This tradition finds expression today in a campus culture of scholarship, innovation, creativity, entrepreneurship and dedication to societal reform.

Distinctive Features of the Trinity Education

As a student at Trinity College Dublin you will have the opportunity to develop a strong expertise in your chosen subject areas but we believe that a university education should also encourage you to broaden your experience and your perspective beyond your core subjects.

This is why we have developed the seven features that make a Trinity Education distinctive. These features help our students to develop the qualities, skills and behaviours which are encompassed by the four Trinity Graduate Attributes: to think independently; to communicate effectively; to develop continuously; and to act responsibly.

Capstone Project

Trinity is a research-led university where every student has the opportunity to do a Capstone project as part of their undergraduate education. The Capstone project is a substantial independent research project that you will normally carry out in your final year. It will enable you to put into practice the skills and knowledge that you have acquired over your programme of study and to further develop the Trinity Graduate Attributes.

Global Mobility

The opportunity to study or work abroad as part of your studies is a key element of the Trinity Education. One third of our eligible undergraduate students currently avail of global mobility opportunities and we plan to increase this to one in two students over the coming years. Students usually avail of mobility opportunities in their third year of study in eligible programmes. Trinity is an international university with a diverse staff and student population that collaborates in international educational and research networks. In addition to exchange opportunities, you will study with peers, and be taught by academic staff, from all over the world.

Employability

Trinity is committed to preparing its students for the ever-changing challenges of the 21st-century workplace. Trinity is first in Ireland for employer reputation and alumni outcomes (QS Graduate Employability Ranking 2020). This is reflected in the Trinity Graduate Attributes and a wealth of opportunities for learning experiences that contribute to your employability. As a Trinity student you will have the chance to apply for the Trinity Employability Awards, run in partnership with key employers, and bid for innovative scholarships designed to help you develop research and leadership skills for both your degree program and your future career.

Trinity Electives

Trinity Electives are standalone modules that will give you the opportunity to broaden your knowledge beyond your own discipline. You can choose from a range of exciting modules that allow you to engage with Trinity's ground-breaking research, to experience diverse languages and cultures, and to consider how we can address key societal challenges. Each Trinity Elective has been designed specifically to help you develop the Trinity Graduate Attributes.

Co-Curriculum

Trinity students are encouraged to actively participate in the 170 student societies and sports clubs on campus. You'll learn outside the classroom through engaging with student life and through other extra-curricular activities such as internships and volunteering, which all support the development of the Trinity Graduate Attributes. As you progress through your years at Trinity, you will regularly reflect on your co-curricular activities and keep track of what you have learned from your experiences.

Open Modules

Open Modules are modules that are taught as part of other programmes but are complementary and related to your own programme of study. Choosing Open Modules will allow you to broaden your perspective on your core discipline(s) through exposure to knowledge, skills and ways of thinking associated with related fields. Open Modules will provide you with a wealth of opportunities to enrich the study of your core curriculum and to develop the Trinity Graduate Attributes.

Partners in Learning

At Trinity, we see students and staff as partners in the learning process. We expect students to actively engage with their programme of study, in collaboration with their instructors. Alongside traditional examinations you will be engaging in diverse forms of assessment, such as presentations, group projects, blogs, and essays. You will receive continuous feedback on your learning and build on what you have learned through the assessment process, developing both mastery of the subject matter and transferable skills.

Trinity Graduate Attributes

Students come to Trinity not only to acquire a certain set of facts or competencies but because they have an understanding of the sort of person they want to become. Building on the strong value placed on a solid disciplinary formation, we wanted to answer the question ‘what kind of person can I be?’ We distilled this sense of transformation into four Trinity Graduate Attributes listed below.

Trinity: A University of Global Consequence

Trinity can be Your University

A warm Trinity welcome awaits all our students. We believe that a diverse campus adds to the Trinity Experience for everyone, enhances their personal development and enriches the culture of the University.

Trinity is an open and inclusive university and we are proud to keep these values at our core.

- ▶ 26% of the student body are from outside Ireland, providing a true global community on Trinity's campus.
- ▶ The majority of undergraduate full degree entrants to Trinity are Irish.
- ▶ 24% of students gain admission to Trinity via educational access pathways. These include socio-economically disadvantaged students, students with a disability, and mature students. The Trinity Access Program (TAP) provides a range of post-entry supports for students entering the University through these routes.

