Preface

These Statutes constitute the basic law of the College and University. When the Charter of Elizabeth, dated 3 March 1592, founded Trinity College Dublin as the mother of a University, it afforded College the power to adopt and amend Statutes to regulate its internal affairs:

In addition we grant and give licence to the Provost and Fellows of that College that they may from time to time for ever make, constitute and confirm laws, statutes and ordinances for governing their College piously and faithfully, and that they may establish among themselves whatsoever laws they consider well constituted in our Academies of Cambridge or Oxford, as they shall judge them apt and fitted to themselves.

Advantage was taken of this power almost immediately; and it was thereafter exercised with enthusiasm, if not always with ability. The earliest surviving complete set of Statutes was prepared by William Bedell, Provost of the College, in 1629. However, the Charter of Charles I, dated 25 May 1637, repealed the Statutes then in force, and accompanying Letters Patent replaced them with a more comprehensive code prepared by William Laud, Chancellor of the University. Moreover, it remitted the power to amend them to the Crown, and it was not to return to College until the Letters Patent of George V, dated 24 May 1911.

The Charters and Letters Patent, as royal acts, have force of law equivalent to that of legislation, and can now only be amended by Act of the Oireachtas. Indeed, to the extent that they have not been repealed, they continue to have full force and effect. They therefore stand superior to the present Statutes; no Statute which is inconsistent with them has any validity; nor can the Statutes in any way alter or amend the Charters or Letters Patent.

In the long interregnum between 1637 and 1911, amendment to the Statutes could only be achieved by Letters Patent (occasionally called Royal Letters) promulgated by the Crown. These were issued usually at the request of College, but sometimes on the initiative of the Crown. In all, 35 Letters Patent were promulgated, some directed to amending a single Statute, others with more comprehensive scope.

The Statutes have always governed the significant aspects of the life of the College and University. Statutes of the early 17th century provided in detail for the curriculum; but in the 18th century they increasingly attended to matters of employment and residence; and in the 19th century they concentrated upon formal matters of governance. Constant throughout are the rights and duties of the Provost, Fellows and Scholars. Together, they constituted the Body Corporate of the College as originally defined in the Charter of 1592 (“one body corporate and politic, for and in perpetuity incorporated and erected”); and the annual election of new Fellows and Scholars is by tradition made and announced on Trinity Monday. However, the Body Corporate was amended by the Charter of 1637, the Letters Patent of 1911, and the Trinity College, Dublin (Charters and Letters Patent Amendment) Act, 2000, so that it now also includes members of Board who are not in one of the three nominate categories. Moreover, the composition of the Body Corporate of the College can be amended only by legislation and not by the Statutes.

The major constitutional changes effected by the Letters Patent of Victoria, dated 24 July 1857, through to the Letters Patent of 1911, confirmed Senate as a body of great dignity but little power, established Council as responsible for the academic affairs of the University, and vested in Board the government of all the greater affairs of College. This settlement provided the foundations for the institutional arrangements of the College and University during the 20th century. As that century gave way to a new one, the Universities Act, 1997 refashioned Ireland's universities, and the Act of 2000 amended the Charters and Letters Patent to revise the composition of the Body Corporate and of the Board.

The Letters Patent of 1911 returned to the College the right to amend the Statutes, pursuant to an Ordinance proposed by Board which receives the Assent of a majority of the Fellows and the Approval of both of the Visitors. More than 300 years of Charters and Letters Patent were organised into the Consolidated Statutes of 1926; and these, in turn, were revised by the Consolidated Statutes of 1966. Thereafter, the frequency of statutory amendment, the pace of developments in the College and University, and the Acts of 1997 and 2000 all combined to make further consolidation desirable. The Chapters of the present Restatement were completed in 2010, and the Schedules were completed in 2016. They are now kept under regular review, and are revised when necessary, so that the basic law of the College and University can properly and appropriately support and organise the College, protect the welfare and order of its Community, and advance its mission and objects.

Preamble

Recalling that, by Charter in 1592, its Founder established a College, mother of a University, near the city of Dublin, for the better education, training and instruction of scholars and students, Trinity College Dublin builds upon its centuries-old traditions of scholarship and learning to confirm its standing as one of the great universities of the world.

And whereas it is deemed to be necessary and expedient that in exercise of the power vested in Board by the Letters Patent of 1911, the Consolidated Statutes of the College and University should again be revised,

And whereas the College:

Ad percipiendam colendamque virtutem adiuvat,¹

Sustains a scholarly community where knowledge, learning, imagination and originality prosper,

Promotes these virtues in public debate and discourse,

Safeguards with especial vigilance its independence and autonomy,

Upholds the principle of academic participation in its governance,

Affirms its rights and responsibilities to preserve and promote academic freedom, tenure and freedom of expression,

Recognises the corresponding commitment of its members to pursue with integrity the highest standards in teaching and learning, and in research and scholarship,

Endeavours to support them in this pursuit,

Rewards academic achievement, as by annually electing Fellows and Scholars,

Respects its traditions and heritage,

Embraces the principles of liberty, equality, equity and justice,

Attends in particular to the intellectual growth and development of its students,

Fosters a collegial and pluralist environment in which all of its members can flourish to their full potential,

Takes pride in the contributions of its members to the civic and cultural life of Dublin, Ireland and the world, and

Avows gurb í an fhiafraí doras an fheasa,²

And whereas these values and aspirations inform and underpin the interpretation and application of these restated Statutes, which support and organise the College, protect the welfare and order of its Community, and advance its mission and objects,

Now it is hereby ordained by the Board of Trinity College Dublin, with the written Assent of a majority of the Fellows, and the Approval of the Visitors, as follows:

Duties

- 20.
- (1) Where a function has been delegated, the delegating committee or officer shall retain ultimate responsibility for the performance of the delegated function.

 - (5) The grievance procedure in section 2(1)-(4) should normally be exhausted before any disciplinary proceedings arising out of the same circumstances are instituted pursuant to the Chapter; however, this is subject to the overriding right of College to institute disciplinary proceedings pursuant to the Chapter where necessary in the interests of College.

6. Mental ill-health

7. Research Ethics, Research Integrity, and Research Misconduct

- (1) Research shall be conducted ethically and with integrity, and shall be founded upon the principles of honesty, reliability, objectivity, impartiality, independence, fairness, respect, accountability, open communication, compliance with duties of care, and responsibility for future generations of researchers.

 - (f) In particular, where the allegation is sufficiently serious that it could lead to the suspension or dismissal of the member of staff against whom the allegation has been made, or where possible criminal conduct is involved, then the Dean of Research shall make a formal complaint to the Research Integrity Officer pursuant to section 4(2) of the Chapter.
 - (g) Where an allegation of research misconduct is addressed to the Research Integrity Officer pursuant to paragraph (e) or (f), the Research Integrity Officer shall investigate it pursuant to section 11 of the Chapter.

 - ii The Union shall give the College sufficient time to study, consider and negotiate upon any proposals for change, which it presents to the College.
6. Every attempt will be made to resolve matters locally in the first instance and then centrally. Where agreement is still not possible the issue will be dealt with under the process outlined below under “Dispute Resolution”. Where matters are in process on any Industrial Relations issue, as part of this procedure, this shall be clearly advised to the ESPVG.
7. All procedures set out above will be carried out as expeditiously as possible.
8. Multi-category negotiations
 In general where matters of common interest arise, affecting different categories of workers, which may involve more than one union or staff negotiating committee, they will combine and one set of negotiations will take place with management. In such cases procedures and logistics will be agreed between the parties at the time but there is acceptance that the arrangements will take practical account of time and resource matters. While it is accepted that circumstances may arise which necessitate meeting unions individually it is equally accepted that this will not be the norm.
9. Dispute Resolution
 This process will be adhered to if and when local and central talks fail to resolve a given issue. If agreement is not reached and either party wishes to pursue the matter further, that party shall refer the dispute either to the Labour Relations Commission, or another mutually agreed body / person where both parties shall participate in conciliation. If a mutually acceptable conciliation body is not agreed within seven days, then either party shall refer the dispute to the Labour Relations Commission.

 If the dispute remains unsettled, the matter may be referred to a full hearing of the Labour Court.

 The status quo shall be observed while an issue is being processed through the procedure. This is without prejudice to either party’s position. Where there is not an identifiable status quo (or where circumstances mean that the status quo would place a severe financial cost on College) the Staff Secretary and Regional Secretary will define an interim status quo which will be observed by the parties. The interim status quo cannot change the basic pay, grade, category or employment status of any employee. If the final outcome is other than the interim status quo, and employees were at a financial disadvantage during the period of the interim status quo, this loss shall be made good by College as part of the settlement of the dispute. The interim status quo is without prejudice to either party's position.

10. Industrial Action

No strike or lock-out or other form of industrial action (work to rule, withdrawal of co-operation etc), and no unilateral imposition of proposed changes which are in dispute, shall be taken by either party while the above procedure is being followed.

Where notice of a strike or any other form of industrial action is being served on an employer a minimum of 14 days' notice will apply.

11. Emergency Cover

While the primary responsibility for the provision of minimum levels of services rests with managements, this Agreement recognises that there is a joint obligation on College and the Union to have in place agreed contingency plans and other arrangements to deal with any emergency which may arise during an industrial dispute.

The Union will co-operate with the introduction of such plans and contingency arrangements. In particular, College and the Union commit to co-operate in making arrangements concerning:

- i. the maintenance of plant and equipment;
- ii. all matters concerning health, safety and security;
- iii. the provision of emergency services required on humanitarian grounds.
- iv. special operational problems which exist with continuous processes (e .g. laboratories)
- v. the provision of urgent medical services and supplies;

Detailed emergency cover plans will be agreed at a local level.

