This Strategy Statement is the result of extensive consultation and is the programme for the Department of Enterprise, Trade and Employment for the period 2021 to 2023.

I have agreed it with the Secretary General and it comes at a significant time taking account of the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic and Brexit. Our focus now must be to build resilience across enterprises to ensure the economy and society fully recovers after the pandemic. At the same time, we will continue to strengthen employment rights and champion the principles of responsible free enterprise and fair competition.

Future proofing our economy and society for the twin transition to a sustainable low carbon economy and the acceleration of digitalisation is central to our mission. Our relationships internationally are crucial as a small open economy and we will continue to build close and mutually beneficial relationships globally and grow our influence in the European Union.

I have confidence in the calibre and commitment of the Department’s staff that we can meet the challenges in the period ahead. Together with my colleagues; Minister of State Robert Troy, TD and Minister of State Damien English TD, I look forward to working closely with the Secretary General and the staff of the Department, its Offices and Agencies, in implementing this strategy.

This Strategy Statement outlines a clear and ambitious path for the Department for the next three years. It sets out our vision, our mission, our values, and six high level goals to deliver the priorities set out for us in the Programme for Government, Our Shared Future, and the new responsibilities assigned to this Department including employment rights and trade promotion. Our goals are ambitious and set in the context of current challenges arising from Brexit, COVID-19 and ongoing global developments.

We will achieve our goals with detailed business planning set out by the Department and through its Offices and Agencies in our annual business planning. Progress on delivery will be monitored and reviewed by the Management Board to ensure this strategy is fully implemented.

We are focused on delivering high quality, responsive and relevant services for the benefit of all our stakeholders. As part of our planning for this Strategy, we sought input from a wide variety of stakeholders, and I would like to thank all those who made submissions, which has assisted us greatly.

We will work collaboratively with colleagues across Government, business, employer and worker representatives, other stakeholders and at EU and international level to achieve these goals. Our team of staff are our key asset and their commitment will ensure the successful delivery of our mission and ambitious goals over the period of the strategy.
Vision
We will make Ireland the best place to succeed in business across all regions of our country, with vibrant enterprises, more high quality employment, growing trade, fair workplaces and higher productivity.

Values
As a Department, we foster a culture of accountability, efficiency, innovation and value for money, which is rooted in a public service ethos of independence, equality, integrity, impartiality, openness, dignity and respect. As Civil Servants, we espouse the highest standards of professionalism, honesty, objectivity and quality, which are central to fulfilling our roles in serving Government, the democratic system and the public.

Mission
We will lead on sustainable economic development and recovery through the creation and maintenance of high quality employment across all regions of our country:

- By championing enterprise
- Ensuring a competitive business base to incentivise work, enterprise, innovation and investment
- Strengthening global connections and promoting trade
- Promoting fair and competitive markets, best business practice
- Safe, flexible and decent workplaces through the regulatory and enforcement work of the Department, its Offices and its Agencies
Introduction

The Department of Enterprise, Trade and Employment leads in advising and implementing the Government’s policies of stimulating the productive capacity of the economy and creating an environment which enables employment creation and sustainability. The Department is also charged with promoting fair competition in the marketplace, protecting consumers and safeguarding workers. Through its Offices and Agencies, the Department’s remit covers a wide range of activity including:

- Leading on helping entrepreneurs and businesses create and sustain high quality employment across all regions of our country, by developing a strong indigenous enterprise base, attracting Foreign Direct Investment and increasing trade.
- Promoting quality employment, positive workplace relations, well-functioning dispute resolution mechanisms and a safe working environment.
- Creating a strong entrepreneurial culture.
- Assisting enterprise with their research and development needs to maintain and create new jobs and contribute to building a better society.
- Identifying the future skills needs of enterprise and working across Government to develop policies to meet these needs, including through upskilling.
- Leading a whole-of-Government approach to developing a competitive environment for investment, productivity and sustainable jobs.
- Ensuring our business regulation facilitates investment and development, competition in the market place, high standards of consumer protection and corporate governance, and provides Ireland with a competitive advantage in the global market.
- Working ambitiously across Government with our EU and international partners to achieve progress in EU and International fora, across a wide range of interests, including Brexit.

