Top FAQs
For US applicants

Applying
- What’s the top tip for applying from the US?
  Firstly, reach out to your local Trinity representative. We have a number of in-country representatives that provide a host of supports, from individual meetings, video calls and group webinars, to help with all aspects of Trinity life. All our representatives can be found on the back cover of this guide or at www.tcd.ie/study/country/usa
- What percentage of students does Trinity accept?
  We receive hundreds of US applications and can accept a much higher percent of qualified applicants than top US schools. Our rankings do not depend on percent of students accepted.
- Is a Trinity degree recognised in the US?
  Our 4-year degree programmes are recognised globally. US employers have strong awareness of Trinity’s history of academic excellence. There are strong alumni networks in most major US cities and around the world, creating opportunities for mentoring and networking for all graduates.

Fees and Funding
- Are scholarships available?
  Trinity offers a number of scholarships for prospective and current students. Full scholarship information is available here:
  www.tcd.ie/study/international/scholarships

Studying at Trinity
- Can I change my major?
  Students apply and are admitted to a specific course. There are no “General Education” requirements, students begin their specific course of study immediately. Changes are made by students each year however changing to another course is challenging and uncommon. Changes are considered on a case-by-case basis.
- Do you have Study Abroad programmes?
  Trinity offers the opportunity to study in 300 universities around the world. Some courses, particularly those with language components, require that some time be spent outside of Ireland. Other courses may have direct links with corresponding departments in international partner universities.
  See www.tcd.ie/study/study-abroad for further information.
- How many students attend Trinity?

- What is the average class size?
  Class size varies from course to course. Some large classes, like BSS (Business, Social and Social Studies), will have 1st and 2nd year lectures of over 100 people, while large small-group tutorials of 15-20. Smaller courses like Art History or Classics will have fewer students in each class. Third- and fourth-year modules will be significantly smaller.

Peter Hyatt – USA
Postgraduate: Bioengineering

“Having lived in the US most of my life, I’ve always wanted to travel to see the rest of the world. The MSc in Bioengineering matched my specific academic interest unlike any other school and it’s in a place that I knew had an amazing and fun culture. Stepping out of your comfort zone is one of the hardest things to do but is often the first step to making amazing memories. The only thing you’ll regret is not taking your opportunity.”

Stevens Institute of Technology
Postgraduate: Biological Sciences, MSc

“I am from a very small town in New Jersey and I was looking for a university which offered both a distinct environment and a great academic atmosphere. I found both at Trinity. The course I chose, Advanced Materials Science, is one of the most unique programs I’ve seen. I decided to study it as I have always been interested in materials and the role they play in our lives. I am very happy with my choice and can’t wait to start my degree!”

Dara McAvoy

“Trinity is a very unique institution which offers students both the opportunity to achieve their academic goals and to fully experience life in Dublin. This combination of academic and social stimulation makes Trinity one of the most exciting places to be.”

Postgraduate Research

at Trinity College Dublin, the University of Dublin

Trinity is recognised as one of the world’s leading research-intensive universities and its research continues to address issues of global, societal and economic importance.

Trinity has research strengths that span the Sciences, Medicine, Engineering, Business, Arts and Humanities, a spectrum that is mirrored by our broad range of taught postgraduate courses and research opportunities at masters and doctorate level.

Applying for a Master’s by Research or Ph.D. at Trinity

As a truly international university, we welcome applications from prospective postgraduate students globally and we hope you will consider choosing Trinity for your postgraduate research.

1. Find a Potential Academic Supervisor

As Ireland’s leading university for research Trinity offers ample opportunities for postgraduate research. To find out more you should explore Trinity’s research areas and determine your subject area of interest. The next step is to make contact with academic staff in relevant fields and identify a potential supervisor. To assist you with both steps, the Trinity website is comprehensive and features all relevant information about our research activities, as well as full research profiles of our staff.