12. Terminal Examinations

Industrial action will not affect Terminal Examinations. The definition of terminal examinations is agreed with the ICTU Group of Unions in TCD - A Terminal examination is a final exam leading directly to a degree, or an examination that must be passed to move to the next year of a degree programme.

C Grievance Procedure

1. Principles

It is recognised by the College and the Union that it is in their mutual interest that issues affecting employees shall be dealt with effectively and speedily in an atmosphere of mutual trust and confidence, and it is intended that most issues shall be resolved informally between the member concerned and his or her supervisor or Head of Department. In cases where this is not possible, the following procedure for the resolution of grievances shall apply.

Where possible, grievances shall be resolved at the earliest possible stage of the grievance procedure, and the parties shall make every effort to avoid unreasonable delays in arranging meetings at all stages of the procedure.

2. Process

- i. Where a staff member or group of members has a grievance, they shall raise it with their Supervisor/ Section Head in the first instance.
- ii. If the grievance is not resolved at stage one, it shall be raised with the Head of Department by the member concerned, accompanied by his/her shop steward and/or a section officer.
- iii. If the grievance is not resolved at stage two, it shall be raised with the Staff Office by the fulltime union official, accompanied by the shop steward for the area concerned, and/or a section officer as appropriate. At this point the grievance may be pursued through an Industrial Relations meeting or a formal hearing by a suitable independent College Official may be requested. The process for such a hearing is detailed below under “Grievance Hearings”. Alternatively the parties may agree to pursue a mediated solution.
- iv. If the grievance is not resolved at stage three, it shall be referred to the Labour Relations Commission (Rights Commissioner, Equality Officer, Conciliation Service) or to the Employment Appeals Tribunal.
- v. If the grievance is not resolved following the intervention of the Labour Relations Commission, it may be referred to the Labour Court for investigation and recommendation.
- vi. If an employee/employees have a grievance or complaint but are uncertain as to what action should be taken, or if the grievance involves personal or other sensitive issues, which it is felt would be inappropriate to raise directly with the relevant supervisor/manager, advice should be sought from the Staff Office /SIPTU. A designated person in Staff Office will deal with such matters in a neutral capacity.
- vii. Both parties agree to undertake to ensure that all reasonable efforts are made to resolve disputes as speedily as possible.

3. Grievance Hearings

i. Representation

The person making a complaint has the right to representation at all stages during the process. They may choose to have a colleague, shop steward, Section Officer or Union Organiser present. If there is a Union Organiser present it would be appropriate to have someone from Staff Office Present.

ii. Role of Staff Office

The role of the Staff Office is to ensure fair and consistent application of grievance procedures. They will provide advice and guidance as necessary, to management involved in all stages of the process. A member of Staff Office will be present at any meeting in the process attended by a union organiser.

iii. Investigation Hearings

- The complainant should detail the complaint in writing in advance of the hearing.
- A copy of the complaint will be given to the employee against whom the hearing is being convened at least three days (72 hours) before the commence of the hearing.

- The Hearing will be conducted by a College Official who is not party to the complaint investigation. Generally College will supply the Union with a list of 3 names from which the presiding official will be agreed.
- Meetings pertinent to the hearing will be held in confidence and all staff will be treated with dignity and respect.
- The complainant or their representative will be afforded the opportunity to make whatever representation they deem relevant.
- The person conducting the hearing will satisfy themselves that they obtained all evidence relevant to the complaint. This will include interviewing all relevant parties to the complaint. This may mean that the hearing involves more than one sitting.
- The hearing will examine all evidence pertinent to the complaint and may examine likely outcomes.
- Staff are obligated to co-operate with all hearings held in accordance with the terms of this process.
- Written records of the meeting will be kept, and supplied to parties as appropriate.
- The person conducting the hearing will inform the staff member of when they can expect a decision (between 1 and 7 working days generally) before adjourning the hearing.
- Having reached a decision the person conducting the hearing will advise the staff member of the outcome in writing.
- The staff member will have the right of appeal through the normal Industrial Relations process.

3. Mediation Process

The parties support the use of mediation as an alternative method of resolving complaints. Mediation is an informal process, through which a Mediator helps the parties in a dispute to talk about the issues between them, and if they wish, to reach an agreement which is acceptable to both sides. The process is voluntary and both parties must be willing to take part and agree to the appointment of an agreed Mediator internal or external.

D. Disciplinary Procedure

1. Principles

This procedure is to help ensure consistent and fair treatment for all staff and to ensure compliance with natural justice. The supervisor/manager will make preliminary enquiries with the staff member involved and where appropriate deal with the matter on an informal basis. If the supervisor/manager believes a disciplinary hearing may be required he/she will inform the staff member that the matter will proceed to investigation in line with this procedure. The staff member will also be informed of the nature of the complaint.

Disciplinary hearings will not be convened until the matters under consideration, or which are the subject of complaints, have been properly investigated and there has been a finding that there is a case to answer.

At every stage in the procedure the employee will be advised of the nature of the complaint against him/her and will be given the opportunity to state his/her case before any decision is made.

At all stages during the investigation and disciplinary meeting (if required), the employee will have the right to be accompanied by an authorised Trade Union Organiser, Staff Representative or working colleague.

All matters of discipline shall be dealt with by the College in a manner which protects the dignity of staff and no disciplinary action shall take place in the presence of staff not directly concerned.

An employee will have the right to a fair and impartial determination of the issues being investigated, taking into account the allegations or complaints themselves, the response of the employee concerned to them, any representations made by or on behalf of the employee concerned and any other relevant or appropriate evidence, factors or circumstances.

No employee will be dismissed for a first breach of discipline except in the case of serious misconduct when the penalty may be immediate dismissal.

An employee will have the right to appeal against any disciplinary penalty imposed.

The procedure may be implemented at any stage if the employee's alleged misconduct warrants such action.

2. Offences

The following list provides examples of offences which normally warrant disciplinary action :

- i. Sub-standard work performance
- ii. Unauthorised absence
- iii. Time keeping
- iv. Absenteeism
- v. Breach of Leave Regulations

Disciplinary action will normally take one of the following forms:

- written warning;
- withdrawal of privileges (including eligibility for overtime work);
- deferment of increment;
- limited suspension with pay;
- limited suspension without pay;
- demotion for a stated period;
- dismissal.

Stage 1- Verbal Warning

If conduct or performance does not meet acceptable standards, the staff member will normally be given a formal verbal warning. He/She will be advised of the reason of the warning and that it is the first stage of the disciplinary procedure. The warning will be confirmed in writing to the employee and recorded in the employee's file as a verbal warning.

Stage 2- Written Warning

If the offence is a serious one, and if a further offence occurs or if the required improvement does not take place a written warning will be issued. He/She will be warned that action under Stage 3 will be considered if there is no satisfactory improvement. The warning will be signed by the employee.

Stage 3 - Final Written Warning and/or Suspension with/without Pay

If there is still a failure to improve, and conduct or performance is still unsatisfactory, or if the conduct is sufficiently serious to warrant it, a Final Written Warning will normally be given to the employee. This will give details of the complaint, and will warn that dismissal will result if there is no satisfactory improvement, or if there is any recurrence or other serious misconduct. Deferment of an increment and/or demotion may also accompany this step.

All warnings comprehended in stages 1-3 above will be removed from personal files at the relevant expiry date

Stage 4 – Dismissal

If the conduct or performance is still unsatisfactory, and the staff member fails to reach the prescribed standards, or if further serious misconduct occurs, then dismissal will result. All dismissals will only be implemented by the Staff Office and by a written directive. The staff member will be provided, as soon as reasonably practicable, with written reasons for dismissal and the date on which the employment will terminate.

4. Probation

During the probationary period, any disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal, will be conducted in line with the agreed Probationary Process (see Appendix 3)

5. Serious Misconduct

The following list provides examples of offences which are normally regarded as serious misconduct and may lead to disciplinary action commencing beyond Stage 1.

- i. Unauthorised removal of property not belonging to the member of staff concerned.
- ii. Threatening or carrying out (serious) acts of violence towards another member of staff, student, or member of the public.
- iii. Engaging in remunerative employment while on sick leave (irrespective of whether the sick leave is medically certified or not).
- iv. Causing malicious damage to College property, or to property on College premises belonging to another member of staff, or student, or member of the public.
- v. Serious breaches of the College's policies regarding sexual or other forms of harassment.
- vi. Refusing to carry out lawful and reasonable directions given by a member of staff authorised to do so.
- vii. Committing a serious breach of College safety regulations.
- viii. Unauthorised absence from work.
- ix. Reporting for work under the influence of alcohol or drugs other than those prescribed and advised to the appropriate college authority, or having or consuming them on the College premises.

The above list of examples should not be regarded as exhaustive.

If someone is accused of an act of serious misconduct, they may be placed off duty with pay pending a full investigation into the matter. Payments may be stopped if the individual concerned does not cooperate with the process outlined here. If on completion of the investigation and the full disciplinary procedure, the College is satisfied that serious misconduct has occurred, the result may be immediate dismissal.

6. Role of Staff Office

The role of the Staff Office is to ensure fair and consistent application of grievance procedures. They will provide advice and guidance as necessary, to management involved in all stages of the process. A member of Staff Office will be present at any meeting in the process attended by a union organiser.

7. Representation

The person against whom a complaint is made has the right to representation at all stages during the disciplinary process. The staff member may choose to have a colleague, shop steward or Union Organiser present. If there is a full time Union Organiser present, then it is appropriate that a representative of the Staff Office also be present.

