissertation, but achieve a passing grade in all modules, will not be awarded the M.Sc. but will be eligible for the award of Postgraduate Diploma in Economics.
	Part-time students must achieve an overall average of 50% in each module completed in year one in order to progress to year two of the programme.

Programme:	Philosophy
School:	Social Sciences and Philosophy
Award and Exit Award:	M.Phil. P.Grad.Dip.
Admission Regulations:	Candidates will be in possession of a 2.1 degree or equivalent in philosophy. Applicants with a background in relevant and related studies will also be considered (for example politics, psychology, sociology, religious studies – programmes which contain a significant philosophical component)
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	One year full-time.
Programme Structure:	The M.Phil. carries 90 ECTS. Candidates take 60 ECTS taught modules and complete a research dissertation (30 ECTS).
Assessment and Progression:	The pass mark for all submitted and examined work is 40%. There is no compensation between modules and within modules where there is more than one assignment component. A failed essay can be re-submitted once within a month after the date of result publication. To qualify for the award of the Master's degree, students must achieve an overall pass mark which is the credit-weighted average mark for all taught modules taken, and achieve a pass mark in all modules, and achieve a pass mark in the research dissertation, and pass taught modules amounting to 60credits. Students failing to pass taught modules may re-submit required work within the duration of the programme as provided for in the programme regulations. Students who, following the re-assessment, have failed to pass taught modules will be deemed to have failed overall, and may apply to repeat the programme. Students who have passed taught modules, but who do not achieve a pass mark in the research dissertation, will be deemed to have failed overall. Such students may apply to repeat the year or may be awarded the associated Postgraduate Diploma. Students who have passed taught modules according to the above, but who do not choose to complete the dissertation, may be awarded the associated Postgraduate Diploma. Students can qualify for the award of Masters with Distinction in line with Calendar Part Ill regulations. A distinction shall require at least 70% in the research dissertation and at least 70% in the final aggregated mark of the taught modules. The final mark is based on a credit-weighted average of the mark awarded in each module.

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK AND SOCIAL POLICY

Programme:	Alcohol and Drug Interventions (There is no intake in 2023/24)
School:	Social Work and Social Policy
Award and Exit Award:	M.Sc. P.Grad.Dip
Admission Regulations:	A recognised professional qualification in either health or social care or another human service field (whether or not this qualification is linked to a primary degree), or a non-professional Honours Bachelor degree of at least 2.1 standard, and, At least two years' experience of working directly with problem drinkers or drug users in any type of health or social service setting. Students will be required to undergo Garda Vetting as this is normally required by placement and employing agencies.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	Two years part-time.
Programme Structure:	The M.Sc. in Alcohol and Drug Interventions carries 90 ECTS credits (Year 1 – 60 credits; Year 2 – 30 credits). Year 1 of this programme consists of six modules and Fieldwork Practice Placements must amount to the equivalent of 400 hours either during the academic year or in block during the summer at the end of Year 1. During year 2 candidates must produce a research dissertation of 18,000-20,000 words.
Assessment and Progression:	Throughout the programme students will be assessed by coursework, including five written assignments, a presentation, a Reflective Log and a Practice Placement (Year 1) and a research proposal and dissertation (Year 2). To complete Year 1 successfully and proceed to Year 2, each candidate must satisfy the examiners by achieving a pass mark (50%) on all written assignments and a Pass grade separately on the Practice Placement and Reflective Log. Students who fail to reach a pass mark on any given assignment, including the Reflective Log, will be allowed to resubmit it once by an appointed date but such re-submitted work will only be marked up to 50%. A Placement Report detailing the work of the student will be completed by the fieldwork or workplace supervisor, following meeting and discussion with the College-based supervisor, that is, the Programme Director or his/her representative. Following the submission of the Reflective Log and the Practice Teacher's Placement Report, a Placement Review Committee consisting of the Programme Director, one Module Co-ordinator and one representative of the agencies offering placements will read the Placement Report, read and mark the Reflective Log as Pass/Fail and determine whether or not the student's overall performance on placement has been satisfactory, i.e. a Pass. Students who fail their fieldwork/work-based placement but whose performance is otherwise satisfactory and at the discretion of the Court of Examiners, be permitted to do another placement once by an appointed date. Students who successfully complete Year 1 but who do not wish to proceed to Year 2 may be offered the option to exit and will be awarded the Postgraduate Diploma in Alcohol and Drug Interventions. The award of Postgraduate Diploma in Alcohol and Drug Interventions with Distinction will be made to any student who wishes to exit and who achieves a mark of 70% or higher in all of the five written assignments and a Pass in the Reflective Log and their Practice Placement without failing any assig

