Walton Exhibition – Long Room Trinity Library

Trinity Library will be displaying its Ernest Walton Exhibition in the Long Room to coincide with our commemoration events. I have provided information below on how staff can book free tickets to visit.

Trinity students and staff are welcome to visit the Book of Kells Experience free of charge and they can bring up to 2 guests.

Pre-booking is essential. Each student/staff member must book a ticket for themselves and separate tickets for every guest they bring. For example, if a student/staff wants to bring 2 guests then they must book 3 tickets.

Type your Trinity student or staff number into the promo code box at checkout.

Complimentary tickets are limited. If a time slot is not available, please try another.

Please note that there is a maximum number of complimentary tickets that each student and staff members can avail of in a given academic year.