8. Investigation

A Disciplinary Hearing will not take place before the alleged breach or complaint has been fully investigated.

Details of the alleged breach or complaint will be made available to the staff member in writing in advance of an investigation meeting.

Confidentiality is required of all parties when the complaint is made by one staff member of another.

Generally the investigation will be conducted through the supervisory structure of the department in question.

Investigation meetings will be held in confidence and all staff will be treated with dignity and respect.

Those attending investigation meeting will be told in advance of the meeting of

- The purpose of the meeting
- The complaint being investigated
- The time and venue
- Their right to representation
- That the investigation may lead to disciplinary action.

Staff members have representation rights as outlined above.

The investigation will look at all evidence pertinent to the alleged offence/breach of regulation and interview all relevant parties.

All material relevant to the alleged offence/breach will be made available to the staff member during the course of the investigation.

The staff member will get the full details of matters under investigation and the opportunity to respond to them fully.

Further investigation meetings may be scheduled if required as issues arise.

Staff are obliged to co-operate with legitimate College investigations. Continued frustration of the process may lead to the process being concluded without input from the party concerned. Written records of the meeting will be kept. Signed statements and/or signed acceptance of records may be requested of attendees.

The outcome of the investigation will be communicated in writing to the parties involved.

The person conducting the investigation may themselves issue a verbal warning if this is the outcome of their investigation. In this case Staff Office will be notified and will inform the Branch Organiser of the outcome

If the investigator (s) believe that other disciplinary action may be appropriate they will recommend that a disciplinary hearing be convened. If a disciplinary hearing is recommended, the person involved will be told in writing of

- the outcome of the investigation
- the convening of the disciplinary hearing
- the time and venue and the chairperson of the hearing
- their right to representation
- the range of possible sanction applicable

The Staff member will be given all of the pertinent documentation, including any evidence to be presented by the investigators to the disciplinary hearing.

9. Disciplinary Hearing

The Disciplinary Hearing will be conducted by a College Official who was not part of the investigation. Generally the hearing will be conducted through the supervisory structure of the department in question. In cases related to performance an official from within the department will be nominated by College. In other cases College will generally supply the Union with a list of 3 names from which the presiding official will be agreed.

The outcome of the investigation will be presented by the investigator to the Chair of the Disciplinary hearing in front of the staff member person against whom the complaint is made, and their representative.

The staff member or their representative will be afforded the opportunity to make whatever representation they deem relevant.

The person conducting the hearing will satisfy themselves that they obtained all relevant material and that the staff member has been afforded reasonable opportunity to respond.

The person conducting the hearing will inform the staff member of when they can expect a decision (between 1 and 7 working days generally) before adjourning the hearing.

Having reached a decision the person conducting the hearing will advise the staff member of any intended disciplinary action within 5 Working Days.

The staff member will also be informed of their right of appeal.

10. Appeal

An appeal must be lodged with the appropriate department head within 5 working days of the finding of the disciplinary hearing being notified.

Disciplinary action will not be implemented pending appeal.

An appeal will be heard by an official of the College usually more senior to the person who chaired the Disciplinary Hearing.

The staff member will have the same rights of representation as with the disciplinary hearing. The staff member person or their representative will be afforded the opportunity to make whatever representation they deem relevant.

The person conducting the hearing will inform the staff member of when they can expect a decision (between 1 and 7 working days generally) before adjourning the appeal. Having reached a decision the person conducting the appeal will advise the staff member of his/her decision in writing.

If disciplinary action is upheld it will be implemented within 3 working days of the postmark of the issued finding.

11. Further Appeals

The individual has the right to seek redress before a Rights Commissioner or the Employment Appeals Tribunal as provided for in current legislation.

12. Industrial Action

In accordance with the Industrial Relations Act 1990, no form of industrial action may be taken with regard to a disciplinary matter, until the matter has been fully processed in accordance with disciplinary procedures and with the LRC and Labour Court.

- (I) Preamble
 - a) The College shall ensure that all members are treated in a fair and reasonable way, and in accordance with the principles of natural justice. The same principles of reasonableness and natural justice shall form basis of the disciplinary procedures, which shall apply in relation to all College Staff.
 - b) The College expects a good standard of conduct and work performance from all staff, and wishes to ensure that all staff are given a fair and reasonable opportunity to rectify any problems which may occur in relation to their conduct or work performance. The maintenance of standards relating to work and general behaviour is entirely the responsibility of Heads of Department.
 - c) For the vast majority of staff, the question of disciplinary action is unlikely to arise. The purpose of these formal disciplinary procedures is to ensure common and equitable treatment of those staff who fail to meet the accepted standards of job performance or conduct. Where practicable, the procedures will be used to help such staff achieve the necessary improvement in standards.
 - d) The College shall deal with all matters of discipline in a manner, which protects the dignity of members, and no disciplinary action shall take place in the presence of staff not directly concerned.
 - e) The College recognises the right of any Unite member who may be subject to disciplinary action to be made aware of all the grounds on the basis of which the College may be contemplating taking such action, and to be given an equal opportunity to respond to any allegations.
 - f) While in the case of minor offences disciplinary action will normally be incremental; the appropriate action will be related to the nature of the offence in each case. The College reserves the right to exercise discretion as to the suitability of the type of disciplinary action applicable in any given situation. Disciplinary action will normally take one of the following forms:

- Written Reprimand
 - Withdrawal of Privileges (including eligibility for overtime work)
 - Deferment of Increment
 - Limited Suspension with/Without Pay
 - Demotion for a stated period
 - Dismissal.
- g) In all cases, the Staff Office will be sent a written record of Stage One warnings, and will be consulted by the Department Head concerned prior to the issuing of Stage Two or Three warnings or of notice of dismissal.
- h) No disciplinary action will be taken against a Trade Union representative until the circumstances have been discussed with a full-time official of the Union concerned.
- i) The Disciplinary Procedure does not apply to members during their probationary period. At each stage of the procedure, members shall be given all reasonable facilities to explain his/her position. This will include adequate time to produce evidence and consult with representatives.
- j) Where the College is contemplating the taking of disciplinary action against a member, the Staff Office shall furnish the member with;

- (b) A list of individuals who shall be giving evidence against the member and details of any allegation(s) made by such individual(s) against the member.

In any disciplinary action, where the sanction of dismissal is being sought the member and representative may question all College personnel giving evidence in the case.

PROCEDURES

FIRST STAGE - RECORDED VERBAL WARNING

The College recognises that most minor disciplinary matters can be speedily and effectively handled on an informal basis and where this is possible it is the preferred method. Informal verbal admonitions are not therefore to be considered as part of the Disciplinary Procedure.

The head of department for an infringement of College regulations, lateness, absenteeism, negligence, poor performance, or other misconduct may issue a recorded verbal warning. The member will be informed of the manner in which their job performance or conduct is unsatisfactory, what must be done to improve it, and the consequences of a failure to improve. The member shall be given all reasonable facilities to explain his/her position. This will include adequate time to produce evidence and consult with representatives.

A record of this verbal warning will be sent to the Staff Office and placed on the staff member's file, and a copy to the Unite Regional Officer.

STAGE TWO - FIRST WRITTEN WARNING

If there is no improvement in job performance or conduct following a recorded verbal warning, or in cases where there has been a more serious failure to meet reasonable and acceptable standards of work performance or conduct, the staff member will be issued with a First Written Warning. The Staff Office following consultation with the Department Head concerned will issue this, and a copy will be sent to the Unite Regional Officer.

The written warning will explain the nature of the offence, what the staff member must do to attain acceptable standards of job performance or conduct, and the consequences of failure to do so.

Depending on the circumstances, and the seriousness of the offence, further written warnings may be issued before a final written warning.

STAGE THREE - FINAL WRITTEN WARNING

If, despite at least one previous written warning, a staff member fails to attain the required standard of job performance or conduct, or in cases where a serious offence has been committed, the staff member may be issued with a Final Written Warning. This warning shall be stated verbally to the member in Staff Office, with the member's representative or Regional Officer present.

The Staff Office, following consultation with the Department Head concerned will issue the final written warning. A copy will be sent to the Unite Regional Officer.

The final written warning will state the nature of the offence, what the staff member must do to attain acceptable standards of job performance or conduct, and that he or she will be dismissed if there is a continuation of the offence.

In certain very serious cases, the staff member may be suspended with pay for a number of days on receiving a final written warning.

STAGE FOUR - SUSPENSION/DISMISSAL

If, despite, a previous final written warning, the required improvement in job performance or conduct has not taken place, the staff member may be suspended or dismissed. The decision to dismiss or suspend will be taken by the Department Head concerned in consultation with the Staff Office. This decision will be relayed to the Unite Regional Officer.

In cases of gross misconduct, suspension or dismissal may take place without the previous stages of the Procedure having been implemented. In cases where there is suspicion of gross misconduct, the staff member may be suspended on full pay to allow time for a full investigation.

Examples of gross misconduct include the following:

- Unauthorised removal of property not belonging to the member of staff concerned.
- Threatening or carrying out acts of violence towards another member of staff, student, or a member of the public.
- Causing malicious damage to College property, or to property on College premises belonging to another member of staff, or student, or member of the public.
- Serious breaches of the College's policy regarding sexual harassment, or Bullying.
- Knowingly committing a serious breach of College safety regulations.
- Continuous and repeated unauthorised absence from work.

- Reporting for work under the influence of alcohol or controlled drugs, or having or consuming them on the College premises.

The above list of examples should not be regarded as exhaustive.

