

Hello,

I am a Canadian student who studied abroad at Trinity College during the Michaelmas 2022 semester. After everything I learned about Irish history and culture, I believe the Z Library should be renamed the Connolly Library, after James Connolly.

James Connolly was a socialist leader in Ireland, a founder of the Irish Socialist Republican Party and a leader in the historical Easter Rising. He served as a Commandant General from 1913-1916 in the battle of the Easter Rising, but later was killed in Kilmainham Gaol by firing squad for his role in the Easter Rising.

Given his extensive and historical legacy in Ireland, as well as across America and the UK, I believe that James Connolly accurately represents Trinity's values.

Thank you,
Riley Thompson
