Top FAQs

For US applicants

Applying

What's the top tip for applying from the US?
Firstly, reach out to your local Trinity representative. We have a number of in-country representatives that provide a host of supports, from individual meetings, video calls and group webinars, to help with all aspects of Trinity life. All our representatives can be found on the back cover of this guide or at: www.tcd.ie/study/country/usa

What percentage of students does Trinity accept?
We receive hundreds of US applications and can accept a much higher percent of qualified applicants than top US schools. Our rankings do not depend on percent of students accepted.

Is a Trinity degree recognised in the US?
Our 4-year degree programmes are recognised globally. US employers have strong awareness of Trinity's history of academic excellence. There are strong alumni networks in most major US cities and around the world, creating opportunities for mentoring and networking for all graduates.

Fees and Funding

Are scholarships available?
Trinity offers a number of scholarships for prospective and current students. Full scholarship information is available here: www.tcd.ie/study/international/scholarships

Does Trinity offer financial aid?
Trinity participates in the US Direct Loan Programme. You will find details of all Trinity sourced scholarships at www.tcd.ie/academicregistry/fees-and-payments/federal-aid. Any regional or local US scholarships that do not specifically exclude non-US universities can also be used at Trinity.

Studying at Trinity

Can I change my major?
Students apply and are admitted to a specific course. There are no "General Education" requirements; students begin their specific course of study immediately. Changes are made by students each year however changing to another course is challenging and uncommon. Changes are considered on a case-by-case basis.

Do you have Study Abroad programmes?
Trinity offers the opportunity to study in 300 universities around the world. Some courses, particularly those with language components, require that some time be spent outside of Ireland. Other courses may have direct links with corresponding departments in international partner universities.
See www.tcd.ie/global/mobility for further information.

How many students attend Trinity?
Trinity has approximately 15,700 undergraduate and 7,000 postgraduate students. Approximately 36% of students come from 125 countries outside of Ireland. Students coming from the US make up approximately 8% of the total student body.

What is the average class size?
Class size varies from course to course. Some large courses, like BESS (Business, Economic and Social Studies), will have 1st and 2nd year lectures of over 150 people, along with small-group tutorials of 15-20. Smaller courses like Art History or Classics will have fewer students in each class. Third and fourth-year modules will be significantly smaller.

What will my timetable look like? Can I choose my classes?
Timetable details for lectures, seminars and other scheduled teaching events for your selected modules will be available via the my.tcd.ie portal after your Registration and from your programme office. Electives are available to students from all disciplines across the university. Optional language modules are among these and include Irish, French, Spanish, German, Croatian, Korean, Japanese and Mandarin. Discover more at: www.tcd.ie/trinity-electives. Typical degree workload: 60 credits per year (240 to graduate) and 300 for 5-year integrated masters degrees. All modules are 5 or 10 credits, so you take between 3 and 6 modules per semester (balanced at 30 credits per semester). Final year Capstone projects are 20 credits.

Life at Trinity

Do I need a visa from the United States?
Students who are United States nationals do not require a visa to enter Ireland. However, once you are here you will still be required to register with the Immigration Service Delivery after arrival. For more details please visit: www.tcd.ie/study/international/arriving-in-ireland/visa-immigration/index.php

A similar service, the Postgraduate Advisory Service (PAS), is available to postgraduate students. In addition, the Global Room www.tcd.ie/study/international/student-experience offers a student support officer and team of ambassadors trained in working with international students. Entry Requirements

Postgraduate study at Trinity is academically challenging and as a result the University has high academic entry requirements.

Applicants will need to:

— Hold at least a 2.1 honours degree (3.2 GPA on 4.0 scale) from an Irish university or equivalent result from a university in another country

Some courses may require higher standards or require you to take further tests or attend an interview.

English Language Requirements

All applicants whose first language is not English and who have not been educated through the medium of English must present one of the following qualifications in the English language: IELTS, TOEFL, University of Cambridge Proficiency Certificate, Advanced Certificate, Duolingo English Test, Pearson Test of English (Academic) PTE Academic or Trinity Pre-sessional. Please note that the required level of English proficiency may vary from programme to programme. Please consult each programme page at: www.tcd.ie/courses/postgraduate for details.

For further details on these English Language Proficiency Tests, please contact the appropriate organisation directly. An applicant whose first language is not English but who has taken a degree through the medium of English may be eligible provided they did not complete their studies more than two years prior to admission. Postgraduate Research at Trinity College Dublin, the University of Dublin

Trinity is recognised as one of the world's leading research-intensive universities and its research continues to address issues of global, societal and economic importance.

Applying for a Masters by Research or PhD at Trinity

As a truly international university, we welcome applications from prospective postgraduate students globally and we hope you will consider choosing Trinity for your postgraduate research.

1. Find a Potential Academic Supervisor

Once you have identified your research area, the next step is to make contact with academic staff in relevant fields and identify a potential supervisor: www.tcd.ie/research

2. Make Contact with Potential Academic Supervisor

Contact potential academic supervisors with a brief research proposal or idea, demonstrating your interest and relevant experience in the research area. If an academic staff member is willing to support your application for a PhD position, they will direct you to the school's online application page. Please note that some schools at Trinity have specific guidelines for applying for a PhD position. It is important to check the Schools' webpage for any additional information at: www.tcd.ie/courses/postgraduate/postgraduate-research

3. Submit your Application

You will need to submit your application by following the guidelines given to you by your potential supervisor. Your application will need to include a detailed research proposal, as well as transcripts, proof of English proficiency, CV and any other relevant document. Your application is then reviewed by the relevant School. The Dean of Graduate Studies conducts the final review and issues approval subsequent to meeting all criteria.

4. Explore Funding Opportunities

Once you find an academic willing to supervise your research, they will be best placed to advise you of relevant funding opportunities through Irish and European funding agencies. Additionally, you may also:

- Contact scholarship awarding bodies in your home country for possible PhD funding options.
- Review Trinity's postgraduate awards which are available only to students intending to register for full-time higher research degrees (i.e. PhD). www.tcd.ie/study/international/scholarships/postgraduate

A Sustainable Campus

Trinity is committed to tackling the global challenges of climate change and biodiversity loss for a healthy, sustainable future. As a Nature Positive university, we are putting environmental sustainability at the heart of our education, research and campus life.

Do you want to be a future leader?

The world is experiencing a period of rapid environmental and social change, which poses risks and opportunities for us all. The leaders and workforce of the future need to be equipped to handle these transitions in a just and sustainable way. To gain the knowledge, skills and resilience that will be needed, Trinity offers students a range of ways to learn about sustainability and to develop the kind of innovative thinking and adaptability that will be needed.

During Green Week each year, we hold the Sustainability Leadership Awards where student leaders from across campus are acknowledged for their commitment to sustainability on campus and in their community.

Education – how can I learn more about sustainability?

As well as addressing sustainability in subject specific ways as part of the curriculum of your chosen course at Trinity, students will gain the skills and competencies for sustainable development through cross-disciplinary modules. All students in Trinity will develop the knowledge, skills and attitudes to think, plan and act with responsibility and compassion for themselves, each other and the planet.

Trinity now has four Fellows in Education for Sustainable Development who help to embed sustainability in a wide variety of curriculums across campus. You can find sustainability-themed courses here: www.tcd.ie/courses/sustainability

Take a campus tour

The best way to explore Trinity's unique, lively, traditional, urban experience is to pay us a visit and take a tour of campus.

Our student-led tours are the perfect way to learn about life at Trinity from a current student.