If following the implementation of the procedures laid down in this agreement, a disciplinary matter is resolved, a written statement to this effect shall be added to the member's personnel file/record.

Members on probation

The performance of members on probation shall be formally reviewed by the head of department at least twice during the probationary period. Where there are shortcomings in the level of performance, the Head of Department shall inform the member concerned and shall indicate clearly, and in writing what standards of performance is required, and what steps are necessary to attain this standard.

At the end of the probationary period, a final review shall be undertaken, resulting in either confirmation in appointment or termination of employment. Alternatively, the Head of Department may recommend that the probationary period be extended. Other than in cases of gross misconduct no decision to discontinue the employment of a member on probation shall be implemented without at least two reviews having been undertaken.

Either party may terminate employment during, or at the end of, the probationary period. The College and the member are required to give notice as set out in their conditions of employment.

At all stages of this procedure, the staff member involved shall be informed of their rights of representation.

APPEALS

1. A member who has had any of the stages of the Disciplinary Procedure invoked against him or her may appeal within 5 working days. In stages 1 and 2, the appeal shall be handled through the Grievance Procedure. Appeals against dismissal or suspension, which must also be submitted within 5 working days, shall be referred to an external Appeals Officer, who shall issue a decision as to whether he or she considers the proposed disciplinary action to be fair and appropriate within 5 working days. Disciplinary action shall not be implemented by the College pending the outcome of procedures laid down by this agreement. A member appealing against dismissal shall be suspended on full pay until the appeals officer has given his or her decision.

C Grievance Procedure

1. It is recognised by the College and Unite that it is their mutual interest that issues affecting employees shall be dealt with effectively and speedily in an atmosphere of partnership, and is intended that most issues shall be resolved informally between the member concerned and his or her Head of Department. In case where this is not possible, the following procedure for the resolution of grievances shall apply.
2. Whenever possible, grievances shall be resolved at the earliest possible stage of the grievance procedure, and the parties shall make every effort to prevent unreasonable delays in arranging meetings at all stages of the procedure.
3. Nothing in this agreement shall interfere with the right of Unite to ballot its members for industrial action and for its members to take such action where this is deemed necessary.

Procedure

1. Where a member or group of members have a grievance, they shall raise it with their supervisor in the first instance.
Where Unite have a grievance on behalf of its members it shall move to part 3 of this procedure.
2. If the grievance is not resolve, it shall be raised with the Head of Department by the member(s) concerned, accompanied by his or her representative.
3. If the grievance is not resolve, Unite representatives and/or regional Officer shall raise it with the Staff Office.
4. If the grievance is not resolved it shall be referred to the labour Relations Commission (a rights commissioner, an Equality Officer or an Industrial Relations Officer) or the Employment Appeals Tribunal.
5. If the grievance is not resolved following the intervention of the Labour Relations Commission, it may be referred to the Labour Court for investigation and recommendation.

Negotiating Procedure

1. The College shall inform the Union, in writing, any proposed changes in working conditions or practices well in advance of such changes.
2. Disputes relating to any proposed changes in working conditions or practices shall in the first instance be the subject of negotiations between the College, represented by the Staff Office, and Unite represented by the Regional Officer and local Representatives.
3. If agreement is not reached and either party wishes to pursue the matter further, that party shall refer the dispute either to the labour Relations Commission or other mutually agreed body where both parties shall participate in conciliation. If a mutually accepted conciliation body is not agreed within 7 days, then either party shall refer the dispute to the labour Relations Commission.
4. If the dispute remains unsettled, the matter may be referred to a full hearing of the Labour Court.
5. Either party shall take no strike or lockout, and no unilateral imposition of proposed changes, which are in dispute, while the above procedure is being followed.
6. There shall be no alterations to the recognition and procedural agreement or to the working conditions or practice of the members without prior consultation and agreement between the parties.

Procedures for dealing with workplace Bullying

Trinity College is committed to supporting the right of all members of the College Community to a working environment, which is free from any forms of bullying. Bullying is a behaviour, which can be damaging to a person's general welfare and to the College's community spirit and working environment. Bullying behaviour is not acceptable and it is the responsibility of all members of College to ensure that this behaviour does not happen. This responsibility includes awareness of one's own behaviour and its potential effects on others. The College's Heads of Departments, Managers and Supervisors have a specific responsibility to support and implement this College policy and to provide a positive working environment. The issuing of reasonable work-related instructions should not be construed as bullying. Any breach of this policy may constitute grounds for disciplinary action and, in serious offences, disciplinary action up to and including suspension and dismissal.

DEFINITION: Bullying is unwanted and unwelcome behaviour which is persistent and repeated, is offensive or threatening to the recipient or which leaves the recipient isolated or vulnerable. While an isolated incident of aggressive behaviour – while clearly unacceptable – does not in itself constitute Bullying, if the impact of the incident subsequently serves to intimidate on an on-going basis, then such an incident could be regarded as Bullying. Bullying can take many forms, from open aggression, threats, and shouting to subtle comments or exclusion. It can be verbal, physical or psychological. It is destructive and may have serious consequences. The impact of the behaviour on the recipient will be taken into consideration when dealing with cases of Bullying.

EXAMPLES OF BULLYING BEHAVIOUR:

- Exclusion or hostile attitude, malicious rumours;
- Personal insults, nicknames, ridiculing; persistent picking on person as a ‘joke’;
- Abuse of power; undermine the ability of staff to carry out their work; excessive criticism; withholding essential information;
- Aggressive behaviour; intimidation and threats; unwelcome physical contact.

Bullying can involve an individual or group of individuals who bully or threaten an individual or group of individuals. Individuals involved may be at any level within the College i.e. peers, person in authority, person in minority groupings etc.

SOURCES OF HELP: There are several sources of help for all parties involved (victims, witnesses, perpetrators) as follows:

The Contact Persons, the Employee Assistance Programme and workplace representatives.

TRAINING: Training will be given to the Contact Persons, and College will inform all staff of their responsibilities about the prevention of Bullying.

PROCEDURE: Please refer to the Colleges Dignity & Respect Policy which sets out both the informal and formal procedures (link below).

Report of the Expert Group on University Technician Grades

June 2005

- Section 3: Career structures including the Designated Title, Qualifications, Professional Certification, Unified career structure, if appropriate to the institutions within the sector and training and education requirements including funding and facilities.
- Section 4: Management structure and development within the profession.
- Section 5: Development plans for the delivery of services.*

Section 1 - Introduction

Background to the Establishment of the Expert Group

The labour Relations Commission (Ref.CC97/566) in May 1997, recommended the establishment of an Expert group for Medical Laboratory technicians/technologists as part of a set of proposals to settle their pay claims under the PCW. The Expert Group issued its report in February 2001.

Based on the pay relationship between university technicians and medical laboratory technicians under PCW, it has now been agreed that an Expert Group will be established for university technicians with the following terms of reference;

Terms of Reference

The terms of reference of the Expert Group are to examine and report on:

- The role of the profession: - including, inter alia, the impact of ongoing change across the Universities, with particular reference to student instruction and developments in research.
- Career structures including
 - Qualifications
 - Professional Certification
 - Unified career structure, if appropriate to the institutions within the sector.
 - Training and education requirements including funding and facilities.
 - Designated Title.
- Management structure and development within the profession.
- Development plans for the delivery of services.

The Expert Group comprised of an independent chairperson (agreed by both parties) and four representatives from the university employers and four representatives from staff trade unions. The members of the Expert Group were:

Raymond McGee (LRC) Chairperson from March 2003 until June 2003

Kevin Foley (LRC) Chairperson from November 2004

Ms Marian Burns (DCU) from July 2003

Michael Chapman (AMICUS-MSF)

Olan Dwyer (SIPTU)

Pat Fitzgerald (DCU) from February 2005

Michael Flanagan (UCD)

Colm Flannery (NUIG) from February 2005

Robert French (AMICUS-MSF)

Professor Paul Giller (UCC)

Maria Kelly (TCD) until June 2003

Chris McNairney (NUIG)

Therese Moloney (AMICUS-MSF)

Expert Group Methodology

It was agreed that:

1. The Expert Group would carry out its task by way of plenary discussions. Where appropriate local negotiations will take place in individual Universities between management and union nominees on issues relevant to that University. The Expert group will monitor and co-ordinate the local negotiations.
2. The Group would then report its findings to the Joint Management and Union Body (Umbrella Group). This body is comprised of representatives of the 7 Universities, 3 Unions (AMICUS-MSF, SIPTU and IFUT), THE Higher Education Authority, Department of Education and Science and the Department of Finance.
3. The Expert Group may, following consultation with the Joint Management and Union Body on a subgroup of that body as appropriate where such is agreed, consider other relevant issues

4. All technical staff currently in post at an agreed date and who meet the existing qualification requirements for progression or who subsequently meet those requirements will be deemed to have the necessary qualifications for progression.

The Expert Group commenced work in March 2003 and met seven times during the period March 2003 and February 2005. This Report is based on the agreed minutes of these meetings.

Acknowledgements

The Expert Group would like to express its appreciation to the Labour Relations Commission and to University College Cork for their support in hosting its meetings.

Section 2 – Role of the Profession

The Expert Group agreed that the role of the profession should be enhanced and expanded to include managerial and supervisory duties, teaching support, continuous professional development, instruction and training, research support and redeployment as appropriate to the grade. Details of the new expanded roles are given in Section 4, titled, “Management Structure and Development within the Profession”.

