Trinity College Dublin, the University of Dublin, welcomes applications from students from all over the world. What we look for in your application depends on the education system you are coming from, as well as the Trinity programme you are applying for. This guide will help you to identify what the requirements will be for you.

To be admitted to an undergraduate programme at Trinity, you must meet four categories of requirement:

1. Minimum entry requirements for the University
2. Subject-specific requirements for the programme
3. Overall competitive requirements for the programme
4. Additional requirements

1. Minimum Entry Requirements for the University

Minimum entry requirements are the basic criteria you must meet to be considered for admission to Trinity. This includes a full set of 6 valid subjects from your high school or secondary examination system. If you did not study 6 subjects in your final year of high school, you can use additional subjects from Year 10 or later.

You must also have pass grades in English and Mathematics at Year 10 or later. Year 10 is equivalent to the GCE Ordinary Level, Indian Standard 10, High School 10th Grade, etc.

Most applicants must also have a pass grade in a language other than English at Year 10 (GCE Ordinary Level, High School 10th Grade, etc.) or later. This requirement may not apply to applicants who need a standardised English language qualification (e.g. TOEFL, IELTS, Pearson test of English, see 4. Additional Requirements, below) because they received their high school or secondary education in a country where English is not the primary language.

For more details on Minimum Entry Requirements for the Leaving Certificate or A-levels, see www.tcd.ie/study/apply/admission-requirements/undergraduate

2. Subject-Specific Requirements for the Programme

Some programmes require that you have studied specific subjects in your high school or secondary education and achieved certain grades in those subjects. For example, Theoretical Physics requires both Mathematics and Physics, whereas programmes like Psychology or Law have no specific subject requirements.

To see what subjects are required for each programme, see Table 4. To see what subjects are included in the Science Groups (A, B, C and D), refer to Table 2.

Subject requirements have a level 1 to 5, representing the grade required. To see what these levels mean in your examination system, see Table 1. If your examination system is not listed on this table, please contact international@tcd.ie, and check if it is accepted for admission to the Trinity International Foundation Programme (see Trinity International Foundation Programme section, page 18).

3. Overall Competitive Requirements for the Programme

To meet the competitive requirements for a programme, the overall result in your final high school or secondary examinations must meet a certain band: 1, 2 or 3. To see what these bands mean in your system, refer to Table 3. Some examination systems have an additional “Special” band if they are accepted for admission to restricted programmes: Medicine and Dental Science.

You can see which band applies to each programme in Table 4.

If your examination system is not on Table 3, please contact international@tcd.ie, and check if it is accepted for admission to the Trinity International Foundation Programme (see Trinity International Foundation Programme section, page 18).

Trinity College Dublin, the University of Dublin, welcomes applications from students from all over the world.

Admissions Guide for Postgraduate Applications

Application Process
Entry to Irish universities is competitive, and no graduate applicant, from Ireland or any other country has an automatic right to admission. Most courses at Trinity have a restricted number of places available for postgraduate students.

The range of studies on offer is vast and the standard set for postgraduate study is exceptionally high. This combination, together with the range of ancillary facilities in the immediate vicinity of the University, offers an almost unparalleled learning experience to all postgraduate students.

Online Applications
All course information and online application details are available at www.tcd.ie/courses/postgraduate.

To apply to a course, find the course page from the link above, and click Apply.

Throughout the application and admission process, communications between Trinity and the applicant will primarily be via online messaging within the my.tcd.ie portal, and via email. Please note that incomplete applications cannot be processed. Applicants must make all reasonable effort prior to registration to ensure that the course/programme they are registering for meets their expectations by:

- Accessing all information available on the courses website www.tcd.ie/courses/postgraduate and the specific school/course web pages linked on this site.
- Once you have submitted an online application you will be sent an acknowledgment email to the email address you provided when setting up your user account on my.tcd.ie applicant portal.
- The applicant portal will allow you to send and receive communications in respect of your application to Trinity. You will be able to track the progress of your application at every stage of the admissions process; update your personal information, view decisions made on your application(s) and accept or refuse any offers you may receive.
- Entry Requirements
Postgraduate study in Trinity is academically challenging and as a result the University has high academic entry requirements. Applicants will need to:
  - hold at least a 2.1 honours degree from an Irish university or equivalent result from a university in another country
  - meet the English language requirements
Some courses may require higher standards or require you to take further tests or attend an interview.

