David Shepherd on Migration Issues
BACI ANNUAL LECTURE AND AGM

AS MIGRATION issues continue to challenge the churches, governments and local populations of Europe, a good crowd is expected for Dr David Shepherd’s lecture, ‘Rethinking Refugees: Old Testament Wisdom for a World in Turmoil’.

Date: September 24th. Time: 10am. Place: Kill O’ the Grange Parish Hall.

This is the Annual Lecture sponsored by the Biblical Association for the Church of Ireland, and will be followed by the AGM.

Those interested are urged to arrive in good time for registration and coffee at 10am. (There is parking space in the church grounds.) The lecture at 10.30am will be followed by discussion, with the AGM scheduled for 12 noon after a short break. A contribution of €10 per person is requested to cover costs; the usual concessions apply.

As with all BACI events, the lecture will be designed to appeal to the non-specialist, while drawing on up-to-date expertise in Biblical Studies and Biblical Theology. Dr Shepherd has been associate professor at Trinity College’s Loyola Institute since 2013 and has lectured at a number of British universities and the Belfast Bible College. His major research area is the Hebrew Bible.