Section 3 – Career Structure

The Expert Group considered the following issues, namely, Title, Structure and Qualifications, and agreed to base their discussion on the Report of the Expert Group on Medical Laboratory Technician / Technologist Grades in the Health Sector. It was agreed that similar qualifications and grading structures applying to technicians in the Health Sector should apply to University Technicians

Title

The expert group recommends that the sector moves towards a graduate entry profession for Technicians, and the designated title of the profession should be Technical Officer.

Structure

The Expert Group recommends that;

1: As per the terms of reference of this report

- The basic structure will have three grades. This will apply in all seven Universities¹.
- The three grades will be Technical Officer, Senior Technical Officer and Chief Technical Officer.
- Promotion from Technical Officer to Senior Technical Officer will be the normal career progression within each institution and will in future be linked inter alia to qualifications.
- Entry to the grade of Chief Technical Officer will be on the basis of competition and the existing arrangements in each university will continue to apply.

- Other technical grades that currently apply in individual universities (e.g. experimental officers in TCD) will continue to apply and will be the subject of local discussions in each university.

Qualifications

The expert Group recommends that;

- Entry to the profession will require a relevant Honours degree.
- Promotion to Senior Technical Officer and beyond will in future require a Masters Degree qualification or equivalent.
- The Universities will have the option of externally advertising posts at all levels.

The Group also noted that in many instances, it would be difficult to establish a relevant Masters degree and indeed Honours degree (for example for technicians working in material testing stations) and each institution would have to consider locally how “acquired experiential learning” combined with other qualifications could be used to determine equivalence to formal qualifications.

The Expert Group makes no recommendations on the issue of professional certification.

Section Four – Management Structure

Chief Technical Officer

The Expert group recommends that;

The reporting structure of the Chief Technical Officer will be to the Head of Department (HoD) or equivalent who will be appropriately qualified and be of sufficient academic standing to provide that leadership.² In the event of conflicting demands on the Chief Technical Officer, the matter will be referred to the HoD or equivalent

Chief Technical Officer will have a managerial role including, inter alia, for disciplinary, grievance and performance issues, for technical staff. This will involve a change in the role of the Chief Technical Officer and will require the development of new competencies. These Officers will be recruited internally and externally as appropriate.

Senior Technical Officer

The Expert group recommends that this expanded role would include:

- Enhanced role in the supervision, where appropriate, of technical staff on a day-to-day basis.
- Provide a support role to teaching duties such as demonstrations and general instruction.
- Assist in the design and development of practical classes.
- Assist in the development/training of Demonstrators.
- Mentoring of junior staff.
- Assist in the development of student practical workbooks.

²: Appropriately qualified shall be determined by management at each institution

- Commitment to continuous professional development including taking on responsibilities consequent on new technologies.
- Extended role in research programmes to include new equipment training.

- Increased role in general administrative responsibilities including areas such as Health and Safety, budget control, purchasing etc.

Technical Officer

It was agreed that this expanded role would include:

- Support teaching generally and provide “demonstrating” and/or “instruction” as necessary.
- Assist in the design and development of practical classes.
- Assist in the development/training of Demonstrators, subject to experience.
- Assist in the development of student practical notebooks.
- Commitment to continuing Professional Development, including taking on responsibilities consequent on new technologies.
- Expanded role in research, which would involve supporting research activities, or a more inclusive role in Research Programmes and greater engagement in this area. This may involve additional training, for example with particular equipment and/or techniques.
- Increased role for general administrative responsibilities, for example Health and Safety requirements, Stores and the assistance in activities such as budget control and purchasing etc.

Technical staff at all grades may be redeployed along the lines of current agreements in each institution and/or as per attached appendices to this report.

Section Five - Delivery of Services

The agreed expanded roles of Chief Technical Officer, Senior Technical Officer, and Technical Officer grades include a range of activities and responsibilities that encompass, managerial and supervisory duties, teaching support, instruction and training, research support, redeployment and continual professional development and administration, as appropriate to the grade. The expert group agreed that institutions would need to oversee technical service delivery under these expanded technical roles through the establishment of a relevant Committee within each institution. This committee would be subject to the procedures for the establishment of committees in each institution.³ As the expanded roles and proposed reporting relationships may well span across traditional departmental boundaries, this committee might also take on a co-ordinating role.

It is essential that the establishment of any such Committee should be fully representative of technical, academic and administrative bodies within the institution. As such, the following Committee structure might apply:

Technical Services Committee

Chair – President or his/her nominee.

Three academic representatives including a Dean and a Head of Department/School from relevant Faculties/Colleges.

Three technical representatives.

One representative from the Human Resources department.

The mechanism for selecting the various representatives should be defined by the academic and technical bodies of each institution.⁴

It is envisaged that the remit of the Committee would vary somewhat amongst the various institutions (depending on their specific configuration and activities) but could include advising on the following:

- Promoting consultation and communication between academic and technical staff
- Policy development issues related to service delivery.
- Monitoring the success of implementation of the expanded roles and activities.

^{3,4}: In accordance with Section 18 subsections (4) & (5) and Section 24 subsection (3) fourth Schedule (5) of the Universities Act 1997.

- Evaluation of redeployment and flexibility requirements to meet service delivery and, as necessary, co-ordination of redeployment and flexibility issues.
- Professional development and additional training opportunities.
- Implementation of new technologies.
- Initial consideration of staffing issues, where appropriate, which may arise in relation to technical services delivery.

Footnote: The Group recommends that additional supervisory/management training should be given to staff and in particular to Chief Technical Officers.

PCW agreement 1999 TCD

Co-operation with Change

It is agreed that changes in work practices will be introduced in a spirit of co-operation. It is recognized that the implementation of change will call for the continued commitment from both parties to:

- i) Co-operation regarding the introduction of new schemes, the adaptation of existing schemes and other initiatives which may involve change in work practice.

Examples of possible changes in work practice may include:

a) Cross-Departmental Working

Technical staff will cooperate with the implementation of working groups which may include staff from more than one department, and which may involve carrying out work for more than one department. These groups may operate on a temporary, part-time or permanent basis. In all cases appropriate arrangements will be made in advance to ensure that the home department duties of the Technical staff concerned will not accumulate and will be taken into account when allocating their new duties.

b) Inter-Departmental Working

Technical staff may on occasion carry out duties for a department other than their own, subject to the prior agreement of their Own Head of Department. In all cases, appropriate arrangements will be made in advance to ensure that the home department duties of the Technical staff concerned will not accumulate and will be taken into account when allocating their new duties.

Any new inter-departmental arrangements will be made at local level with the full participation of all the Technical staff involved.

4. Postponement of procedures

- (1) Notwithstanding section 1(3), the Junior Dean, the Committee, or a Panel of Enquiry, as the case may be, shall have regard to any criminal, disciplinary or other similar process arising out of the same or similar matter, and may postpone disciplinary procedures (including the application of time limits) being taken pursuant to this Schedule until any such process is complete.
- (2) For the purposes of this Schedule, “day” has the meaning ascribed to it in Schedule 1; provided that
 - (a) in matters already before a Panel, it shall also include any other day as agreed by the parties and the Panel, and
 - (b) it shall exclude days during a postponement of procedures pursuant to subsection (1).

Part 3 - Procedures to be followed by the Junior Dean

5. Investigation

- (1) The Junior Dean shall perform the functions of office with due enquiry.
- (2) Where an alleged disciplinary offence comes to the attention of the Junior Dean, whether by notification pursuant to section 2 or otherwise, then the Junior Dean shall furnish to the student a notice in writing in satisfaction of section 37 which also sets out the specific disciplinary offence with which the student is charged and, if possible, indicates whether that offence is likely to be characterised as either major or minor.
- (3) The Junior Dean shall interview the student as soon as is practicable thereafter. At that interview, the student's tutor or other person of the student's choice may represent the student; and the student and any such representative shall be given full opportunity to comment on the allegations made against the student.
- (4) If the student refuses to attend that interview, the Junior Dean may nevertheless proceed to take a decision pursuant to section 7.

6. Classification of offences

- (1) The Junior Dean shall, following the interview and the completion of the initial investigation, decide whether a case has been established against the student and, if so, whether, in the case of each offence in question, it is a minor or major offence.
- (2) It shall be for the Junior Dean in the first instance to decide whether an offence is major, but the Junior Dean shall have regard to factors such as the potential for criminal or professional misconduct proceedings arising out of the offence, the impact of the offence on others, the disruption of the normal functioning of the College and/or its facilities and/or members, plagiarism, falsification or serious misuse of official College or University documents or false pretences in connection with academic attainments, or refusal to comply with any final penalty imposed pursuant to this Schedule.

7. Decision of Junior Dean

- (1) The Junior Dean shall, within 15 days of the furnishing to the student of a notice pursuant to section 5, have finally dealt with the matter, having either decided that there was no case to answer, dealt with the matter summarily and imposed a penalty, or referred the matter to the Committee pursuant to section 9 or section 12.
- (2) The time limit in subsection (1) may be extended by the Junior Dean only where it is necessary to do so in the interests of the student, as for example, where the student is temporarily unavailable for interview.

- (3) The student may, pursuant to section 7(2)(b) of Schedule 1 on the Committee on Student Conduct and Capacity, appeal the final decision of the Junior Dean taken pursuant to subsection (1).

