How does B.E.S.S. support your development and prepare you for your future career?

Knowledge and Attributes

- B.E.S.S. gives students the opportunity to engage with the four fields of Business, Economics, Political Science and Sociology in their first year. The option to specialise in either one (single honor) or two (joint honors) chosen subjects and disciplines opens up a variety of career pathways.
- Helps you to develop the Trinity Graduate Attributes - to think independently, to communicate effectively, to act responsibly and to develop continuously.
- Offers excellent training in the social sciences helping students develop strong analytical skills and the ability to create coherent arguments.
- Trinity Electives, Open Modules and Erasmus/Exchange opportunities allow students to broaden their mindset.
- Various forms of continuous assessments - such as essays and project work - facilitate original thinking and nurture the ability to think independently.
- Students gain experience in communicating their work to others, through either individual presentations or classroom discussions.
- Group assignments give students experience in collaborative work and in incorporating disparate viewpoints into their own analyses.
- Studying B.E.S.S. gives students an appreciation of the value of diversity and of the potential gain from synthesizing information from different sources.
