

School of Genetics and Microbiology

Role of External Examiners

In the School of Genetics & Microbiology, external examiners carry out the following functions:

- Ensure that examination papers (especially for the Moderatorship exams) are appropriate for a course.
- Review the teaching curriculum of a course and ensure that it adheres to international standards.
- Ensure that all marking was done fairly and according to accepted norms at other leading universities
- Conduct viva voces with final year students to assess their overall performance and their knowledge of their course subject
- Provide detailed feedback to the course directors/DUTL/College