Supporting Documents

Your first days at Trinity

Freshers’ Week

Trinity offers orientation to all new postgraduate and undergraduate students prior to the start of the academic year. This week of orientation is known as Freshers’ Week. There are no classes, so it’s all about meeting your new classmates, student support information sessions, seeing what sports clubs and societies you want to join, meeting your student mentor who will give you a tour of campus and organise social events, meeting your tutor who will provide support to you throughout your years in Trinity, and of course, the Freshers’ Ball. During Freshers’ Week you can also meet people from the Sports Centre, the Library and Student Supports and Services. These are the services whose job it is to make sure that you get the best out of your time in Trinity.

www.tcd.ie/students/orientation

A specific International Postgraduate Student Orientation takes place before teaching commences. Details are available at: www.tcd.ie/students/orientation/postgraduates

What Happens After Freshers’ Week?

After the excitement of Freshers’ Week, teaching starts and you get a chance to settle into your course. Most classes are a mixture of lectures and tutorials and some have practicals as well. The tutorials are less formal and give you a chance to explore and discuss the topics covered in lectures with your classmates and teaching assistants.

Your class representative and your mentors organise events throughout the year that give you further opportunities to get to know your classmates.

Trinity in Twelve Weeks

The “Trinity in Twelve Weeks” virtual programme aims to continue your orientation during your first semester and help you transition to university life. The programme has a new theme every week, from study and exam skills to how to look after yourself while at university. Your mentors will be in touch with you every week to let you know what the week’s theme is and to arrange events and activities.

Find out more at: www.tcd.ie/students/orientation/twelve-weeks

Student Societies

At Trinity, we have 120 student societies which constitute some of the most dynamic and active university student societies in Ireland with everything from the Animation Society to the Zoological Society. We are home to the world’s oldest student societies, the “Híst” or Historical Society founded in 1770 and the ‘Phil’ which is the oldest debating society in the world, founded in 1683, and whose guests have included everyone from Hollywood heavyweights such as Martin Scorsese to International Space Station commander Chris Hadfield. Student Entertainment

University life is about so much more than just education and nowhere is this more evident than at Trinity. The University sits in the heart of Dublin city where there are endless extracurricular and recreational opportunities. You can immerse yourself in a broad range of sports clubs and student societies and through these activities you will get a real sense of the ‘Trinity Experience’, something that extends far beyond lectures, tutorials and exams.

You will also have the benefit of one of the best Students’ Unions in the country, providing students with a wide range of entertainment and events throughout your time in Trinity.

E3 - Balanced Solutions for a Better World

Trinity has embarked on an ambitious project to expand education and research activities across three of its Schools: The Schools of Engineering, Natural Sciences, and Computer Science & Statistics. This expansion is being executed as a single strategic activity in the area of “Engineering, Environment, and Emerging Technologies”, or E3.

At the forefront of this expansion will be the new Martin Naughton E3 Learning Factory in February 2023. The 7,256 square metre new learning facility based on the main Trinity campus. The building will deliver new teaching facilities and an innovative interactive learning space for students in E3 programmes. It will also deliver new courses in Smart and Sustainable Cities, Climate Change, Environmental Science and Engineering, and Computer Science and Geography.

With our leading research professors and staff, graduates will become co-creators of their futures and that of generations to come. They will seek out ‘balanced solutions for a better world’ and enable society to live on this planet in a more sustainable and equitable way. E3 will position Ireland at the forefront of research in Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics (the STEM disciplines), that are crucial for future economic competitiveness. It will educate engineers and scientists for employment in existing and new technology sectors, equip them with the skills and attributes to lead in the creation of new businesses, and place Ireland in a leadership role globally for the quality of graduates in the STEM disciplines.