TRINITY BUSINESS SCHOOL

Programme:	Accounting
School:	Trinity Business School
Award and Exit Award:	P.Grad.Dip
Admission Regulations:	An undergraduate Honours degree at 2.1 or above in a non-accounting discipline is required. Applicants who cannot meet this requirement may be accepted on the basis of relevant professional experience. International students are required to hold a qualification equivalent to an Irish or UK Honours bachelor's degree (NQAI level 8).
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	One year full-time.
Programme Structure:	The P.Grad.Dip Accounting carries 60 ECTS. The programme incorporates both taught and practical components.
Assessment and Progression:	To be eligible for the award of Postgraduate Diploma in Accounting, students must, within the period of registration, pass a prescribed set of core taught modules. These modules are assessed by a combination of formal written examinations and graded coursework and/or assignments. The mark scheme for assessment components will be C50-01 (pass mark of 50%) and modules will be reassessed at a supplemental examination period by examination only (100%). Each module is worth 5 credits. Students are required to pass a full-complement of modules to the value of 60 credits to be eligible for the award of Postgraduate Diploma in Accounting. To pass a module, students must obtain an overall average mark of 50% or better for each module. Students who fail a module will need to sit a repeat examination. The grade that a student can achieve in a repeat examination is capped, as specified in the programme handbook. Students who fail six or more modules overall, and/or fail more than half of the modules attempted in any given semester will be required to withdraw from the programme. Similarly, any student who fails a repeat examination will be required to withdraw from the programme. As part of the Court of Examiners the external examiner monitors assessment processes and moderates all module marks. Those who achieve a final overall average mark for the programme of at least 70% are eligible for the award of Postgraduate Diploma in Accounting with Distinction.

Programme:	Business Analytics
School:	Trinity Business School
Award and Exit Award:	M.Sc. P.Grad.Dip
Admission Regulations:	An undergraduate Honours Bachelor degree (2.1 grade or higher in a numerate discipline). Work experience in any management function is not required but is useful. Candidates with non-numerate undergraduate degree will be considered only if they possess at least 2 years work experience in business analytics or related field. A GMAT/GRE result is not required but is useful.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	One year full-time
Programme Structure:	The course incorporates both taught and practical components. Students undertake a significant independent research project based on original research or reflecting experiential learning which is presented in the form of a dissertation or an in-company project. The course comprises 90 credits consisting of 60 credits of taught modules, and 30 credits of dissertation work or incompany project.
Assessment and Progression:	Each taught module of the programme is assessed by a range of assessment exercises, including continuous assessment based evaluation schemes (like class participation, individual assignments or group projects). The marking scheme for all assessment components will follow the pattern of having pass mark of 50%. To remain eligible for an M.Sc. award, students must pass all core modules without compensation. To pass a taught module, students must satisfactorily complete any associated work for that module, and obtain an average mark of at least 50% or better across the components of the module. Students who fail more than three but fewer than six of the taught modules will be allowed to sit repeat examinations for the relevant modules but will, if successful on re-assessment, be eligible for a Postgraduate Diploma only. Such students will not be permitted at a later stage to complete the M.Sc. Students who fail six or more taught modules overall, and/or fail more than half of the modules attempted in any given term will be required to withdraw from the programme. Similarly, any student who fails a repeat examination will be required to withdraw from the programme. Students who achieve a final credit-weighted average mark for the programme of at least 70% and a mark of at least 70% for dissertation (or its agreed equivalent of In-company project) are eligible for the award of the M.Sc. degree with distinction. Students who choose the option to exit with a Postgraduate Diploma and who have achieved an overall credit-weighted average mark of at least 68% and achieved a mark of at least 70% in modules amounting to 30 credits are eligible for the award of the Postgraduate Diploma with Distinction if they have not repeated any examinations that form part of their module results. Students who fail dissertation (or its agreed equivalent of a company project) will not be eligible for the award of the M.Sc. but will be eligible for the award of a Postgraduate Diploma provided they have successfully complete 60 ECTS of ta