2. Make Contact with Potential Academic Supervisor

Contact potential academic supervisors with a brief research proposal or idea, demonstrating your interest and relevant experience in the research area. If an academic staff member is willing to support your application for a Ph.D. position, they will direct you to the school’s online application page. Please note that some schools at Trinity have specific guidelines for applying for a Ph.D. position. It is important to check the Schools’ webpage for any additional information at: www.tcd.ie/courses/postgraduate/research/az.php

3. Submit your Application

You will need to submit your application by following the guidelines given to you by your potential supervisor. Your application will need to include a detailed research proposal, as well as transcripts, proof of English proficiency, CV and any other relevant document. Your application is then reviewed by the relevant School. The Dean of Graduate Studies conducts the final review and issues approval subsequent to meeting all criteria. All students undertaking a research degree are assigned to a single supervisor, though for some students there may also be an additional advisor.

4. Explore Funding Opportunities

Once you find an academic willing to supervise your research, they will be best placed to advise you of relevant funding opportunities through Irish and European funding agencies.

Additionally, you may also:

- Contact scholarship awarding bodies in your home country for possible Ph.D. funding options.
- Trinity offers postgraduate awards which are available only to students intending to register for full-time higher research degrees (i.e. Ph.D.). More information on postgraduate funding and scholarships can be found on our website: www.tcd.ie/study/international/scholarships/postgraduate

- Contact the Regional Manager for your country, or the Global Officer, in a relevant school, for information on other opportunities. Details of these staff can be found on the Trinity Global Webpage: www.tcd.ie/globalrelations/people/#recruitment

Student Life at Trinity

Immerse yourself in a broad range of sports clubs and student societies and get a real sense of the ‘Trinity Experience’.

Your first days at Trinity

Freshers’ Week

Trinity offers orientation to all new postgraduate and undergraduate students prior to the start of the academic year. This week of orientation is known as Freshers’ Week. There are no classes, so it’s all about meeting your new classmates, student support information sessions, seeing what sports clubs and societies you want to join, meeting your student mentor who will give you a tour of campus and organise social events, meeting your tutor who will provide support to you throughout your years in Trinity, and of course, the Freshers’ Ball. During Freshers’ Week you can also meet people from the Sports Centre, the Library and Student Supports and Services. These are the services whose job it is to make sure that you get the best out of your time in Trinity.

A specific International Postgraduate Student Orientation takes place before teaching commences. Details are available at: www.tcd.ie/students/orientation/postgraduates

Please note that a hybrid of virtual and face to face supports may still be in place for 2022 entry due to Covid-19. Further information will be available closer to your time of arrival.

Kyle Ginsberg – USA

Undergraduate: English Literature and Sociology

“From the challenging academic atmosphere to the welcoming student environment, Trinity provides exactly the type of college experience I have always wanted. My advice would be to take advantage of societies as they are a unique tool to meet friends and adjust to college life. Trinity has a wonderful academic and social environment, and finding the balance between those two is essential to a positive college experience.”

Trinity in Twelve Weeks

The “Trinity in Twelve Weeks” programme aims to continue your orientation during your first semester and help your transition to university life. The programme has a new theme every week, from study and exam skills to how to look after yourself while at university. Your mentors will be in touch with you every week to let you know what the week’s theme is and to arrange events and activities.

Find out more at: www.tcd.ie/students/orientation/twelve-weeks

What Happens After Freshers’ Week?

After the excitement of Freshers’ Week, teaching starts and you get a chance to settle into your course. Most classes are a mixture of lectures and tutorials and some have practicals as well. The tutorials are less formal and give you a chance to explore and discuss the topics covered in lectures with your classmates and teaching assistants.

Your course representative and your mentors organise events throughout the year that give you further opportunities to get to know your classmates.

Student Societies

At Trinity, we have 120 student societies which constitute some of the most dynamic and active university student societies in Ireland with everything from the Animation Society to the Zoological Society. We are home to the world’s oldest student societies, the ‘Hist’ or Historical Society founded in 1770 and the ‘Phil’ which is the oldest debating society in the world, founded in 1683, and whose guests have included everyone from Martin Scorsese to International Space Station commander Chris Hadfield. Find out more at: www.trinitysocieties.ie

Student Entertainment

University life is about so much more than just education and nowhere is this more evident than at Trinity. The University sits in the heart of Dublin city where there are endless extracurricular and recreational opportunities. You can immerse yourself in a broad range of sports clubs and student societies and through these activities you will get a real sense of the ‘Trinity Experience’, something that extends far beyond lectures, tutorials and exams.

