Engage, Innovate, Inspire

Bookmarks:

The Bookmarks Programme is a collaboration between Trinity Access, the Library of Trinity College, and the School of English in Trinity College.

The programme sees primary school children from our partner primary schools in Dublin write and illustrate their own books over a period of two months. This is facilitated through the support and guidance of authors, artists and children's literature specialists.

The programme culminates with the publication of these books in an exhibition in the Old Library of Trinity College. The project aims to inspire children to become the next generation of storytellers and artists – in short, to tell their own stories and imagine the future.

The programme supports students from three primary schools each academic year to pursue and interrogate a theme that is both relevant to their lives and inspiring to their imaginations.