A Diverse University

Diversity and inclusion are core values of Trinity, underpinned by specific commitments which aim to create "a community based on a collegiality in which all are encouraged to use their talents to achieve their potential." (Trinity College Dublin Strategic Plan, 2014-2019).

Our college community is composed of a rich mix of individuals who, through their own distinctive viewpoints, contribute to the intellectually challenging culture of the University. We are proud of Trinity's successes in diversity and inclusion, for example, in access to education, in gender equality, in recognition of LGBT issues, and in disability issues.

As Ireland's foremost university our campus ethos is not only about respect and understanding, but an ethos where difference in individuals and in groups is supported and celebrated.

Our student community is representative of a broad range of gender, nationality, ability, age, sexual orientation, religion and socio-economic status. The diversity of the University's clubs and societies reflects this diversity within the Trinity community.

Trinity's Location

Your University, Your City

Trinity sits in the heart of Dublin's city centre and over the centuries the city has grown-up around the University. Today, this is a great advantage for our students. Dublin is a vibrant, young, European capital city and everything the city has to offer is easily accessible to Trinity students. The vast array of restaurants, cafés, delis and coffee shops (most offering student deals and discounts) cater for every taste and budget. Dublin's theaters, museums, bars and clubs ensure that there is always something exciting for students to enjoy every day of the year. There are plenty of places to shop, whether that's for your weekly groceries or a browse through leading high street stores on Grafton or Henry Street.

If you want to take time out to relax in nature, the city's parks (including Phoenix Park, one of the largest urban parks in Europe), an easily accessible coastline, beaches and the Dublin Mountains are all close to hand. For those new to the city, Dublin quickly becomes a home away from home, while for those students from Dublin, coming to Trinity gives them the chance to discover their city anew.

Building a Trinity Class

Irish Students

- ▶ The majority of undergraduate full degree entrants are Irish.
- ▶ Irish admission is based solely on the nationally-administered Leaving Certificate examination.
- ▶ As Ireland's most selective university, Trinity typically accepts top Leaving Certificate students.

International Students

Approximately 26% of the student body (undergraduate and postgraduate) are from outside of Ireland from over 120 countries. Students from EU countries are admitted based on examination and school results. The admissions criteria for non-EU international students vary by country and are determined by the teaching processes in each country.

US Applicant Profile

Diverting from the traditional path of a US-based college education is a brave and audacious step.

A small percent of US high school students explore the option of pursuing an international degree. It is a bold choice and an exciting prospect. Whether inspired by a relative, advised by a counselor or driven by curiosity, most students who consider going abroad for their degrees are adventurous and genuinely interested in expanding their worldview.

No two Trinity students are alike, but many of our international students are:

- ▶ Independently-minded
- ▶ Passport holders who have traveled outside the US (though not necessarily to Ireland)
- ▶ Aware of the long-term value of global citizenship
- ▶ Eager to immerse themselves in their interests
- ▶ Inquisitive and willing to approach things in different ways
- ▶ Ready to experience life in a modern EU capital city
- ▶ Driven towards a particular area of study
- ▶ Academically strong, with a record of achievement in core areas
- ▶ Deeply committed, as shown through a progressive course of academic pursuits

The best way for students to determine whether an international education may be right for them is to talk with current international students, either during a visit to campus or via email or Skype. Trinity's student ambassadors give tours of campus, share their experiences and answer questions for interested students.

Daniel O'Brien
Business and Economics
Philadelphia, USA

When I left Dublin in May 2016 – my last trip home after four years studying at Trinity College Dublin – part of me felt as if I was equally leaving a home I had grown to know and love.

A proud American, born and raised in Philadelphia, I completed my undergraduate degree in Business and Economics at Trinity and wrapped up what has so far been undoubtedly the four best years of my life.

For me, answering the question of where I went to college has always involved fielding a familiar array of well-intentioned – if somewhat tiresome – reactions. “But all the Irish want to come here,” you can almost see people thinking. “Ireland is for taking tours through green fields and sleepy old towns. Besides, America is home to the best schools the world has to offer.”

Addressing these misconceptions over the years has allowed me to reflect on a number of issues tied up in that discussion, not least of which is trying to figure out what I wanted from my time in college.

Some of my most formative memories were made in Dublin, and the city still houses many of my closest friends. I know the streets by heart, and more importantly I know which to avoid. At the same time, being abroad has made me appreciate my hometown in more ways that I ever thought was possible. So when people ask me why I went to Trinity, or why I went to Ireland for college at all, my answer always focuses on the unique doors I've opened rather than some of the more mundane ones I may have missed.”