You will also have the benefit of one of the best Students’ Unions in the country, providing students with a wide range of entertainment and events throughout your time in Trinity.

Sports Clubs

The Sports Centre is where the majority of our fitness classes and programmes take place, seven days a week. Facilities include a 25-metre swimming pool, climbing wall, fully equipped gym with free weights and cardio machines, virtual cycle and a wellness room. Students are automatically members of the Sports Centre. There are small additional costs for some classes. Each year Trinity is proud to offer sports scholarships to international students who demonstrate outstanding ability. A Sustainable University

Trinity is ranked 14th in the world for global impact in the Times Higher Education (THE) rankings 2020 for the implementation of the UN Sustainable Development Goals.

In a world with finite resources, Trinity offers students a variety of ways to learn how to live sustainably, and to develop the kind of innovative thinking and adaptability to enable you to thrive in a rapidly changing world. Trinity’s academics and researchers are global leaders in subjects such as climate change, nature based solutions, biodiversity, environmental science, smart technology and engineering.

Our commitment to sustainability is evidenced in key milestones over the last 15 years, such as:
- Student-led plan to reduce disposable plastics on campus (2018)
- Divestment from fossil fuels, following a student-led campaign (2016)
- Trinity is a Green Flag Campus for the last 8 consecutive years
- 62% reduction in paper use since 2011, 62% reduction in water use since 2006 and 32% increase in energy efficiency since 2006
- 84% of staff and students use sustainable transport (public transport/cycling/walking) to commute
- 85% increase in number of trees at all Trinity sites since 2011

Students actively participate in imagining, driving and implementing campus sustainability initiatives through the Students’ Union, Student Sustainability Network, Green Campus Committee, Young Greens, Vegan Society and the EnviroSoc (Environmental Society) and in the Resident Sustainability Champions programme among other groups. The Students’ Union and Graduate Students’ Union have Environmental Officers devoted to supporting and responding to environmental and sustainability issues.

A Green Week of student-led sustainability events is held each year in February (with 2022 being the 20th year): www.tcd.ie/provost/sustainability/greenweek

We hope you will choose to join your energy with ours to create a more just and verdant world. Find out more at: www.tcd.ie/provost/sustainability

E3 - Balanced Solutions for a Better World

Trinity has embarked on an ambitious project to expand education and research activities across three of its Schools: The Schools of Engineering, Natural Sciences, and Computer Science & Statistics. This expansion is being executed as a single strategic activity in the area of “Engineering, Environment, and Emerging Technologies”, or E3.

At the forefront of this expansion will be the new Martin Naughton E3 Learning Foundry, a state of the art 7,256 square metre new learning facility based on the main Trinity campus. The building will deliver new teaching facilities and an innovative interactive learning space for students in E3 programmes. It will also deliver new courses in Smart and Sustainable Cities, Climate Change, Environmental Science and Engineering, and Computer Science and Geography.

With our leading research professors and staff, graduates will become co-creators of their futures and that of generations to come. Together they will seek out ‘balanced solutions for a better world’ and enable society to live on this planet in a more sustainable and equitable way.

E3 will position Ireland at the forefront of research in Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics (the STEM disciplines), that are crucial for future economic competitiveness. It will educate engineers and scientists for employment in existing and new technology sectors, equip them with the skills and attributes to lead in the creation of new businesses, and place Ireland in a leadership role globally for the quality of graduates in the STEM disciplines. Mollie Kramer – USA

Postgraduate: International History

“A Trinity education opens so many doors and provides tremendous opportunities. It also combines an amazing academic opportunity with one that is actually affordable, unlike most in the U.S. Beyond the practical aspect, Dublin is an incredible city to get to live in, with so much to do and the entire country within a drive; there’s so much to explore and be a part of here.”

Elizabeth Maguire – USA

Postgraduate: Marketing

“Coming to study at Trinity was an eye-opening experience. From my classmates to my professors I felt that studying at Trinity prepared me to be a citizen of the world. I would recommend that a student considering attending Trinity, if possible, visit. If that’s not possible, get in touch with the on-the-ground team in the US who are very responsive and helpful when making this huge decision.”