8. Penalties

- (1) Any person or body imposing a penalty pursuant to this Schedule shall impose an appropriate penalty, having regard to the offence, its consequences, and the means and circumstances of the student.
- (2) The penalty for each minor offence committed by the student may include a fine which shall not exceed any limit as set by Board from time to time.
- (3) The penalty for each major offence committed by the student and dealt with summarily may include suspension from the University and College not extending beyond the end of the next academic year, disqualification from an examination, and a fine which shall not exceed any limit as set by Board from time to time.
- (4) The penalty for each major offence committed by the student and not dealt with summarily may include reprimand, disqualification from an examination, suspension from academic and other privileges, suspension from the University and College not extending beyond the end of the second next academic year, expulsion from the University and College, and a fine which shall not exceed any limit as set by Board from time to time.
- (5) In all such cases, the student may also be required to pay compensation, make reparation, provide restitution and/or donate to charity.
- (6) For the avoidance of doubt, the penalties available under this section include suspension as defined in the Suspension Section; and, where the Junior Dean has imposed a penalty that includes a suspension, then the Suspension Section shall apply.
- (7)
 - (a) The Junior Dean may impose a penalty, and postpone its application conditional upon the good behaviour of the student concerned for a stated period of time.
 - (b) If, in the opinion of the Junior Dean, the student concerned maintains good behaviour for that stated period of time, the Junior Dean may discharge the penalty.
 - (c) If, in the opinion of the Junior Dean, the student concerned does not maintain good behaviour, then at any stage during the stated period of time, the Junior Dean may reinstate the penalty; and, if the reason why the student has not maintained good behaviour amounts to a disciplinary offence, the Junior Dean may take further disciplinary action pursuant to this Schedule.

Part 4 - Summary procedure by consent in respect of major offences

9. Reference

- (1) A Junior Dean who finds that a major offence has been committed by a student shall refer the matter by notice in writing to the Chairperson of the Committee, unless
 - (a) the student admits responsibility and consents in writing to summary procedure, and
 - (b) the Junior Dean is of the opinion, having regard to all the circumstances and, in particular, the range of penalties available, that summary procedure is appropriate.

10. Academic activity and research matters

- (1) In the case of any major offence related to an academic activity, the Junior Dean shall, before making a decision pursuant to section 9, seek and take into account the views of the Senior Lecturer or the Dean of Graduate Studies, as the case may be.
- (2) In the case of any major offence relating to a research matter (including, but not limited to, research misconduct), the Junior Dean shall, before making a decision pursuant to section 9, seek and take into account the views of the Dean of Research and the Research Integrity Officer.
- (3) Such views shall include views as to an appropriate penalty.
- (4) Any such views shall be made known to the student.

11. Penalties

- (1) A Junior Dean who decides to deal with a major offence by summary procedure shall invite the student to make submissions in mitigation or otherwise relating to an appropriate penalty.
- (2) Such submissions may be made either orally or in writing, and either by the student or by the student's representative.
- (3) A Junior Dean who then decides to impose a penalty upon the student shall do so pursuant to section 8.
- (4) The student may, pursuant to section 7(2)(b) of Schedule 1 on the Committee on Student Conduct and Capacity, appeal the penalty imposed by the Junior Dean pursuant to subsection (3).

12. Withdrawal of consent

- (1) A student charged with a major offence may withdraw consent to the summary procedure at any time before penalty is imposed, by notifying the Junior Dean to this effect, who shall then refer the matter by notice in writing to the Chairperson of the Committee.

13. Suspension

- (1) Where, in the opinion of the Junior Dean, it is necessary to assist the investigation of a major offence or to prevent clear and reasonably imminent harm, the Junior Dean may suspend a student; and the Suspension Section shall apply.

Part 5 - Panel of Enquiry

14. Membership of Panel

- (1) A Panel of Enquiry shall consist of three full-time members of the academic staff and three students of the College, all chosen at random for each case, and a Chairperson; provided that the staff and student membership shall each include at least one man and one woman.

- (2) In all cases, a minute of the proceedings and, where appropriate, a full record of the proceedings, shall be kept.

16. Jurisdiction

- (1) A Panel shall have such powers and functions as defined by Board and the Statutes and Schedules, and shall hear any
 - (a) appeal against a decision of the Committee for which leave has been obtained,
 - (b) referral by the Committee pursuant to Schedule 1 on the Committee on Student Conduct and Capacity, or
 - (c) matter referred back to it by Board.
- (2) Unless the Chairperson decides otherwise, any decision being appealed to the Panel shall remain in place and shall retain full force and effect during the currency of any appeal.

17. Witnesses and evidence

- (1) The student shall, at least five days in advance of the hearing, or such longer period as the Chairperson shall specify, notify the Chairperson in writing of the names and addresses of the witnesses he or she proposes to call, and supply to the Chairperson a copy of any documents which he or she proposes to submit at the hearing.
- (2) The Chairperson shall furnish to the Junior Dean copies of all such communications as soon as practicable following their receipt.

18. Documents

- (1) The Junior Dean shall, at least five days in advance of the hearing, or such longer period as the Chairperson shall specify, cause the following documents to be served on the student and the Chairperson:
 - (a) a statement of the charges against the student,

 - (c) a summary in writing of the evidence that it is proposed should be given by each of them, and
 - (d) a list of exhibits (if any).
- (2) The student shall have the right to inspect all exhibits.
- (3) At any time the Junior Dean may, with the permission of the Chairperson, cause to be served on the student and furnished to the Panel a further summary of evidence to be given by any witness, or a statement from a new witness whose name has not already been supplied to the student. The Chairperson shall grant such permission, unless satisfied that it would be unfair to the student to accede to the Junior Dean's request.

19. Empanelment

- (1) Where two or more appeals are pending before the Panel relating either to the same incident or occasion or to sufficiently related incidents or occasions, then the Chairperson may decide to consolidate the appeals and hear them together in a single hearing before one Panel.
- (2) Where two or more appeals are pending before the Panel in matters which were either treated together by the Junior Dean or heard together in a single hearing by the Committee, the Chairperson may nevertheless decide to treat them as separate appeals and consider them in separate hearings before different Panels.
- (3) The Secretary to the Panel shall arrange for a Panel to be empanelled for each hearing.
- (4) The Chairperson may, at his or her discretion, excuse any person from serving on the Panel, where that person has a direct interest in the hearing, or in other exceptional circumstances.
- (5) An opportunity shall be afforded to each party to object without cause shown to any two people serving as panel members. In addition, the parties shall be afforded an opportunity to object for stated reasons to any number of persons serving as panel members. The Chairperson shall determine whether or not such objection shall be upheld.

- (6) A Panel may continue to operate despite the withdrawal of one member.

- (2) The Junior Dean may also avail of representation, including professional representation.

21. Proceedings

- (1) Panel hearings shall be open to members of the Community; provided that the Chairperson shall have the discretion to impose such restrictions on admission as are necessary to ensure the orderly conduct of the proceedings.
- (2) The Chairperson may, at the request of the student or Junior Dean or on the Chairperson's own initiative, order that proceedings be conducted in private if satisfied that there are good reasons for doing so; provided that the Chairperson may not make such order without the consent of each student party to the proceedings unless there are compelling reasons for doing so.

22. Procedures

- (1) A Panel shall conduct its business according to the rules set out in this Schedule; it shall otherwise determine its own procedures, and perform its functions with due enquiry.
- (2) It shall be the duty of the Chairperson to make rulings on all matters relating to the establishment, procedure and conduct of the Panel.
- (3) If, at any stage in the proceedings, the Chairperson is satisfied that there is insufficient evidence to establish an offence with which the student is charged, then the Chairperson may withdraw that offence from consideration by the Panel and direct the Panel to return a verdict of not guilty in respect thereof.

23. Documentary evidence

- (1) In any proceedings before a Panel, the Calendar and any official College or University document shall be admissible in evidence, and, unless the contrary is proven, the facts stated therein shall be presumed to be true.

- (3) The summons shall be accompanied by a copy of this Schedule and of Schedule 1 on the Committee on Student Conduct and Capacity, drawing attention in particular to the student's right to representation, to submit written evidence, and to call such witnesses in defence as the student may think fit.
- (4) The summons shall be delivered to the student by registered post, by courier delivering on behalf of the Chairperson, by personal delivery by or on behalf of any Officer, by recorded delivery, or by any other method of delivery - including electronic delivery - deemed appropriate by the Chairperson.
- (5) Where it appears to the Chairperson that due and reasonable diligence has been exercised in endeavouring to deliver a summons pursuant to subsection (4), then the Panel shall not lack for jurisdiction to deal with the case, notwithstanding that the student seeks to object that the summons was not successfully delivered.
- (6) At any stage in the proceedings, the Chairperson may direct that the specification of a charge against a student as set out in the summons be amended, and the Chairperson may make any consequential order as may seem appropriate in all the circumstances of the case.

25. Time

- (1) The summons shall be delivered to the student within 15 days of any referral of a major offence pursuant to Schedule 1 on the Committee on Student Conduct and Capacity, and the Panel shall meet within a further 15 days, or such longer period as the Chairperson shall specify.

28. Hearings

- (1) Having opened the proceedings, the Chairperson shall invite the presentation of the Junior Dean's case to the Panel. The student shall then be heard.
- (2) Where witnesses are called, they may be examined, cross-examined and/or re-examined by the parties and by members of the Panel.
- (3) When the presentation of evidence is complete, the Chairperson shall invite the parties to address concluding remarks to the Panel.
- (4) The Chairperson shall then, in the presence of the parties, address the other members of the Panel, summarising the evidence presented, giving directions as to the proper approach to the evidence adduced and instructing them as to their functions.
- (5) For the purposes of this section, a reference to the Junior Dean and the student shall include their representatives, if any.