Joseph Lanzillotta
BBS (Bachelor of Business Studies)
New York, USA

I first saw Trinity when I was 14 and thought it looked like Hogwarts. This inspired three years research into the university. When it came time to apply for college, I knew I wanted to study international business. I chose Trinity to study business internationally and stand out as the only graduate of my 600-student high school class who chose a university outside of the United States. I ultimately turned down a full scholarship to an American university to attend Trinity.

Trinity is home to a diverse population of students and staff but still feels like a small community. One year there were fifteen guys on the Trinity Men's volleyball team and none of them were from the same country. More than anything my time at Trinity has shown me how much people from around the world have in common. Dublin is an exciting city to live in and an easy one to get out of when you want to take a breath and enjoy Ireland's natural beauty. The Irish are known for telling great stories and my time at Trinity has given me many to tell myself.”

Application Process

Entry to Irish universities is competitive, and no graduate applicant, from Ireland or any other country has an automatic right to admission. Most courses at Trinity have a restricted number of places available for postgraduate students.

The range of studies on offer is vast and the standard set for postgraduate study is exceptionally high. This combination, together with the range of ancillary facilities in the immediate vicinity of the university, offers an almost unparalleled learning experience to all postgraduates.

Online Applications

All course information and online application details are available at www.tcd.ie/courses/postgraduate/az. All applications for postgraduate research and taught programs should be made online by logging on to my.tcd.ie

Throughout the application and admission process, communications between Trinity and the applicant will primarily be via online messaging within the my.tcd.ie portal, and via email. Please note that incomplete applications cannot be processed and unsuccessful applications will not be returned.

Applicants should make all reasonable effort prior to registration to ensure that the course/program they are registering for meets their expectations, by:

- ▶ Contacting the relevant course coordinator or prospective supervisor/research director.

My undergrad was in linguistics and for my masters, I wanted to study how speech and language are processed practically and computationally. I had learned a lot of theory already and wanted to get my hands dirty. I emailed several professors and they gave me detailed explanations of the Speech and Language Processing course. It was right up my alley so I went for it!

Even before arriving at Trinity, my communications with the professors via email were superb. They gave me detailed explanations of the course so I knew what to expect and what I was getting myself into. From then until the end of my course, they maintained that excellent level of communication and availability. Because of the small class sizes, I felt comfortable asking questions and reaching out whenever I needed. They really were my mentors who guided and inspired me on a personal level.

Everyone should know about Ryanair. Ireland's proximity to all the European countries, plus Ryanair's super affordable airfare means that lots of adventures and travels can happen when one isn't book studying. There is a lot to learn from travelling and experiencing other cultures and it's all within easy reach! "

I decided to study at Trinity College Dublin because I was familiar with the college after studying abroad while in undergrad.

I always knew I wanted to get back to living in Dublin so when I heard about the MSc in Marketing, I applied. Coming to study at Trinity was an eye-opening experience. From my classmates to my professors I felt that studying at Trinity prepared me to be a citizen of the world. I would recommend that a student considering to attend Trinity if possible, visit.

And if it's not possible to book a visit, get in touch with the on-the-ground team in the US who are very responsive and helpful when making this huge decision. Trinity and Dublin are open to each other - you can meet anyone strolling through Front Square, friend or celebrity or even Prince Harry! "

Student Life at Trinity

Your First Year at Trinity

Freshers' Week

What happens after you join us in Trinity? Your first week is known as Freshers' Week. There are no classes, so it's all about meeting your new classmates, information sessions, seeing what sports clubs and societies you want to join, meeting your student mentor who will give you a tour of campus and organise social events, meeting your tutor who will provide support to you throughout your years in Trinity, and of course, the Freshers' Ball.

During Freshers' Week you can also meet people from the Sports Centre, the Library and Student Supports and Services (e.g. Student Counselling, Health Service, Disability Service, Chaplaincy, Student Learning Service, Careers Service and the Day Nursery). These are the services whose job it is to make sure that you get the best out of your time in Trinity.

What happens after Freshers' Week?

After the excitement of Freshers' Week, teaching starts and you get a chance to settle into your course. Most classes are a mixture of lectures and tutorials and some have practicals as well. The tutorials are less formal and give you a chance to explore and discuss the topics covered in lectures with your classmates and teaching assistants.

