Module Outline:

The module covers a range of topics in the field of Labour Economics. The central aim of the course is to understand how labour markets work, and how they are affected by institutions and labour market policies.

The module will present key theoretical models and related empirical evidence that shape our understanding of how labour markets work. The focus will be mostly on the micro-level and the lectures will build around the evidence provided by the most recent empirical research in the field. It is envisaged that the following topics will be covered:

- Introduction to Labor Economics
- Labor Supply
- Labor Demand
- Labor Market Equilibrium
- Human Capital
- Migration
- Labour Market Discrimination
- Unemployment