- (2) The panellists shall then again retire to consider an appropriate penalty, which decision may be made by simple majority; and, having made their decision, their spokesperson shall, in the presence of the Panel, the Chairperson and the parties, announce it.
- (3) If, in the opinion of the Chairperson, any proposed penalty is ultra vires (beyond their powers) or unreasonable, the Chairperson may ask the panellists to reconsider the matter.
- (4) Where the panellists are equally divided or otherwise unable to decide upon an appropriate penalty, the penalty shall be determined by the Chairperson.
- (5) The Chairperson shall, following announcement of the penalty, inform the student of the right to appeal to the Visitors in the event of the Panel's decision being confirmed by Board.

Part 7 - Appeals to a Panel from decisions of the Committee

31. Hearing date

- (1) In the case of an appeal against a decision of the Committee for which leave has been obtained, the hearing of the appeal shall take place either within

- (3) The student shall be immediately notified of that decision by registered post, by courier delivering on behalf of Board, by personal delivery by or on behalf of any Officer, by recorded delivery, or by any other method of delivery - including electronic delivery - deemed appropriate by Board.
- (4) Where it appears to Board that due and reasonable diligence has been exercised in endeavouring to deliver such notification pursuant to subsection (3), then the Visitors or the Panel or a new Panel (as the case may be) shall not lack for jurisdiction to deal with the issue, notwithstanding that the student seeks to object that the notification was not successfully delivered.
- (5) Where Board has referred a matter to a new Panel for further consideration, the Chairperson, having heard submissions from the parties, shall determine the procedure to be followed, provided that the appeal shall as far as possible proceed according to Part 6. Appendix 1 - Divinity School Council

Prefatory Note

(prepared by Professor David Webb in 1993)

Until the mid-nineteenth century Divinity was the most important faculty in the College. The circumstances of the foundation ensured, of course, that its teaching was that of the Church of Ireland, and for a long time its chief function was the training of Anglican clergy, both for Ireland and overseas. In 1873 an Act of Parliament, usually known as Fawcett's Act, removed the religious tests for all offices and prizes in the University, but the Divinity School and its staff were expressly excluded from its operation. A few years later some members of the Church of Ireland became uneasy at the prospect of the Divinity School coming under the control of a Board of which the members might be of any faith or none. The Church and the College, however, could not agree on the best solution for this problem, and a controversy rumbled on for over thirty years. It was put an end to by the Letters Patent of 1911, which enacted a reasonable compromise: the Divinity School was henceforth, both in regard to teaching and appointment of Professors, to be under the control of the Divinity School Council, on which both Board and the Church of Ireland were represented. To prevent this compromise being upset by unilateral action the same Letters Patent prohibited the College from passing any statutory change that would 'alter or affect the Constitution or powers of the Divinity School Council'.

This arrangement continued satisfactorily enough until about 1960, when various changes in the College and the country began to raise doubts as to the propriety of a denominational faculty in a University otherwise free from denominational discrimination. Consequently, as teaching posts in the Divinity School fell vacant they were not filled, and the Divinity Council has, for all practical purposes, ceased to exist.

Unrepealed provisions of the Consolidated Statutes, 1966 relating to the Divinity School Council

Chapter III

Section 9, para 2

The Visitors shall hear and determine any appeal which may be made to them against a decision of the Board by the Secretary of the Divinity School Council in accordance with the provisions of Chapter XIV section 16.

Chapter IV

Section 6

The Provost shall have power to summon at any time an extraordinary meeting of ... the Divinity School Council ...

Chapter VII

Section 7

Should the Provost at any time not be, or cease to be, a member of the Church of Ireland, his place on the Divinity School Council shall be taken by the Vice-Provost, if and so long as he shall be a member of the said Church.

In this event he shall be Chairman of the Divinity School Council, and have a second or casting vote, and shall not be entitled to take part in the nomination by the Board of the five members of the Divinity School Council to be nominated by the Board.

Chapter VIII

Section 1

The Professors of the University shall be divided into ... Classes as follows:

... Class C - Professors in the Divinity School appointed by the Board on the nomination of the Divinity School Council in accordance with the provisions of Chapters XII and XIV of these Statutes, namely:

The Regius Professor of Divinity,
Archbishop King's Professor of Divinity,
*The Professor of Ecclesiastical History together with any Professors appointed to Professorships hereafter to be established in the Divinity School with the consent of the Board and the Divinity School Council.

Section 3

It shall be deemed to be an essential part of the terms of employment of every Professor that if he shall, at any time, engage in any occupation, in or out of the College, which the Board shall pronounce to be incompatible with the proper discharge of his duties as Professor, and shall not immediately abandon the same when required by it to do so, he shall be liable to deprivation of his office as Professor, provided that, in the case of a Professor in the Divinity School, the Board shall act only on the recommendation of the Divinity School Council.

Section 4

If any Professor shall be negligent in the discharge of his duty, and shall continue to be negligent after having been twice warned by the Provost, in the presence of the Board, he shall be summoned before the Board by the Provost, to answer for his negligence, a fitting time being allowed for him to prepare his defence; and if, when the case is heard, he shall be plainly convicted of negligence, he shall be deprived of his Professorship by the Board, provided always that, in the case of a Professor in the Divinity School, the Board shall act only on the recommendation of the Divinity School Council. But Professors shall have the right of appeal to the Visitors from a sentence of deprivation, provided that notice of appeal is given to the Visitors and to the Provost within seven days of the promulgation of the sentence. The Visitors shall hear and decide the appeal as quickly as possible consistently with justice, and shall have power to confirm the sentence or to annul it and render it void, or to modify it as shall to them seem just. Pending the appeal, the Professor shall perform strictly the duties of his office, and, if he shall be negligent during that time the Visitors shall inquire into this before they hear the appeal, and, taking the whole matter into account, shall decide whether the Professor shall be removed from his Professorship or otherwise punished.

* Suspended for such time as may seem good to the Board and Divinity School Council.

Section 5

If any Professor shall be prevented by sickness or any other unavoidable cause from the performance of his duties, the Board shall have the power of appointing a qualified deputy to act for him during the time of his incapacity, and of paying to such deputy a part of the salary of the Professor, as determined by the Board. The Board shall have the same power in the case of the absence of a Professor, which shall only be permitted for weighty reasons. In the case of a Professor in the Divinity School, these powers shall be exercised only on the recommendation of the Divinity School Council.

Section 8

If any Professor in Class C shall cease to be a member of the Church of Ireland, or of a Church in communion therewith, or shall, in the opinion of the Divinity School Council teach any doctrines contrary to or at variance with the doctrines of the said Church of Ireland, he shall be cited before the Divinity School Council and dealt with according to the Provisions of Chapter XIV, section 17 of these Statutes.

Section 9

Every Professor in Class C shall hold office until the last day (September 19) of the academic year in which he shall attain the age of sixty-five years, unless he shall previously have resigned his Professorship, or shall have been deprived in accordance with the provisions of these Statutes.

The duties of each Professor shall be defined from time to time by the Board with the consent of the Divinity School Council.

Section 10

No person shall be eligible to be appointed as Regius Professor of Divinity or as Archbishop King's Professor of Divinity, unless he is a Clerk in Holy Orders of the Church of Ireland or a Church in communion therewith.

Section 11

Previous to the nomination of a Regius Professor of Divinity each member of the Divinity School Council who takes part in the nomination shall solemnly declare that he will vote for that person among the candidates whom in his conscience he thinks best qualified to perform the duties of the office. The making of such declaration, together with the name of the person nominated shall be reported to the Board and entered on the College register, and whensoever it shall so happen that an election shall have been held, the same shall be signified under the seal by an instrument addressed to the Chancellor of the University, praying that he will admit the person so appointed into the said office, he having previously made the following declaration before the Chancellor:

Ego N.N. electus in professorem Sacrae Theologiae, declaro me fideliter et diligenter exerciturum munus mihi demandatum, juxta statuta hujus Collegii.

Section 12

The Board shall determine, with the consent of the Visitors and of the Divinity School Council, the terms of tenure of office of the Professors of Ecclesiastical History and of Biblical Greek.

Section 13

The regulations relating to the Professorships in Class D shall be as follows:

...

(c) The Professor of Pastoral Theology shall be nominated to the Provost and Senior Fellows by the Archbishops and Bishops of the Church of Ireland, by a writing under the hand of the Lord Primate, or, in his absence, of the Archbishop of Dublin, for the time being, provided that nobody shall be nominated who is not a Master in Arts or Doctor in Divinity of the University, and a member of the Church of Ireland in Priest's Orders. If the person so nominated shall be approved by the Provost and Senior Fellows, such person shall be by the Provost and Senior Fellows elected and declared to be the Professor. If not approved, then the Archbishops and Bishops shall proceed to nominate another properly qualified person, and so on until some person nominated by them shall be approved by the Provost and Senior Fellows, who shall thereupon declare such person to be elected.

The duties of the Professor shall be defined from time to time by the Provost and Senior Fellows, with the consent and approval of the Archbishops and Bishops of the Church of Ireland; and he shall be liable to deprivation for wilful neglect of the same. The Professor shall hold office for five years, and shall be eligible for re-election.

The Professor shall be a Professor in the School of Divinity, and shall be subject to the provisions of Chapter XIV, section 17 of these Statutes.

Section 16

Associate Professors, Readers, Senior Lecturer, Junior Lecturers and other academic officers may be appointed from time to time by the Board on the nomination of the ... Divinity School Council.

The Board, with the consent of the ... Divinity School Council, shall determine the duties and tenure of such officers, provided always that the tenure shall not extend beyond the last day (September 19) of the academic year, in which the officer attains the age of sixty-five years.

The Board shall determine the salaries of such officers, and shall make appropriate provisions for retiring pensions.