This strategy has been developed following changes in the functions of the Department on formation of the new Government. Trade promotion has been transferred from the Department of Foreign Affairs, as well as responsibility for employment rights which transferred from the Department of Social Protection. The Department has also taken on responsibility for the Balance for Better Boards Group from the Department of Equality and the Trading Online Vouchers from the Department of Climate, Communications and Environment.

In addition, certain research and innovation functions transferred out from the Department to the newly created Department of Further and Higher Education, Research, Innovation and Science. The strategy also takes into account the priorities and commitments in the Programme for Government, Our Shared Future.

The strategy does not stand alone. A number of related policies and strategies will have an important role in driving the goals including the National Economic Plan, an economic framework for the next five years to drive economic recovery, along with the reviews of the National Development Plan and the National Planning Framework.

In addition to COVID-19, the strategy has been developed at a time when we must also navigate the United Kingdom’s exit from the European Union and the finalisation of their future trading relationship. Our connectedness to the EU agenda and internationally is fundamental to the shape of our domestic agenda. We will engage at EU level for policy and regulation that is pro-enterprise, trade and consumer and that promotes an innovation-friendly economy in the areas of digital platform and artificial intelligence policy and regulation.

Tackling climate change is a top priority and we must be cognisant of the European Green Deal which includes key policies aimed at ambitiously cutting emissions and ensuring that the EU’s economy becomes sustainable. We can do this by turning climate and environmental challenges into opportunities across all policy areas that will result in economic growth and jobs. The strategy is also developed in the context of our role in contributing to progressing the UN Sustainable Development Goals in areas including employment, safe and secure working environments, fostering innovation and encouraging companies to adopt and report on sustainable practices.

Consultation offers the opportunity to inform and influence important policy and in this regard, we will continue to engage widely with stakeholders in identifying, understanding and developing policy responses to the issues and challenges facing the Department and its stakeholders.
Guiding Principles

In a dynamic environment, globally and domestically, we will be guided by five over-arching principles that will permeate everything we do over the term of our Strategy:

Recovery and Resilience

Our primary focus will be on economic recovery from the COVID-19 economic shock, and laying the foundations for sustainable, broadly based, regionally balanced growth.

Our overriding ambition is to return to at least pre-crisis employment levels of 2.36 million people in work by the end of 2023 - this would mean having more people at work than ever before. Across every business unit of our Department, we will seek out the enablers for business and employment growth and seek to remove barriers where they exist.

All jobs are critical to our vision of delivering sustainable full employment and higher standards of living in all regions of our country. We will ensure that all enterprises are assisted in their efforts to be more productive, innovative, competitive and, ultimately, more resilient.

Strengthening and Upholding Employment Rights

We will ensure that employment rights are upheld and strengthened, recognising that we are entering a period of rapid transformation; promote better wages and more secure employment and; support work-life balance and gender equality.

Future-proofed Enterprise

Ireland is committed to an average 7% per annum reduction in overall greenhouse gas emissions from 2021 to 2030 (a 51% reduction over the decade) and to achieving net zero emissions by 2050.

We will ensure that enterprise plays its part in achieving these national goals. To be competitive and sustainable over the longer term, all businesses must innovate. Innovation will be central to our mission, both in terms of driving business transformation and the continuous digitisation of the economy, and through our own mode of working as a Department.

Impactful Relationships

As a small open economy, our relationships across the globe have always mattered. As we embark on this Strategy, we want to maintain a close and mutually beneficial relationship with our nearest neighbour, the UK, and to grow our links in the EU and globally.

To achieve our vision for business and inclusive employment growth, we will be proactive in our domestic engagements across the Government system and with our stakeholders.

Responsible Enterprise

We will continue to champion the principle of businesses operating responsibly at home and abroad; including the people they employ and work with; the community they operate in; the customers they engage with; and the environment they impact.

We will continue to build a regulatory environment to reinforce positive and responsible behaviours. As a Department we will lead by example.
