

History of Art and Architecture as a New Minor Subject

Details for the Academic Year 22/23

Why take this New Minor Subject?

History of art and architecture will appeal to those interested in museums, galleries, architectural heritage, and visual culture. It provides students with essential knowledge and skills for documenting and analysing works of art and architecture. It hones an ability to describe and critically analyse images, builds a rich visual memory, and develops skills in research and its presentation. Students do not need any previous knowledge of art history or any practical skill in art to take this course.

What will I learn?

On this pathway, you will take 60 ECTS in History of art and architecture across Years 2 to 4. Students lay firm foundations in Year 2 when they first join the History of art and architecture as a Minor pathway. You are introduced to the subject with two 10 ECTS survey modules that provide a chronological overview of the topic. As a Junior Sophister, you will take a combination of 5 ECTS modules, exploring ways of interpreting, writing and displaying art and architecture together with modules that look thematically at cultural interfaces in art and architecture through the centuries. In the final year of History of art and architecture as a Minor New Subject (Senior Sophister) you study two specialist 10 ECTS modules in-depth, with the opportunity to learn about specific periods or types of art and architecture through research-led teaching.