Chapter XII

Section 3A, para 1

... Laws, Statutes, or Ordinances, or alterations or amendments of such Laws, Statutes, or Ordinances shall not alter or affect ... the Constitution or powers of the Divinity School Council; and ... no ... Law, Statute, or Ordinance or ... alteration or amendment of any Law, Statute, or Ordinance dealing with studies or examinations in the Divinity School or with studies or examinations precedent to the Testimonium in Divinity shall have any effect or validity unless and until it shall have been approved by the Divinity School Council; ...

Section 3C

(2) Except so far as is otherwise provided by legislation or by direction of private founders, the Board shall have power, with the approval of the Council, to repeal or alter the rules or regulations existing at any time, or to make new rule and regulations respecting studies, instruction or examinations in any school or department of the College or University (save and except examinations for Fellowship, and save and except any studies, instruction and examination in relation to or connected with the School of Divinity) and respecting the qualifications, duties or tenure of office of any member of the academic staff, provided always that the terms of the contract under which any existing member of the academic staff was appointed shall not be varied without his consent in writing, and further provided always that the Board alone shall have the right to determine, subject to the provisions of these Statutes, the qualifications, duties and conditions of tenure for Fellowship.

Any such new rules or regulations or alterations in any such rules or regulations may be originated either by the Board or by the Council.

(3) The Board shall have power, with the approval of the Divinity School Council, to make new rules and regulations, or alterations in existing rules or regulations, respecting studies, lectures and examinations in the Divinity School precedent to and including the examination for the Divinity Testimonium, and, subject to the provisions in these Statutes relating to the Divinity School Council, shall exercise general control over the Divinity School and the duties of its teaching staff and the discipline of its students.

(4) The Board shall have power to found, with the consent of the Visitors and the Council, such new Professorships, and to found, with the consent of the Council, such other academic posts in the College and University and to create such new offices as shall seem to it to be for the advantage of the College and University, and to elect all Professors, Lecturers, and officers, and to assign to them annual salaries, provided that, except in the case of those Professorships, the nomination to which is vested in some other body or persons by legislation or by the directions of private founders, and except in the cases of the Professorships in Classes C or F, no election to a Professorship or other academic post shall be made by the Board save on the nomination of the Council, and further provided that no new Professorship in connection with the Divinity School shall be created or founded without the consent of the Divinity School Council; and that no election to a Professorship or Lectureship in the Divinity School, except in the case of those, the nomination to which is vested in some other body or persons by legislation or by directions of private founders, shall be made except on the nomination of the Divinity School Council.

The Board shall have power, on the nomination of the Divinity School Council, to elect to the office of Regius Professor of Divinity, any person who is a Clerk in Holy Orders in the Church of Ireland or in a church in communion therewith, and who holds a degree of an approved university.

Section 18

The Board shall have power to appoint all Examiners, except where otherwise provided by the specific directions of private founders, and except in so far as, in reference to Divinity Examinations, powers are conferred in these Statutes on the Divinity School Council, and, in reference to External Examiners, on the University Council.

Chapter XIII

Section 1, para 3

The Council shall have no power to legislate for or advise the Board on those studies which are entrusted to the Divinity School Council under the provisions of Chapter XIV of these Statutes. It shall however, be competent to make regulations concerning such courses in theology or biblical studies as may be provided for students other than those in the School of Divinity.

Section 2, para 3

The Council shall nominate to the Board for appointment all persons to be appointed to posts on the academic staff (other than Fellowship, and posts in the School of Divinity), including temporary and part-time appointments. It shall also nominate to the Board persons suitable for promotion to a higher grade in the academic staff (other than Fellowship).

(ii) Archbishop King's Professor of Divinity for the time being.

(iii) One member to be nominated from time to time by and from amongst the said Teaching Staff, other than the said Regius Professor, Archbishop King's Professor of Divinity, and any member of the said Staff who may have been nominated as aforesaid by the Board.

4. Should the Provost at any time not be, or cease to be, a member of the Church of Ireland, his place on the Divinity School Council shall be taken by the Vice-Provost, if and so long as he shall be a member of the said Church.

Should the Vice-Provost not be, or cease to be, a member of the said Church, the Board shall nominate another person, being a member of the said Church, to take the place of the Provost, or the Vice-Provost, in the event of his becoming a member of the Divinity School Council, under the provisions hereinbefore contained, or the person so nominated as aforesaid, as the case may be, shall be Chairman of the Divinity School Council, and have a second or casting vote, and shall not be entitled to take part in the nomination by the Board of the said five members of the Divinity School Council as hereinbefore provided.

5. Should the Provost or the Vice-Provost, as the case may be, or any other member of the Divinity School Council, nominated by the Board under any of the provisions hereinbefore contained, be unable to attend any meeting of the Divinity School Council, the Board shall, on receiving due notice of such inability, nominate a substitute or substitutes from a list previously prepared by them to take the place of him or them at such meeting; and in the event of the Provost, or Vice-Provost, or the person nominated to take the place of the Provost or Vice-Provost as aforesaid, being unable to attend such meetings, the person nominated as substitute shall be Chairman of the Divinity School Council at such meeting, and have a casting vote as aforesaid.

7. No member of the Divinity School Council shall be entitled to attend or vote at any election to an office for which he is a candidate.

Should either the Regius Professor of Divinity, Archbishop King's Professor of Divinity, or the member of the Divinity School Council nominated by the Teaching staff be debarred from attending and voting at any Council meeting by his candidature for an office in the patronage of the said Council, as hereinbefore provided, his place shall, subject as hereinafter provided, be filled for that occasion by that member of the teaching staff not thus disqualified and not already a member of the said Council who shall be senior in order of first appointment on the teaching staff not thus disqualified and not already a member of the said Council who shall be senior in order of first appointment on the teaching staff. Provided that Professors in all cases shall rank for this purpose as senior to other members of the teaching staff and amongst themselves in the following order, viz: The Professor of Ecclesiastical History, the Professor of Biblical Greek, the Professor of Pastoral Theology, and that the Wallace Divinity Lecturer shall for the same purpose rank last in order of seniority on the teaching staff.

9. Each member of the Divinity School Council (other than the Provost or Vice-Provost, as the case may be, and the said Regius Professor and Archbishop King's Professor of Divinity) shall continue in office for three years from the date of his nomination as a member of the Divinity School Council. At the end of such periods nominations for the vacant offices shall be made as hereinbefore provided, and the outgoing members shall in all cases be re-eligible.

10. In the event of any casual vacancy occurring by death, resignation, or otherwise, among the members of the Divinity School Council nominated by the Board, or by the Bishops, or by the teaching staff of the said Divinity School, such vacancy shall be filled by the like nomination by the Board or the said Bishops, or the said Teaching Staff, as the case may be, of a duly qualified person.

12. The Divinity School Council shall, subject to the approval of the Board, determine and decide upon all courses of study, lectures, and examinations in the Divinity School precedent to and including the examination for the Divinity Testimonium, and shall, subject as aforesaid, select, and appoint the examiners at such examinations, and shall also, subject as aforesaid, determine and decide upon all courses of study and examinations in the College in connection with the Church of Ireland, and shall also, subject as aforesaid, from time to time, make such Rules and Regulations, or alterations in existing Rules and Regulations, as may be necessary for the purposes aforesaid. 13. New Rules and Regulations, or alterations in existing Rules or Regulations, respecting studies, lectures, and examinations in the Divinity School, may be originated either by the Board or by the Divinity School Council, but no such Rules, Regulations, or alterations shall take effect without the approval both of the Board and of the Divinity School Council.

16. In exercising the said powers of nomination to any such Professorship, Lectureship, or Deputyship, the Divinity School Council may nominate or appoint any person who, in addition to possessing any required qualification, is a member of the Church of Ireland or of a Church in communion therewith. All such nominations shall be subject to the approval of the Board: and in the event of the Board refusing their approval to the nomination by the Divinity School Council, the Chancellor of the University shall decide whether the grounds for such refusal are sufficient. If they shall appear to him to be insufficient, he shall declare the person nominated by the Divinity School Council to be duly elected; if otherwise, the Divinity School Council shall proceed to a fresh nomination. If no election shall take place within a space of six calendar months from the date of the vacancy, or from the time of the creation of any new Professorship or Lectureship, or upon the occurrence of any event necessitating the nomination of a Deputy, the right of nomination and election for the purpose of filling up the said vacancy, or of appointing to such new Professorship, Lectureship or Deputyship, shall vest in the Chancellor.

17. If any Professor or Deputy to any Professor, or other member of the teaching staff of the Divinity School, shall cease to be either a member of the Church of Ireland or of a Church in communion therewith, or shall, in the opinion of the Divinity School Council, teach any doctrines contrary to or at variance with the doctrines of the said Church of Ireland, he shall be cited to appear before the Divinity School Council, and due time to prepare for his defence shall be allowed him in the citation; and if, on hearing the cause and defence, he shall be convicted by the Divinity School Council of the matter charged against him, then he shall be removed from his office, or otherwise dealt with by the Divinity School Council as they may think fit: provided always that any such Professor, Deputy, or member of the teaching staff may, within 14 days from the date of the publication of any decision of the Divinity School Council, appeal from such decision to the Court of the General Synod of the Church of Ireland, which may either affirm or reverse such decision, or otherwise deal with the cause as it may think fit.

18. If any member of the Divinity School Council nominated by the teaching staff of the Divinity School shall, from any cause, permanently cease to teach in the Divinity School, he shall cease to be a member of the Divinity School Council.

19. It shall not be in the power of the Board to alter or affect the constitution or powers of the Divinity School Council.