Programme:	Digital Marketing Strategy
School:	Trinity Business School
Award and Exit Award:	M.Sc. P.Grad.Dip
Admission Regulations:	An undergraduate Honours bachelor degree (2.1 grade or higher) in a discipline other than business or marketing, or a similar grade in a business degree with a low specialisation in marketing, is normally required for entry. A GMAT/GRE result may assist the selection committees.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	One year full-time.
Programme Structure:	Candidates are required to take a total of 60 taught ECTS and complete an independent research project presented in the form of a Dissertation or Company Project worth 30 ECTS.
Assessment and Progression:	To be eligible for the award of the M.Sc. in Digital Marketing Strategy, students must, within the period of registration, pass a prescribed set of taught modules (60 ECTS) and satisfactorily pass a Dissertation/Company Project (30 ECTS) on a topic approved by the Programme Director. The taught modules are typically assessed by a combination of graded coursework and a formal written examination. The pass mark for assessment components is 50% and modules will be reassessed at a supplemental examination period by examination only (100%). Students are required to pass a full-complement of modules to the value of 90 ECTS to be eligible for the award of the M.Sc. degree.
	To pass a taught module, students must satisfactorily complete any associated practical work for that module and obtain an average mark of 50% or better for the module. Students who fail a module will need to sit a repeat examination. The grade that a student can achieve in a repeat examination is capped, as specified in the programme handbook. Students are allowed to re-sit examinations in not more than three taught modules over the programme of the registration period to remain eligible for the award of the M.Sc. degree. Therefore, students who fail more than three but less than six of the taught modules will be allowed to re-sit the relevant examinations but will if ultimately successful on these modules be eligible for a Postgraduate Diploma only. Such students will not be permitted at a later stage to complete the M.Sc. Students who fail six or more taught modules overall, and/or fail more than half of the modules attempted in any given semester will be required to withdraw from the programme. Similarly, any student who fails a repeat examination (subject to compensation rules below) will be required to withdraw from the programme.
	To remain eligible for an MSc, students must pass all core modules without compensation but can compensate in up to 2 taught non-core modules (over the duration of the entire programme) if they achieve a grade of at least 40% in each and receive at least 50% across all 12 taught modules.
	To pass the independent research project, students must submit their Dissertation/Company Project by the prescribed date and must obtain an overall weighted average mark of 50% for all grading elements as specified in the module outline with at least a mark of 50% for the final Dissertation/Company Project submission.
	Students who achieve a final overall average mark for the programme of at least 70% and a mark of at least 70% for Dissertation/Company Project are eligible for the award of the M.Sc. degree with distinction.
	Students who have passed all relevant coursework in accordance with the programme regulations but who do not want to complete the Dissertation/Company Project can opt to exit the Masters programme with a Postgraduate Diploma. To voluntarily avail of this option they must inform the programme Director in writing within four weeks of the date at which the results of the last regular module exams for the academic year are published. Students who choose this option and who have achieved a final overall average mark for the programme of at least 70% are eligible for the award of the Postgraduate Diploma with Distinction if they have not repeated any examinations that form part of their results.
	Students who fail the Dissertation/Company Project will not be eligible for the award of the M.Sc. but may be eligible for the award of a Postgraduate Diploma.
	The Postgraduate Diploma cannot be awarded with Distinction if the Dissertation/Company Project has been failed. Students who fail up to 2 taught modules but achieve a grade of at least 40% on each, and receive at least 50% across all 12 taught modules, can exit with a PG Diploma.

Programme:	Sustainable Development for Business
School:	Business
Award:	Postgraduate Certificate in Sustainable Development for Business
Admission Regulations:	The course targets mid-level executives and above from the private sector, public sector and third sector, who are looking to examine their organisations' impact on society as well as the environment, and gain a firm understanding as to how they can impact real environmental change from within their own organisations.
	The Postgraduate Certificate course will be open to graduates with a degree (or equivalent) with a strong academic record in any discipline from a recognised third level institution. Applicants without a degree are welcome to apply provided they can show a proven managerial track record. All applicants are required to have a minimum of 3 years professional or managerial work experience.
	All applicants should provide two references confirming their eligibility and suitability for the programme, which together with the applicant's academic performance during their undergraduate years and their CV will be used to select the most suitable candidates. Telephone interviews may be conducted to clarify applicants' motivation and interest in the programme.
	Language requirements for students whose first language is not English are IELTS 6.5 or TOEFL IBT 90 for non-native English speakers.
	In case of heavy competition for places or concern regarding a particular applicant's suitability, applicants may be interviewed or asked to submit a written sample for assessment.
Mode of Delivery and Duration:	l year part-time F2F-blended
Course Structure:	The programme consists of four taught modules and one self- led project: 5 ECTS – Sustainability Measurement & Reporting 5 ECTS – Rewiring Your Business Approach 5 ECTS – A Practical Toolkit for Sustainable Business 5 ECTS – Purpose-Driven Systemic Change 10 ECTS – Sustainability in Action Project
Assessment and Progression:	Following the assessment and progression regulations for taught graduate programmes of Trinity, this programme handles assessment and progression as follows: Students will obtain credit for satisfactory attendance/engagement with lectures and online material, by carrying out the required course work, and by successful completion of all assessments and other designated assignments. The final mark awarded for the course is based on a credit- weighted average of the mark awarded in each module. The final mark for each module will be the weighted average mark derived from a combination of the assessment elements. Students must observe all published deadline dates, which are final and have the status of examination dates. Coursework submitted beyond the final deadline will be penalised at 5% of the mark awarded per day past the submission date, up to a maximum of two weeks, after which a mark will not be awarded for the work unless permission by the Course Director has been given for late receipt of work. This penalty for submissions past the final deadline does not apply once the mark has fallen below the pass threshold of 50%. Where personal circumstances such as illness or bereavement are affecting a student's ability to submit or complete an assessment element within the deadlines given, the student can apply to the Course Director on ad misericordiam grounds for an extension. Failure is defined as a module grade of less than 50%. There is no compensation between modules and each module must be passed independently at a minimum of 50%. Students who fail to achieve a minimum of 50% in an assessment element may resubmit with a deadline for resubmission of one month from the publication of the initial results. Only one resubmission will be allowed per assessment element, and the maximum mark awarded for the resubmitted assignment is 50%. A student who fails the overall module but who has not taken the opportunity to resubmit any failed elements will have one opportunity to resubmit failed elements before the
