

Dear Sir or Madam,

Please see submissions from Inishbofin island, Co Galway, in which Inishbofin islanders are requesting that Trinity College Dublin return all human remains, including 13 crania stolen by British anthropologist Alfred Cort Haddon and Andrew Francis Dixon in 1890 from St. Colman's Cemetery, Inishbofin, Ireland. The theft, admitted to by Haddon in his diary negates any claims by Trinity College (eg. educational benefits, carbon dating reports) to retain them due to the criminal nature of how these remains came into the possession of Trinity College in the first place. Trinity is scheduled to make a decision in mid-December, 2022. No further evidence is needed. They must be returned to their community of origin.

Thank you,
Marie Coyne and the population of Inishbofin.

Inishbofin Community demand that Trinity College Dublin return ('repatriate') all human remains, including 13 crania, stolen by scientists Alfred Cort Haddon and Andrew Francis Dixon in 1890 from St. Colman's Cemetery, Inishbofin, Ireland. The theft, admitted to by Haddon in his diary, negates any claims by Trinity College (eg. educational benefits, carbon dating reports) to retain them due to the criminal nature of how these remains came into the possession of Trinity College. No further evidence is needed. They must be returned to their community of origin without delay.