Your class representative and your mentors organise events throughout the year that give you further opportunities to get to know your classmates.

As the first year progresses there are many other events to make sure that you enjoy your time in Trinity, including Re-Freshers' Week in week 4, which gives you another chance to join sports clubs and societies.

Trinity in Twelve Weeks

The "Trinity in Twelve Weeks" Program aims to continue your orientation during your first semester and help your transition to university life. The 'Trinity in Twelve Weeks' Program has a new theme every week, through study and exam skills to how to look after yourself while you're at university. Your mentors will be in touch with you every week to let you know what the week's theme is and to arrange events and activities.

Student Life

Student Entertainment

University life is about so much more than just education and nowhere is this more evident than at Trinity. Trinity sits in the heart of Dublin city where there are endless extracurricular and recreational opportunities. You can immerse yourself in a broad range of sports clubs and student societies and through these activities you will get a real sense of the 'Trinity Experience', something that extends far beyond lectures, tutorials and exams. You will also have the benefit of one of the best Students' Unions in the country, providing students with a wide range of entertainment and events throughout your time in Trinity.

Trinity Ball

At the end of the academic year, Trinity hosts the biggest private party in Europe. The Trinity Ball sees more than 7,000 students in ball gowns and tuxedos enjoying Trinity's very own music festival. Marquees and stages are set up across campus, with festivities kicking off at 10pm and acts playing until 5am.

The Pav

The Pavilion Bar, affectionately known as the Pav, is located at the heart of Trinity, overlooking College Park. There really is nothing better than sitting out on the grass with your friends when the sun is shining and the Pav provides a place for you to chill out and enjoy a green oasis.

Dublin is an incredible city for students and Trinity's location in Dublin city centre was very appealing to me. One of the best things about Trinity is the society culture and the myriad of societies and clubs to choose from. Not only is there something for everyone, these societies welcome newcomers with such enthusiasm and really try to make everyone feel welcome. Alec Bickerstaff, Connecticut, USA

History and Political Science student

I hadn't really considered studying outside of the US, but was really impressed by my first contact with Trinity at a talk at school. I also met with the Head of Admissions at Trinity's Open Day held in the US. The individual contact, support and attention from Trinity staff has been second to none.

All my professors are truly excellent. I've been surprised at how available they have been. They also teach tutorials, which is amazing. I'm living in Trinity Hall campus accommodation, which is great. There are plenty of US students around, but I'm so happy to be sharing with other Irish students, as it gives me the opportunity to integrate and experience Irish culture at another level.

Trinity is committed to educating globally aware and engaged citizens and as such, Trinity students are strongly encouraged to explore opportunities to study, work, or volunteer abroad. Gaining international experience gives our students the opportunity to experience new ways of learning, to learn about different cultures and demonstrate your ability to work internationally after graduation.

Study, Work and Volunteer Abroad

Trinity students can study abroad as an integral part of their degree and Trinity has partnership agreements with many other world-leading universities.

Trinity is a long-standing participant in the Erasmus Program for European exchange, and there are hundreds of options for students who wish to study in Europe. Students may also study overseas at partner institutions in Australia, Canada, China, Hong Kong, India, Japan, Latin America, South Korea, Russia, Singapore, the United States, and New Zealand.

Our students on non-EU exchanges are able to take advantage of our International Welcome Program. The International Welcome Program connects Trinity students on exchange abroad with alumni volunteers in the local region. More than 140,000 Trinity alumni are based across 158 countries worldwide and Trinity students benefit enormously from their expertise on their study abroad destinations. It gives students an initial point of contact and support in their new country to help them really enjoy and make the most of their time overseas! Summer Programs

Many of our prestigious partner universities offer short summer programs in cities across the world. Each year Trinity students are offered discounted prices and a number of tuition-free places with our partners: www.tcd.ie/study/other-courses/summer-schools

Short-term Study Abroad: Module Elective

Some courses also have shorter-term international field trips available as elective modules. Final year students in our School of Natural Science can take a module in Tropical Ecology and Conservation. This involves an 11-day residential field course in East Africa at the Great Rift Valley.

Working Abroad

Trinity's Careers Service works with employers across the world to offer international work experience and job opportunities to Trinity students and graduates. Gaining international experience enhances a student's employability, helps them to develop new skills and to gain a better understanding of working in an international environment. They are able to articulate the benefits they gained during their time abroad, such as improving their language skills and getting intercultural experience, making them well-prepared for the international jobs market.
