Postgraduate Research
at Trinity College Dublin, the University of Dublin

Trinity is recognised as one of the world’s leading research-intensive universities and its research continues to address issues of global, societal and economic importance.

Trinity has research strengths that span the Sciences, Medicine, Engineering, Business, Arts and Humanities, a spectrum that is mirrored by our broad range of taught postgraduate courses and research opportunities at masters and doctorate level.

Applying for a Master’s by Research or Ph.D. at Trinity

As a truly international university, we welcome applications from prospective postgraduate students globally and we hope you will consider choosing Trinity for your postgraduate research.

1. Find a Potential Academic Supervisor

As Ireland’s leading university for research Trinity offers ample opportunities for postgraduate research. To find out more you should explore Trinity’s research areas and determine your subject area of interest. The next step is to make contact with academic staff in relevant fields and identify a potential supervisor. To assist you with both steps, the Trinity website is comprehensive and features all relevant information about our research activities, as well as full research profiles of our staff.

Trinity Research: www.tcd.ie/research
Research by Faculty: www.tcd.ie/structure
Search for expertise: www.tcd.ie/research/people

2. Make Contact with Potential Academic Supervisor

Contact potential academic supervisors with a brief research proposal or idea, demonstrating your interest and relevant experience in the research area. If an academic staff member is willing to support your application for a Ph.D. position, they will direct you to the school’s online application page. Please note that some schools at Trinity have specific guidelines for applying for a Ph.D. position. It is important to check the Schools’ webpage for any additional information at: www.tcd.ie/courses/ postgraduate/research/az.php

3. Submit your Application

You will need to submit your application by following the guidelines given to you by your potential supervisor. Your application will need to include a detailed research proposal, as well as transcripts, proof of English proficiency, CV and any other relevant document. Your application is then reviewed by the relevant School. The Dean of Graduate Studies conducts the final review and issues approval subsequent to meeting all criteria. All students undertaking a research degree are assigned to a single supervisor, though for some students there may also be an additional advisor.

4. Explore Funding Opportunities

Once you find an academic willing to supervise your research, they will be best placed to advise you of relevant funding opportunities through Irish and European funding agencies. Additionally, you may also:

• Contact scholarship awarding bodies in your home country for possible Ph.D. funding options.

• Trinity offers postgraduate awards which are available only to students intending to register for full-time higher research degrees (i.e. Ph.D.). More information on postgraduate funding and scholarships can be found on our website: www.tcd.ie/study/international/ scholarships/postgraduate

• Contact the Regional Manager for your country, or the Global Officer, in a relevant school, for information on other opportunities. Details of these staff can be found on the Trinity Global Webpage: www.tcd.ie/globalrelations/people/#recruitment

“My Erasmus year in Prague helped me develop important life skills such as confidence in my ability to meet challenges. I emerged from my Erasmus year with a deeper understanding of myself. As a student of the liberal arts, the city’s artistic and architectural heritage and its complex political history helped me understand the relationships between a place, its history, and its people. Student Life at Trinity

Immerse yourself in a broad range of sports clubs and student societies and get a real sense of the ‘Trinity Experience’.

Your first days at Trinity

Freshers’ Week

Trinity offers orientation to all new postgraduate and undergraduate students prior to the start of the academic year. This week of orientation is known as Freshers’ Week. There are no classes, so it’s all about meeting your new classmates, student support information sessions, seeing what sports clubs and societies you want to join, meeting your student mentor who will give you a tour of campus and organise social events, meeting your tutor who will provide support to you throughout your years in Trinity, and of course, the Freshers’ Ball. During Freshers’ Week you can also meet people from the Sports Centre, the Library and Student Supports and Services. These are the services whose job it is to make sure that you get the best out of your time in Trinity.

A specific International Postgraduate Student Orientation takes place before teaching commences. Details are available at: www.tcd.ie/students/orientation/postgraduates

Please note that a hybrid of virtual and face to face supports may still be in place for 2022 entry due to Covid-19. Further information will be available closer to your time of arrival.

What Happens After Freshers’ Week?

After the excitement of Freshers’ Week, teaching starts and you get a chance to settle into your course. Most classes are a mixture of lectures and tutorials and some have practicals as well. The tutorials are less formal and give you a chance to explore and discuss the topics covered in lectures with your classmates and teaching assistants. Your class representative and your mentors organise events throughout the year that give you further opportunities to get to know your classmates.

Trinity in Twelve Weeks

The ‘Trinity in Twelve Weeks’ programme aims to continue your orientation during your first semester and help your transition to university life. The programme has a new theme every week, from study and exam skills to how to look after yourself while at university. Your mentors will be in touch with you every week to let you know what the week’s theme is and to arrange events and activities. Find out more at: www.tcd.ie/students/orientation/12-weeks

Kyle Ginsberg – USA
Undergraduate: English Literature and Sociology

“From the challenging academic atmosphere to the welcoming student environment, Trinity provides exactly the type of college experience I have always wanted. My advice would be to take advantage of societies as they are a unique tool to meet friends and adjust to college life. Trinity has a wonderful academic and social environment, and finding the balance between those two is essential to a positive college experience.”

E3 - Balanced Solutions for a Better World

Trinity has embarked on an ambitious project to expand education and research activities across three of its Schools: The Schools of Engineering, Natural Sciences, and Computer Science & Statistics. This expansion is being executed as a single strategic activity in the area of "Engineering, Environment, and Emerging Technologies", or E3.

At the forefront of this expansion will be the new Martin Naughton E3 Learning Foundry, a state of the art 7,256 square metre new learning development: we also want Trinity to be a place where you can develop socially, responsibly, culturally and personally.

Students actively participate in imagining, driving and implementing campus sustainability initiatives through the Students’ Union, Student Sustainability Network, Green Campus Committee, Young Greens, Vegan Society and the EnviRosoc (Environmental Society) and in the Resident Sustainability Champions programme among other groups.

Mollie Kramer – USA
Postgraduate: International History

“A Trinity education opens so many doors and provides tremendous opportunities. It also combines an amazing academic opportunity with one that is actually affordable, unlike most in the U.S. Beyond the practical aspect, Dublin is an incredible city to get to live in, with so much to do and the entire country within a drive; there’s so much to explore and be a part of here.”

Douglas Hickey – USA
Undergraduate: Biochemistry

“Coming to study at Trinity was an eye-opening experience. From my classmates to my professors I felt that studying at Trinity prepared me to be a citizen of the world. I would recommend that a student considering attending Trinity, if possible, visit. If that’s not possible, get in touch with the on-the-ground team in the US who are very responsive and helpful when making this huge decision.”
