

Getting a test done for Coronavirus

The doctor will come to your house.

They will ask you to stay in your room.

The doctor will ask for a chair to be placed in the hallway of your house.

The doctor will be wearing a special suit.

This is to keep you both safe from the virus.

The doctor will take:
Your blood pressure
and
Your temperature.

The doctor will also check your breathing.

After that,
you will then get the test.

Sit comfortably.
Put your head back.
Open your mouth
and say 'awhhh'.

The doctor will put
a cotton bud
in your mouth.

Then in your nose.

It will take a few seconds.

It might feel a bit fuzzy.

They will put this in a special pack
to get tested.

Then you are finished –

Well done!

You will get result of the test
in a few days.
